THE following Addresses have been presented to His Royal Highness the Prince Regent; which Addresses His Royal Highness was pleased to receive very graciously:

To His Royal Highness George Prince of Wales, REGENT of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland.

WE, the Bishop, Dean and Chapter, Archdeacons, and Clergy of the Diocese of Lincoln, with the deepest feelings of sorrow, humbly beg leave to express to your Royal Highness our unfeigned condolence on the late most awful and sudden visitation of Divine Providence, which has at once deprived your Royal Highness of a dutiful and beloved daughter, and the nation of a proud and fond hope of a successor to the Throne, most eminently qualified, by her distinguished virtues and endowments, to reign over a free and loyal people.

While we bow with pious resignation to the inscrutable will of the Supreme Disposer of all events, we earnestly pray, that He will in mercy mitigate the bitterness of Parental grief in your Royal bosom, by those consolations which He only can bestow; that He will be pleased long to preserve the invaluable life of your Royal Highness in peace and prosperity, and to perpetuate to these kingdoms, by continuing the posterity of our venerated Sovereign, those numerous blessings, civil and religious, which they have hitherto enjoyed under the illustrious House of Brunswick.

George, Lincoln.

[Transmitted by the Bishop of Lincoln, and presented by Viscount Sidmouth.]

To His Royal Highness the PRINCE REGENT.

WE, His Majesty's faithful and loyal subjects, the Portreeve, Clergy, and Inhabitants of the Borough of Honiton, beg leave to approach your Royal Highness with expressions of our humble yet sincere condolence on the late melancholy event, which has plunged the wholen ation in to mourning and deeply interested every British heart. We cannot contemplate the many and distinguished virtues of your Illustrious Daughter the Princess Charlotte Augusta, without entering into the feelings of a Parent, suddenly bereaved of an only child, nor without lamenting the loss which the nation has sustained in its fondest and dearest hopes; but while we bow with resignation to the dispensations of Divine Providence, we trust, Sir, that the same Almighty Hand which has inflicted so severe a blow will be raised to support you under its weight, and soothe the anxiety of a loyal people. Sorrow, deep as yours, admits of little alleviation, yet some way perhaps be found in (what you fully possess) a nation's sympathy; a sympathy which springs from the sincerity of the heart. Deign, Sir, to accept our repeated assurances of loyalty and attachment to your Illustrious House and Person, accompanied with the anxious hopes that you may long continue to enjoy the confidence of the people, and guard the interests of this Great Empire.

William Loyde, Portreeve.

[Transmitted by James Townsend, Esq. and presented by Viscount Sidmouth.]

To His Royal Highness the PRINCE REGENT.

May it please your Royal Highness,

WE, the Nobility, Gentry, Clergy, and Freeholders of the County of Lincoln, deeply afflicted by the recent calamity that has befallen your august Family, and which we deplore both as a public and private misfortune, beg leave to express, in terms of sincere loyalty to our revered Sovereign, and of dutiful attachment to your Royal Highness, our heartfelt condolence on the death of the late excellent Princess your daughter, and the extinction of her Royal Issue.

We presume not to offer consolation, which we are well aware can be derived but from one source, yet we humbly trust that the sympathy manifested by a loyal and affectionate people, may tend in some measure to the alleviation of the sorrows and sufferings of your Royal Highness.

May that Almighty Power who alone can heal the wounds which His own wisdom has inflicted, bestow in this hour of trial His comfort and support upon your Royal Highness, and every branch of the Royal Family, and upon His Serene Highness the Prince Leopold of Saxe Cobourg, who, adopted by the most sacred ties into your illustrious House, has justly obtained the esteem and regard of the British Nation.

That your Royal Highness may enjoy a prosperous life, and that the sceptre of this Great Empire may long be swayed by heirs of the House of Brunswick, is our most fervent prayer and hope.

Signed, at the request of the Meeting, the 15th day of December 1817.

Robert Sheffield, High Sheriff.

To His Royal Highness the Prince of Wales, REGENT of the United Kingdom, &c. &c.

May it please your Royal Highness,

WE, His Majesty's most dutiful and loyal subjects, the Nobility, Gentry, Clergy and Freeholders of the County of Dorset, beg leave to approach your Royal Highness with the most sincere expressions of our deep and lasting sorrow, at the severe loss which your Royal Highness, together with the whole nation, has sustained by the death of Her Royal Highness the Princess Charlotte; an event the more to be deplored as the hopes and expectations of the whole kingdom, for a continuance of a succession of Sovereigns in your Royal Highness's descendants, were at the same moment disappointed and changed to the most poignant grief.

Universally and deeply lamented as Her Royal Highness has most deservedly been in every part of the empire, permit us, who have had more immediate opportunities of witnessing Her Royal Highness's many amiable and endearing qualities, to assure your Royal Highness, in how peculiar a manner we are affected on this melancholy occasion, and consequently how much the more sensible we are of the weight of affliction which must oppress your Royal Highness, her affectionate and disconsolate consort, and every member of your august Family; an affliction which nothing but the soothing hand of time, added to the never failing consolations of religion, can remove.

In the name, and on the behalf of the Meeting,
W. Oglander, High Sheriff and Chairman.

[Presented by Viscount Sidmouth.]

To His Royal Highness the PRINCE REGENT.

WE, His Majesty's most dutiful and loyal subjects, the Magistrates of the County Palatine of Lancaster, assembled in special session, most respectfully beg leave to approach your Royal Highness with our heartfelt and sincere condolence on the event, which has plunged the whole kingdom in the deepest affliction.

We do not attempt to offer to your Royal Highness any consolation on the loss of a daughter, the recollection of whose virtues aggravates our regret with the heavy disappointment of the hopes which, in common with every one of His Majesty's subjects, we had entertained, that through her, the Crown of these realms would have been continued in your Royal Highness's descendants for many generations; but we bow with submission and resignation to the Will of that Providence, whose ways are inscrutable, and whose dispensations, afflicting as they may be, are always for the best.

The general sensation which this calamitous event has excited throughout the whole country, will at least afford to your Royal Highness an opportunity of seeing how deeply the feelings and the interests of the nation are involved with those of your Royal Highness, and will, we trust, be received as a proof of the affectionate attachment of a loyal people, to your Royal Highness's Person and Family.

Edward Bootle Wilbraham, Chairman.

To His Royal Highness the Prince of Wales, REGENT of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland.

May it please your Royal Highness,

WE, His Majesty's most dutiful and loyal subjects, the Noblemen, Freeholders, Justices of Peace, Commissioners of Supply, and Heretors of the County of Berwick, penetrated with the deepest affliction, beg leave to offer to your Royal Highness, our sincere sympathy and affectionate condolence on the sudden and untimely death of your beloved daughter, Her Royal Highness the Princess Charlotte Augusta, an event which has filled us and the whole nation with the most profound sorrow.

We regard with the most lively sensibility every occurrence, whether of prosperous or adverse fortune, which befalls your august Family; with you we rejoice, and with you we mourn;—we participate with unfeigned sorrow in your Royal Highness's sufferings as a father, for the loss of a daughter, who has been cut off in the bloom of youth, and who was distinguished for so many virtues, and, if the sympathy of a whole people be any consolation to you under your affliction, (and doubtless it has a tendency to alleviate grief,) that sympathy, we can assure your Royal Highness, along with the whole of our fellow-subjects, we truly feel.

While we mingle our tears with those of your Royal Highness, in your distress as a parent, we should be insensible to the blessings which we have enjoyed under the benign sway of your Illustrious House, did we not, at the same time, deplore the loss of our amiable Princess, as a national calamity. From her happy union with his Serene Highness the Prince Leopold of Saxe Cobourg, we fondly anticipated the highest expectations in the strengthening of your Illustrious Family, by a numerous race of Princes.—But alas! in these hopes it has pleased Providence that we should be disappointed, and we bow with reverence and humility to the Will of Heaven.

We pray that Almighty God may afford to your Royal Highness His all powerful support under your present affliction, and we pray, that your Royal Highness may be long preserved as a blessing to the British nation.

Meeting, at Greenlaw, this 16th day of December 1817. Home, P.

Unto His Royal Highness George Prince of Wales,
REGENT of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland.

WE, the Noblemen, Freeholders, Justices of the Peace, and Commissioners of Supply of the County of Perth, in a general Meeting assembled, deeply as we participate in the sorrow felt by every subject of the British Empire, at the calamity with which it has pleased the Almighty to visit our country, by the death of Her Royal Highness the Princess Charlotte Augusta; it is not without hesitation, that at such a moment, we obtrude ourselves on the parental griefs of your Royal Highness.

We persuade ourselves, however, that the overflowing feelings of an affectionate and loyal people, who loved and who deplore Her, of whom Heaven has deprived us, will be received with indulgence.

Attached as we are to your Royal Highness's Illustrious House, under whose sway we have enjoyed unalloyed liberty, and unexampled prosperity, we feel in all its magnitude our national misfortune in the loss of a Princess, whose acknowledged virtues and talents had rendered her the hope and pride of her country

But we humble ourselves to the decrees of him whose ways are past finding out, and address to him our fervent prayers, for the consolation of your Royal Highness, and the afflicted members of your august House.

As a pure source of such consolation, we may be permitted to call the attention of your Royal Highness to those spontaneous, universal, and affecting proofs of sincere and unbounded sympathy, which have been manifested by every rank and description of persons in the empire, as affording the most gratifying evidence of the sentiments with which your Royal Highness and your august Family are regarded by a loyal people.

May your Royal Highness long be preserved to enjoy the affections of a nation, distinguished equally by the love of genuine freedom, and by manly attachment to its Sovereigns.

To His Royal Highness George Prince of Wales,
REGENT of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland.

May it please your Royal Highness,

WE, His Majesty's dutiful and loyal subjects, the Mayor and Inhabitants of the Town of Bedford, beg leave to renew to your Royal Highness the assurances of our devoted attachment to our venerable and gracious Sovereign, to your Royal Highness's person and government, and to the Illustrious House of Brunswick.

Most deeply do we feel and deplore, and most sincerely do we condole with your Royal Highness, on the late awful visitation of Almighty God, in removing from us, by an unexpected and premature death, the late excellent Princess Charlotte, your only child; at the very moment when every British heart was exulting in the prospect of the race of Brunswick being prolonged in Her Royal Highness's offspring; and after she had given the fullest proofs of possessing in an eminent degree those virtues, talents and dispositions, which would have rendered her the best of Sovereigns, as they had already made her the most beloved of daughters, and the most affectionate of wives.

May the God of all comfort support your Royal Highness under your present overwhelming distress, and render you resigned to this trying dispensation of His Providence! May He, by whom Kings reign, grant, that the succession to the Crown shall devolve for ages on descendants of the House of Brunswick; and that they may render themselves as worthy of their high destiny, as the late amiable and lamented Princess, by setting the same noble example in public and in private life, and by evincing the same attachment to the genuine principles of the Constitution, which have consecrated her memory to the people of Great Britain, as much as her domestic virtues had endeared her to those, to whom she was most nearly allied.

To His Royal Highness George Prince of Wales,
REGENT of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland.

May it please your Royal Highness,

WE, the Provost, Magistrates, and Council of the Town of Banff, beg leave to approach your Royal Highness, most respectfully to express our undissembled condolence on a recent melancholy event, deeply afflicting to your Royal Highness and your august House, and appalling to the whole United Kingdom.

If the premature loss of an admired and beloved Princess, whose endearing virtues and highly cultivated endowments combined to qualify her for enjoying and enhancing the blessings of domestic retirement, and for adorning at some future period the most exalted station in the kingdom, has excited such a general sensation of grief, how poignant must be the sorrows of your Royal Highness, her revered and affectionate Parent, and the frequent witness of her inestimable accomplishments.

Although, to us, the footsteps of the Supreme Ruler of the Universe may appear as in the dark and deep waters, we know that He doth not afflict willingly, nor grieve the children of men, and we bow with profound submission to His Divine Will.

To Him we present our fervent prayer, that in this time of acute suffering, He will be graciously pleased to arm with fortitude the minds of your Royal Highness, and of your Illustrious Son-in-law His Serene Highness the Prince Leopold, whose amiable and exemplary conduct has won the affections, and whose unspeakable anguish, under the most afflicting bereavement, has called forth the sympathy of a great nation.

May it please your Royal Highness,

WE, His Majesty's loyal and dutiful subjects, the Noblemen, Freeholders, Justices of the Peace, and Commissioners of Supply of the County of Forfar, beg leave to approach your Royal Highness with sentiments of heartfelt sorrow, and to present our unanimous expressions of condolence upon the late melancholy event and great national calamity sustained by the premature death of Her Royal Highness the Princess Charlotte Augusta, daughter of your Royal Highness, and Consort of His Serene Highness the Prince Leopold of Saxe Cobourg.

We deplore this severe blow which Providence in its infinite and unerring wisdom has inflicted on your Royal Highness, and on the people of these realms, by consigning at once to the grave the Child and his Royal Mother, the presumptive heirress to the Crown, the brightest ornament and future hope of the United Kingdom; endeared to us not only by her private virtues in the discharge of her conjugal and domestic duties, but by her known attachment to those principles which placed the Illustrious House of Brunswick on the Throne, for the preservation of that Constitution from which this nation derived so much glory and happiness and became the envy and admiration of the World.

We sincerely hope that your Royal Highness will derive consolation from the reflection that your grief is universally shared, by a loyal and generous nation, whose feelings are equally awake to the prosperity or misfortune of your Royal Highness's Illustrious Family.

The humble Address of the Free Burgesses of the Borough of Alnwick, in the County of Northumberland.

WE, the Aldermen, and Free Burgesses of the Borough of Alnwick, in Common Guild assembled, humbly beg leave to offer to your Royal Highness our sincere tribute of condolence on the sudden and ever-to-be lamented death of your late amiable and accomplished daughter, Her Royal Highness the Princess Charlotte Augusta.

With the most heartfelt sorrow we deplore this fatal event, which has bereft your Royal Highness of a parent's hope, and an admiring nation of the happiest prospect which ever dawned upon a people.

Permit us to assure your Royal Highness of our sincerest sympathy on this most melancholy occurrence; and ardently to pray, that it may please Almighty God to support your Royal Highness under this inscrutable dispensation of His Providence, and continue to the British Empire that distinguished pre-eminence which it has obtained in the reign of our revered Sovereign, and which, we trust, will be enjoyed by our latest posterity, under the successive generations of your Royal Highness's illustrious Family.

The humble Address of the Mayor, Aldermen, Commonalty and Inhabitants of the Town and Vicinity of Penzance, at a Public Meeting held in the Guildhall of the said Town, the 21st day of November 1817.

WE, His Majesty's dutiful and loyal subjects, the Mayor, Aldermen, Commonalty and Inhabitants of the Town and Vicinity of Penzance, most respectfully beg permission to present to your Royal Highness the homage of our unfeigned sorrow and condolence, for the great affliction where-with it hath pleased Divine Providence to visit the United Kingdom in general, and your Royal Highness in particular.

We sincerely sympathize in that sentiment of regret, universally manifested by every rank and degree of our fellow-subjects, at a calamity so momentous and unexpected

But while we deeply deplore the premature loss of an illustrious and beloved Princess, the fondest and proudest hope of a great empire, we cherish the assurance that she is supremely happy in the exchange of the expectation of an earthly, for the enjoyment of an immortal Crown, in the realms of unfading bliss;—and we pray that this consolation of our most holy religion may soothe the pang of parental grief, and inspire your Royal Highness with fortitude to support so great a bereavement, and to continue the exercise of your Sovereign cares for the good of the Church, the safety, honour, and welfare of a loyal people, the spontaneous and universal expression of whose feeling, has manifested an affectionate concern for the domestic happiness, as well as a firm attachment to the permanent splendour of your Royal House.

To His Royal Highness the PRINCE REGENT.

WE, the Nobility, Gentlemen, Clergy, and Freeholders of the County Palatine of Chester, beg leave humbly to approach your Royal Highness with the expression of our cordial condolence, upon the late melancholy and awful dispensation of Providence, which has so severely wounded your Royal Highness's parental feelings, and plunged this nation into the deepest sorrow.

We beheld in your amiable daughter, the qualifications calculated to embellish the high station to which she was born, and had cherished the fond hope that an union cemented by so many virtues, would have proved a lasting blessing to the country, and have continued a line of Patriotic Sovereigns, worthy successors of the House of Brunswick. But these bright prospects are destroyed, and it only remains for us to submit to the will of the Almighty Disposer of events, humbly praying that the universal sympathy of a loyal and affectionate people, may afford some consolation to your Royal Highness's afflicted mind.

To His Royal Highness the PRINCE REGENT of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland.

The humble Address of the Mayor, Recorder, Aldermen, and Capital Burgesses of the Town or Borough of Stamford, in the County of Lincoln.

May it please your Royal Highness,

WE, His Majesty's most dutiful and loyal subjects, the Mayor, Recorder, Aldermen, and Capital Burgesses of the Town or Borough of Stamford, in the County of Lincoln, humbly approach your Royal Highness with feelings of the most acute sorrow, and beg leave to offer to your Royal Highness our sincere expressions of condolence, upon the severe calamity which this country has sustained by the unexpected death of Her late Royal Highness the Princess Charlotte Augusta, Daughter of your Royal Highness, and Consort of His Serene Highness Leopold, Duke of Saxe and Prince of Cobourg, whose illustrious descent from the Royal House of Brunswick, whose distinguished accomplishments, and whose exemplary virtues had rendered Her Royal Highness the pride and hope of the whole kingdom.

We confidently hoped that at some very distant period, those virtues, matured by experience, would have secured to us for many years the blessings which we enjoy under the Government of your Royal Highness. But truly sensible of the severe affliction with which your Royal Highness must necessarily be overwhelmed by this awful dispensation of Providence, we refrain from dwelling any longer on so painful a subject, lest we should, by so doing, increase that grief which it is our earnest desire to alleviate.

We cannot, however, conclude this humble Address, painful as the occasion of it is to our feelings, without embracing the opportunity to declare our ardent attachment to your sacred person, and to assure your Royal Highness, that it is our earnest and constant prayer to the Almighty, that He will be pleased to support your Royal Highness through this heavy affliction, and to continue the Sovereignty of these realms in the line of your Royal Highness's august Family, who have brought it to its present unrivalled state of prosperity and glory.

Thomas Mills, Mayor.

To His Royal Highness George Prince of Wales, REGENT of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland.

SIRE,

WE, His Majesty's most dutiful and loyal subjects, the Minister, Churchwardens and Inhabitants of the Parish of Portsmouth, within the Borough of Portsmouth, in Vestry assembled, beg leave most humbly to approach your Royal Highness, with our heartfelt condolence on that most unlooked-for and melancholy event, the death of Her Royal Highness the Princess Charlotte of Wales, which has filled your Royal Highness and the whole British nation with anguish and despair.

We do not presume to suppose that any thing we can offer to your Royal Highness can at all diminish the grief your Royal Highness must feel at the loss of a beloved and only daughter; but we trust that it will be some alleviation to your Royal Highness's sorrow to know, that her memory is embalmed in the hearts of those who had fondly hoped, at a future and far distant time, to have been her faithful and devoted subjects.

We fervently pray to the Almighty Disposer of all Events to enable your Royal Highness and this afflicted nation to bear this most awful dispensation of Divine Providence with patience and resignation.

Charles Brune Henville, Vicar of Portsmouth; John Lang, and George Chambers, Churchwardens.

To His Royal Highness the PRINCE-REGENT.

May it please your Royal Highness,

WE, His Majesty's most dutiful and loyal subjects, the Nobility, Gentry, Clergy, and Freeholders of the County of Bedford, assembled, participating at all times, with the most lively interest, in every event which may affect the welfare of your Illustrious House, beg leave to approach your Royal Highness with the tribute of our humble but sincere condolence upon the recent and untimely decease of the Princess Charlotte Augusta. The magnitude of the calamity sustained by your Royal Highness and the people of these realms, under this sudden and severe dispensation, is manifested by the genuine sorrow which pervades all ranks and classes of His Majesty's subjects.

An heiress presumptive of the Crown, the only child of your Royal Highness—so richly endowed with talents and attainments, so highly distinguished by her virtues, so warmly attached to the principles of the British Constitution, so amiable in every relation of life—cut off in the bloom of youth, at a moment so full of promise to the nation, may well call for and justify the expression of our most painful and lasting regret.

Yet in the midst of our grief it must not be forgotten, that he who gives and takes away at his good pleasure, demands our patient acquiescence in the decrees which proceed from his unsearchable councils, and humiliation under his chastisements.

We bow, then, with resignation under this heavy blow, which, in the lamented mother and her child, has consigned to an early tomb the fairest hope and fondest wish of these United Kingdoms.

If, under such afflicting circumstances, motives of consolation to the parent and the Prince may be looked for beyond those to be derived from the purest and highest source, we trust your Royal Highness will find them in that which soothes whilst it embitters our sense of the national loss—the recollection of the various excellencies of your late beloved daughter, and in the heartfelt and universal sympathy of the British nation.

Signed, in behalf of the meeting,
Samuel Crawley, Sheriff.

[Presented by Viscount Sidmouth.]

Unto His Royal Highness George Prince of Wales, REGENT of the United Kingdoms of Great Britain and Ireland.

May it please your Royal Highness,

WE, the Mayor, Aldermen, Recorder, Burgesses, Merchants, and others, the principal Inhabitants of Stockton-upon-Tees, beg leave to approach your Royal Highness with this testimony of our sorrow on a late most melancholy event, which has overwhelmed the whole kingdom in lamentation, and in which we participate with feelings of the deepest and most poignant regret.

If the sympathy of Britons, as truly loyal as any within the limits of your Royal Highness's regency, can afford consolation on a calamity so heart-rending as the present, we, assuming to ourselves that character of attachment to your Royal House, venture to offer our sentiments of condolence on the loss which you, Sir, and the united dominions have sustained in the death of the Princess Charlotte Augusta of Wales.

We do not think it our duty to expatiate on the virtues of this departed excellence, because we are unwilling to harass your mind by an ill-timed repetition, and to increase a distress which must find its surest alleviation by humbly submitting to a decree which has removed for ever one in whom the nation had placed the fairest of its future hopes.

Uniting in a general and an earnest wish, that you may find support under this heavy weight of affliction from that Power who alone is able to bestow it, we implore that the life of your Royal Highness may long be preserved, for a blessing to the people, and, attended with health, happiness, and peace, may long continue to be a comfort to yourself.

B. Hutchinson, Mayor.

The humble Address of his Majesty's Island of Jersey.

WE, the States of His Majesty's Island of Jersey, humbly entreat that your Royal Highness will permit us to intrude, for a few moments, on the sorrows which rend your paternal bosom, with assurances of our heartfelt sympathy and condolence on the recent melancholy event, which has deprived your Royal Highness of a beloved and ever-to-be-lamented daughter.

Whilst impressed with that loyal attachment to the person of our Sovereigns, which has always distinguished this small portion of His Majesty's dominions, whether in times of prosperity or adversity, we mourn over this afflictive loss, as affecting your domestic happiness—we deplore it with feelings of no less regret, contemplated in the light of a most heavy public calamity. Severe, indeed, is the stroke that removes from us a pattern of every virtue, so conspicuously displayed in the short but instructive life of Her Royal Highness, on which the eyes of an admiring nation dwelt with complacency, which was the theme of universal praise, the object of universal reverence and affection.

In this awful visitation, we turn to the Almighty ruler of the world for his divine assistance, fervently beseeching him that the same irresistible hand which inflicted the wound, may enable your Royal Highness to support it with resignation, and, pouring the balm of consolation into your royal breast, long, very long preserve a life so necessary to the welfare of this wide-extended empire.

By order of the States,

Francis Godfray, Greff.

Unto His Royal Highness the PRINCE REGENT of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland

May it please your Royal Highness,

WE, His Majesty's dutiful and loyal subjects, the Ministers and Elders of the Presbytery of Cupar, beg leave to approach the throne with sentiments of profound respect and deep condolence. We feel, with sad and painful emotions, that unexpected and distressful stroke, with which Divine Providence hath seen meet to wound the heart of your Royal Highness, to disappoint the fond hopes and to call forth the lively sorrow of the millions throughout these lands interested in the welfare of your august house, and anxiously concerned for the general tranquillity and prosperity of the British empire.

We join in fervent prayers to the great Sovereign of the Universe, who alone can "comfort the comfortless, and bind up the broken in heart," that he may be pleased to support and strengthen your Royal Highness under this afflicting dispensation; that in the course of his superintending providence he may continue to bless these lands, which have been long happy under the paternal government of the Family of Brunswick; and that there may never be wanting a Prince of that Illustrious House to sway the sceptre over these wide-extended realms, to guard our liberties, sacred and civil, and "to know how to go out and in before this great people."

Signed, in name, presence, and by appointment of the Presbytery of Cupar, at Cupar, this 16th day of December 1817, by Andrew Thomson, Moderator.

To His Royal Highness George Augustus Frederick, REGENT of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland.

WE, the Noblemen, Gentlemen, Clergy, and Freeholders of the County of Kilkenny, beg leave to address your Royal Highness, with feelings of sincere grief, for the great calamity which the Almighty has been pleased to inflict on your august House.

Accustomed as we have been to approach your Royal Highness with sentiments of congratulation only, it is with heartfelt sorrow that we now offer our tribute of condolence for the melancholy event, which, as subjects of the United Kingdom, we cannot too deeply deplore.

At a time when all expressions of grief must fall short of what we feel, we should not presume to obtrude on your Royal Highness's sorrows, were it not that the omission might possibly bear the construction of a want of affection to your Royal Highness's person, although we are sensible that any intrusion ought to have been avoided which could tend to renew those feelings of grief which time and resignation to the Divine Will can alone alleviate.

REGENT of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland.

The humble Address of the Inhabitants of the City of Waterford.

WE, His Majesty's faithful and loyal subjects, the Inhabitants of the City of Waterford, beg leave to approach your Royal Highness with sentiments of the most sincere sorrow and regret, and humbly to offer our unfeigned condolence, on the ever-to-be-lamented death of Her Royal Highness the Princess Charlotte—an event, which must have so deeply afflicted your Royal Highness, and filled the heart of every individual of the empire with feeling of the keenest anguish and poignant distress.

While we thus sympathize with your Royal Highness in deploring the sad calamity and irreparable loss which has befallen your Royal House and the whole empire, we humbly trust that your Royal Highness may derive all the consolation that your royal breast is capable of receiving under the pressure of so severe and unexpected a stroke of adversity, from a due consideration of the inscrutable ways of Providence, from time, the soother of all affliction, and from the sincere and unaffected expressions of condolence of a loyal and an affectionate people.

Samuel Morgan, Mayor, Chairman.

Waterford, 11th December, 1817.

To His Royal Highness George Augustus Frederick,
REGENT of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland.

The Address of the Mayor, Aldermen, and Citizens of the City of Kilkenny.

May it please your Royal Highness,

WE, the faithful subjects of your Illustrious Father, desire to lay before you, those sentiments of unfeigned sorrow, which we feel at the lamented death of the Princess Charlotte of Wales and her Infant.

Sincerely attached to your Illustrious Family and Person, and grateful for the blessings we have enjoyed under their rule, we deeply lament an event, which has plunged you in such affliction, and deprived your race of so bright an ornament.

Devotedly faithful to those principles of civil liberty, which have established and secured them on the Throne of these realms, we deplore the loss of one in whose character and station we saw the best founded hopes of the inviolable maintenance of our national freedom and happiness.

In the fond recollection in which her exalted virtues will ever be held by a grateful people, we fervently trust, your Royal Highness will find some consolation for your sorrow at her loss, and though it has pleased Providence to deprive us of those blessings, which her life might have conferred, yet the memory of her probity, her unsullied private honour, and her domestic virtue, will remain as an eminent example to succeeding generations.

These sincere expressions of our admiration and sorrow, we humbly lay before your Royal Highness, fervently hoping, that this great misfortune may be the last of your reign, and that its future tenor may present an æra of unclouded prosperity to your people, and of unembarrassed happiness to yourself.

Saml. Madden, Mayor.

City Court House, Kilkenny, the 11th of December 1817.

[Transmitted by the Lord Lieutenant of Ireland, and presented by Viscount Sidmouth.]

To His Royal Highness George Prince of Wales,
REGENT of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland.

WE, the Mayor, Sheriffs, and Commonalty of the City of Cork, in Court of D'Oyer Hundred assembled, deeply penetrated with heartfelt sorrow, and most sincerely lamenting the severe and afflicting loss which your Royal Highness and the United Kingdom in general have recently sustained by the unexpected death of an amiable and beloved daughter, most humbly beg leave to offer to your Royal Highness our sincere and affectionate condolence.

Most feelingly do we sympathize with your Royal Highness, under this afflicting dispensation of Divine Providence, but we trust it will prove a source of consolation to your Royal Highness, to reflect that the short life of her whose death we so sincerely lament, was an example of every virtue and amiable quality, which will be fondly cherished and respected in the recollection of a loyal, dutiful, and attached people.

May it please the Almighty to protect and prolong the life of your Royal Highness, which, if possible, is become still more endeared to us, by the severe loss which this empire has such great reason to deplore.

Done under the common seal of said City, the 12th day of December 1817, Thomas Gibbings, Mayor.

[Transmitted by the Lord Lieutenant of Ireland, and presented by Viscount Sidmouth.]

To His Royal Highness George Prince of Wales,
REGENT of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland.

May it please your Royal Highness,

WE, His Majesty's most dutiful and loyal subjects, the Noblemen, Clergy, Gentlemen and Freeholders of the County of Meath, beg leave to approach your Royal Highness, with sentiments of heartfelt grief and sympathy, on the late awful visitation of Providence, in the premature death of Her Royal Highness the Princess Charlotte, and her infant child; a visitation that aggravated the sorrows of your Royal Highness, by the extinction of the brightest ornament, and the most fondly cherished hope of a faithful and loyal people, deservedly dear to your Royal Highness, for the affectionate and unshaken attachment to His Majesty, and to your Royal Highness's Person and Government, and whose welfare and happiness your Royal Highness identifies with your own.

No language that we could use in soothing our grief, by enlarging on the virtues and amiable qualities that characterised the beloved and honoured Princess, whose untimely fate we deplore, could equal the force and truth of the characters in which they are engraved on your Royal Highness's paternal heart, or administer any adequate consolation to your afflicted mind.—As your Royal Highness witnessed, with the feelings of a fond and happy Father, her gradual progress in all the accomplishments and acquirements that gave grace to her person, and enriched and adorned her mind; and as the daily developement of the rare assemblage of benign and virtuous dispositions, that made her equally an object of love and veneration, constituted the chief comfort of your Royal Highness's domestic hours, the recollection must prove a source of more intense grief and regret, surpassing all that the universal face of mourning, spread over the whole British Empire, shews to be felt by every private circle of the millions who compose it.

But this recollection, and this universal face of mourning, carry with them their consolations. When time shall have softened the poignancy of your Royal Highness's affliction, it will be your solace to think, that the daughter, who, when living, was your pride and your delight, has left a bright example, to which future generations will look back with admiration, reverence and profit, while she is herself enjoying the fruits of her early virtues, at the hands of the Supreme Being, who rules the destinies of Princes, and the fate of nations: and if any thing could be wanting to the consolations arising from the suggestions of religion, and the submissiveness with which the people of these realms join with your Royal Highness, in bowing to the mysterious decree of Providence, that deprived us at once of mother and child, it will be found in the sentiments that have burst forth from every part of the British Dominions, as if from one heart; demonstrating that, whatever may be the party divisions that embarrass, at times, your Royal Highness's councils, whatever dissensions may arise from the collision of political opinions, and, although even disaffection may be found lurking among a few disconcerted individuals, there exists an attachment to the Illustrious House of Brunswick, so firmly rooted in the hearts of every class and description of His Majesty's subjects, as never to be shaken, and giving the most unequivocal assurance, that the public hope, as well for the present as for the future, rests on the preservation of the beloved line, and on its extension to the latest posterity.

High Sheriff of the County Meath.*

To His Royal Highness the PRINCE REGENT of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland.

WE, His Majesty's loyal and dutiful subjects, the Dean and Chapter of the Collegiate Church of Saint Peter, Westminster, approach your Royal

Highness under the deepest grief and consternation at the sudden and most afflicting death of Her Royal Highness the Princess Charlotte Augusta. We cannot fully express what we feel from so disastrous an event. We can only deplore that accumulated calamity, by which your Royal Highness has been at once deprived of a beloved daughter; and the nation, of a Princess, to whom it had looked, with peculiar fondness, for the future support of the Throne, through Her expected offspring.

We resign ourselves to the awful will of Heaven;
and pray, with increased earnestness, that your Royal Highness's life, always so precious to your Country, may be preserved and prolonged, for the welfare of His Majesty's subjects, and for the unshaken maintenance of those principles in Church and State, by which your Royal Highness's Government has been so happily distinguished.

THE following Addresses have been presented to His Serene Highness the Prince Leopold of Saxe Cobourg; which Addresses His Serene Highness was pleased to receive very graciously:

To His Serene Highness Leopold George Frederick, Duke of Saxe, Margrave of Meissen, Landgrave of Thuringuen, Prince of Cobourg and Saalfeld.

WE, the Mayor, Aldermen, Freemen, and Inhabitants of the Borough of Helleston, in the County of Cornwall, beg permission to express to your Serene Highness our unfeigned feelings of sympathy and condolence, on the melancholy death of your late illustrious consort the Princess Charlotte Augusta.

Inadequate as language is to convey our sentiments on this mournful event, or to afford to your Serene Highness the consolation you so much need, we cannot refrain from assuring you how sincerely we participate in your distress, and how earnestly we pray that the same Divine Hand which has dealt the blow, may in mercy support you under it.

At the request and on the behalf of Meeting,
H. M. Grylls, Mayor.

To His Serene Highness Prince Leopold, of Saxe-Cobourg, &c. &c.

May it please your Serene Highness,

WE, His Majesty's most dutiful and loyal subjects
the Nobility, Gentry, Clergy, and Freeholders of the County of Dorset, although most reluctant to break in upon the sacredness of your sorrow, or to harass those feelings which have already endured such dreadful trials, cannot but feel bound in duty to your Serene Highness, and from an affectionate and grateful respect to the illustrious Princess, whom it has pleased God in His inscrutable wisdom to remove from this world, to express to you,

Serene Highness our deep and heartfelt grief at this most bitter loss.

By us of this country, where the amiable and excellent qualities of Her Royal Highness were more particularly known, and where during her long residence she had become endeared to us by repeated acts of beneficence and kindness, her loss is felt as a most heavy private as well as public calamity, and our distress is greatly increased, when we consider that the same moment deprived us of an offspring, who, educated under the paternal care, and virtuous and religious example of your Serene Highness, might reasonably have been looked forward to as the future boast and blessing of the nation.

In the name and on the behalf of the Meeting,
W. Oglander, High Sheriff and Chairman.

[Transmitted by the High Sheriff of the County, and presented by Sir Robert Gardiner.]

To His Serene Highness Leopold George Frederick, Prince of Saxe Cobourg.

WE, the Mayor, Recorder, High Steward, Bailiffs, Aldermen, Burgesses, and Inhabitants of the Borough of Dorchester, in the County of Dorset, beg to approach your Serene Highness with our most sincere expressions of condolence, upon the irreparable loss your Serene Highness has sustained in the death of your amiable and illustrious consort, Her Royal Highness the Princess Charlotte.

Deeply as we deplore the event, which has deprived the nation of its fairest ornament and its future hope, we still derive the highest consolation from the reflection, that the sufferings of Her Royal Highness received every mitigation which domestic endearment could suggest, or conjugal affection bestow.

Under a calamity so distressing we cannot in any adequate terms either express our own feelings, or how deeply we sympathize with those of your Serene Highness. We however trust your Serene Highness will receive some alleviation of your grief from the unaffected sympathy of all classes of His Majesty's subjects in your Serene Highness's affliction, and from an assurance that the many virtues of your beloved consort will long live in the memory of an affectionate people.

We beg also to offer to your Serene Highness, as an additional source of consolation, the high sense entertained by the British nation of your Serene Highness's amiable qualities, which from the earliest moment of your arrival amongst us, have inspired us with admiration, and left upon our hearts indelible impressions of the greatest esteem and respect.

Morgan Yeatman, Mayor.
