THE following Address has been presented to His Royal Highness the Prince Regent; which Address His Royal Highness was pleased to receive very graciously:

To His Royal Highness the PRINCE REGENT.

May it please your Royal Highness,

WE, His Majesty's most dutiful and loyal subjects the Lord Provost, Magistrates, and Council of the City of Edinburgh, beg leave to approach your Royal Highness with the strongest feelings of attachment to your person, and of reverence for your government.

In common with all His Majesty's subjects, we lament the continued indisposition of our venerable and beloved Sovereign; who through so many happy years has proved himself the father and the friend of his people. But we feel this national calamity the less, while we see the government of the empire entrusted to a Prince, who, with his Father's firmness, unites his Father's zeal for the public welfare; and whose determined adherence to patriotic principles, and to views of impartial usefulness, we are well persuaded that neither the clappings of faction, nor the misrepresentations of party, will ever shake.

We beg leave to offer our humble congratulations on the splendid events by which the era of your Royal Highness's government has been distinguished. We rejoice especially in the success which has attended His Majesty's arms in Spain and Portugal. Looking with peculiar interest to the great struggle which is there maintained against the common enemy of independence and social order, we revere in your Royal Highness the determined supporter of so noble a cause; we trust that it will prove in its issue not less favourable to the interests of Europe, than from its commencement it has been glorious to the British name.

The auspicious opening of your Royal Highness's administration gives us the firmest confidence that, under your government, the glory, the prosperity, and the happiness of this great empire will not only keep their customary and splendid course, but will descend to our posterity with increasing lustre.

Signed in our name, by our appointment, and in our presence, and the seal of the said city is hereto affixed, this 8th day of April 1812,

William Creech, Lord Provost, and Chief Magistrate.

[Presented by Mr. Dundas.]
