A Final state and scheme of division of the whole of the late Mr. Boswell's remaining funds being now prepared, lies for inspection in the hands of John Stuart, Accountant, in Edinburgh, the Trustee, till Thursday the 12th May next, on which day, betwixt one and three o'clock in the Afternoon, the Final Dividend will be paid by him at the Trustee's Office, Royal-Exchange, to the creditors, or to agents duly authorised by them to receive the same, and execute the discharge and exoneration in favour of the Trustee and all concerned.

LONDON and BRISTOL, and KENNET and AVON CANAL, FLY BARGES, throughout without shifting, to and from Bull Wharf, Upper Thames-Street, London, and Counterslip Warehouse, Bath-Street, Bristol.

E. SHAW and Co. respectfully inform the public, that every possible exertion and attention is used to give satisfaction in the delivery of goods entrusted to their conveyance, by regularity and dispatch, for the following Counties, &c.; viz. Berkshire, Wiltshire, Somersetshire, Dorsetshire, Gloucestershire, Devonshire, Bath and Bristol, South Wales, and Ireland, on the conditions expressed as follow, and which are exposed to public view at every warehouse and wharf where they receive goods (that is to say),

They hold themselves accountable for the loss and damages on all goods properly packed and directed, if proved to have happened whilst in their possession, but not otherwise, subject to the following conditions and exceptions:

First—They will not be answerable for gunpowder, aquafortis, oil of vitriol, or any ardent spirits: and persons sending such goods to their wharf, without the contents being specified on the directions, and making it known to the person receiving the same, will be considered responsible and liable to make good every damage whatsoever that may be caused by any accident arising from such goods so incautiously sent for conveyance.

Secondly—They will not be answerable for more than 50s. for any single package that may happen to be lost, being of less weight than 56l.; nor more than 5l. for any single package of less weight than 1 cwt.; and so on in proportion for any greater weight, unless entered and paid for as herein-after-mentioned.

Thirdly—They will not be answerable for the loss or damage of any money, plate, watches, rings, jewels, gold, silver, writings, books, prints, pictures, paintings, silk, lace, or any other such like portable valuables, unless entered as such, and an insurance of 1l. per cent. paid on the delivery of such goods for conveyance.

Fourthly—They will in no wise be answerable for loss or damage by fire, or for injury or loss that the goods may sustain by any accident whatever that may happen to any of their barges on the canal or rivers, which the ordinary care and diligence of the carrier cannot provide against; nor for leakages or other damage occasioned by unsound or inefficient packages.

Fifthly—All packages of glass, china, marble, or any other such brittle articles, are entirely at the risk of the owner, as to breakage or other damage or injury, unless an insurance of 10l. per cent. on the value is paid on delivery of such goods for conveyance; and the owners not paying the insurances, on delivering such goods at the wharfs, will of course be considered as taking the risk upon themselves.

Sixthly—Goods put into returned packages, if lost or stolen, E. S. and Co. will not be accountable for; nor do they consider themselves accountable for returned empty packages, going free of expense, should they happen to be lost; and persons expecting such articles to be made good, if lost, are requested to pay the demand for the freight on being delivered for conveyance.

Seventhly—All good which may be delivered for this conveyance will be subject to a general lien, not only for the money due for the carriage of such particular goods, but also for a former or general balance due from the respective owners to the proprietors of this conveyance.

Eighthly—Any goods directed to be called for, if not taken away within forty-eight hours after being discharged from the vessel, will incur an additional expense of wharfage, and be subject to risk under the general rule of wharfingers.

Ninthly—Any claim for loss or damage that is not made within two days after the delivery of the goods, will not be allowed.

Spirituous liquors, wines, and tea, are charged 6d per cwt. extra, which is considered as an insurance, subject to the conditions of the fourth clause; and hampers or other packages containing those goods, without their contents being made known, are solely at the risk of the owners of such articles.

Further particulars may be known by applying at Bull Wharf, Upper Thames-Street, London; John Flint, at their Office, Newbury; Daniel Phipp, wharfinger, Devizes; their warehouse, Counter Slip, Bristol; or Euclid Shaw's Office, 28, St. James's-Parade, Bath.

N. B. As many mistakes happen (particularly in London) from goods being ordered to go by "Shaw and Co." only, without naming the wharf, it is earnestly requested that all goods intended for this conveyance may be expressly ordered to the above wharfs.

By His Majesty's Royal Patent.
ANTI-ATTRITION.

THE Patent Anti-Attrition Composition is the cheapest and best thing ever yet discovered for ships' bottoms, instead of copper; to preserve cables from being rubbed in the hawse-holes, instead of a plat, service, or rounding; the rigging of ships from the weather, and from being chafed, instead of tar, "parceline, and service;" for the slides and carriages of guns; to render leather and canvas water-proof; and to prevent the effects of friction in steam-engines, mills, sugar-mills, threshing-mills (or other implements of husbandry generally used by farmers), carriages, coaches, waggons, carts, and machinery of every description. It is also the best thing to preserve the blades of swords, and all kind of polished steel articles, from rust. It will likewise preserve iron hoops, water butts, casks, tubs, spouts, posts, rails, gates, park paling, barn floorings, and every kind of wood and wooden building, from the weather, worm, and dry rot, either in the East or West Indies, or in any climate; and it will not only preserve iron rail-ways from corroding and wearing out, but also render the draught so light, that one horse will do the work of two.

One priming of the composition is, in some cases, equal to one hundred applications of oil, tallow, or any other kind of grease, paint, or tar, and the public save by its use from three hundred to four thousand per cent., exclusive of preventing the wear and tear in machinery, wheels, &c. &c., which is a saving of expense more than that of saving nine parts out of ten, and nothing can be so clean in its working, or give so little trouble.

Sold, for the patentees, at No. 40, Charing-Cross, near the Admiralty, London; and by their appointment, at most ship-chandlers, printers, booksellers, libraries, stationers, druggists, medicine warehouses, perfumers, ironmongers, cutlers, coachmakers, innkeepers, coach and waggon offices, oil and colour shops, saddlers, and shopkeepers, in the United Kingdom, in boxes, price 2s. 6d.; 5s. 6d.; 10s. 6d.; one guinea, and two guineas each.

The smallest size box contains a quantity sufficient to prime a four-wheel cartage four times, with which it will run upwards of six thousand miles, without applying any thing else to the axletrees, and one half-guinea box contains a sufficient quantity for a stage-waggon to travel thirty-three thousand miles; and it will work with wood axletrees, or with common boxes and axletrees of any kind. The most satisfactory proofs of the merits of this discovery may be seen at the Patentees' Office, and also at their Agents.

* * * The Public must be on their guard against a spurious composition, which is sometimes attempted to be foisted upon them, to prevent the effects of friction, instead of which it is injurious to machinery, &c. and none is genuine but that for which a patent has been obtained. To prevent imposition, the directions given with each box are signed W. D. Bellamy, and have the King's Arms on them—to counterfeit which is forgery; and any person making use of a composition, by which the patentees are defrauded, will be prosecuted, one hundred guineas reward having been offered by them to detect frauds on the patent right.

WHEREAS Margaret Stackhouse, late of Burnsall, in the County of York, Spinster, deceased, did by her will dated the 23rd October 1803 (among other legacies), give and bequeath unto James Tennant, son of John Tennant, late of Leeds, in the said County of York, deceased, and to his sister Mary, each the sum of 50l. and unto Richard Tennant, formerly of Burnsall aforesaid, the sum of 100l. subject to the following proviso (that is to say), "Provided always and it is my will, and I do hereby expressly declare, that if they the said James Tennant, Mary the sister of the said James Tennant, and Richard Tennant, or any of them, cannot be found or made out to be living within the space of one year next after my decease, the same having been advertized three times in the London Gazette, then and in such case I do hereby direct, that their several and respective legacies, or such of them as shall not appear within the time aforesaid, shall lapse and fall to all intents and purposes, as if the same had never been mentioned in this my will; and the same I do hereby order and direct shall be disposed of, as the residuum of my estate and effects is hereinafter directed, and not vest in any of their issue or legal representatives, any thing herein contained to the contrary notwithstanding," and the said Testatrix appointed William Carr, of Bolton Abbey, in the County of York, Clerk, and William Carr, of Stackhouse, in the Parish of Giggleswick, in the said County of York, Gent. Joint Executors of her said will; who have duly proved the same, and taken upon themselves the execution of the trusts thereof; and the said Margaret Stackhouse the Testatrix, died without revoking her said will, on or about the 22d day of February last.

Notice is therefore hereby given, in pursuance of the aforesaid proviso, contained in the will of the said Margaret Stackhouse, that if they the said James Tennant, Mary the sister of the said James Tennant, and Richard Tennant, or any of them, do not appear and claim their said several legacies, within the space of one year next, after the said Testatrix's decease, the same will, in pursuance of the said proviso, lapse, and be disposed of by her said Executors, as the residuum of the said Testatrix's estate and effects is by the said will directed.—Given under our hands the 26th day of March 1814.

Whitehall, April 8, 1814.

WHEREAS it hath been humbly represented unto His Royal Highness the Prince Regent, that about twelve o'clock in the night of the 25th of March last, Henry Trigg, of Berden, in the county of Essex, shoemaker, hearing some persons in the shop adjoining to his house, went with his father, Henry Trigg, to the door of the shop, which opened into the street, and they there met two men coming out of the shop, one of whom rushed by them, and escaped. The other, having been knocked down, and secured by the son, was delivered into the hands of his father. Henry Trigg then went in pursuit of the man who had escaped; but, upon hearing a scuffle take place between his father and the man he had left him in charge of, and fearing lest he should break from him, he returned to his father's assistance; and while they were all three struggling upon the ground, the person who had escaped, returned and fired a gun or pistol, but without effect; and in a very short space of time he came up to Henry Trigg, the son, and, with a dreadful imprecation, swore that he would do for him, and immediately fired a second time, and shot Henry Trigg, the son, in the left side of his breast, which occasioned his instant death.

His Royal Highness, for the better apprehending and bringing to justice the persons concerned in the said atrocious murder, is hereby pleased, in the name and on the behalf of His Majesty, to promise His Majesty's most gracious pardon to any one of the offenders (except the person who actually fired at and shot the said Henry Trigg,) who shall discover his, her, or their accomplice or accomplices therein, so that he, she, or they may be apprehended and convicted thereof.

SIDMOUTH.

And, as a further encouragement, a reward of ONE HUNDRED GUINEAS is hereby offered to any person (except as is before excepted), who shall discover his, her or their accomplice or accomplices in the said murder; or to such person or persons who shall apprehend and convict the said offenders or any of them, or cause them or any of them so to be apprehended and convicted thereof.—Such reward to be paid upon conviction of any one or more of the offenders by the inhabitants of the neighbourhood of Berden.
