Church Commissioners'-Office,
August 10, 1836.

THE following is the copy of an Order of His Majesty in Council, dividing the parish of Winterbourne, in the county of Gloucester, into two separate and distinct parishes, under the provisions of the 16th section of the 58th Geo. 3, cap. 45:

At the Court at St. James's, the 27th day of May 1836, present, the King's Most Excellent Majesty in Council.

WHEREAS by an Act, passed in the 58th year of the reign of His late Majesty King George the Third, intituled "An Act for building, and promoting the building, of additional churches in populous parishes," it is, amongst other things, enacted, "that in every case in which the Commissioners appointed for carrying into execution the purposes of the said Act, shall be of opinion that it will be expedient to divide any parish into two or more distinct and separate parishes, for all ecclesiastical purposes whatever, it shall be lawful for the said Commissioners, with the consent of the Bishop of the diocese in which such parish is locally situated, signified under his hand and seal, to apply to the patron or patrons of the church of such parish for his consent to make such division, and for such patron or patrons to signify his or their consent thereto, under his hand and seal; and the said Commissioners shall, upon the consent of the said patron or patrons so signified, represent the whole matter to His Majesty in Council, and shall state in such representation the bounds by which it is proposed, with such consent as aforesaid, to divide such parish, together with the relative and respective proportions of glebe land, tithes, moduses, or other endowments, which will by such division arise and accrue, and remain and be within each of such respective divisions, and also the relative proportions of the estimated amount of the value or produce of tithes, oblations, offerings, or other ecclesiastical dues or profits, which may arise and accrue within each of such respective divisions; and if, thereupon, His Majesty in Council shall think fit to direct such division to be made, such Order of His Majesty in Council shall be valid and good in law for the purpose of effecting such division; provided always, that no such division of any parish into distinct parishes shall completely take effect until after the death, resignation, or other avoidance of the existing incumbent of the parish to be divided;" and whereas by an Act, passed in the 59th year of His late Majesty King George the Third, intituled "An Act to amend and render more effectual an Act, passed in the last session of Parliament, for building, and promoting the building, of additional churches in populous parishes;" and by another Act, passed in the 7th and 8th years of the reign of His late Majesty King George the Fourth, intituled "An Act to amend the Acts for building, and promoting the building, of additional churches in populous parishes;" and by another Act, made and passed in the 1st and 2d year of His present Majesty, intituled "An Act to amend and render more effectual an Act, passed in the 7th and 8th years of the reign of His late Majesty, intituled 'An Act to amend the Acts for building, and promoting the building, of additional churches in populous parishes;” and also by another Act, made and passed in the 2d and 3d year of His present Majesty, intituled “An Act to render more effectual an Act, passed in the 59th year of His late Majesty King George the Third, intituled “An Act to amend and render more effectual an Act, passed in the last session of Parliament, for building, and promoting the building, of additional churches in populous parishes;” further provisions are made for carrying such divisions into effect:

And whereas the said Commissioners have made a representation to His Majesty in Council, stating that when the last census was taken, the parish of Winterbourne, in the county of Gloucester and diocese of Bristol, contained a population of 2889 persons; that there is, besides the parish church, which affords accommodation to 500 persons, one chapel in the said parish, which is situated at Frenchay, in the tything of Hambrook, and is called the Chapel of St. John the Baptist, and which has been recently consecrated, and divine service is regularly performed therein, and which affords accommodation for 800 persons, including 500 free seats for the use of the poor:

And whereas the said Commissioners have further represented to His Majesty, that, having taken into consideration all the circumstances attending this parish, it appears to them to be expedient, that the said parish should be divided into two distinct and separate parishes, under the 16th section of the said Act, passed in the 58th year of the reign of His Majesty King George the Third; and that the said parishes should be named respectively the parish of Winterbourne and the parish of St. John the Baptist, Frenchay; and that the said chapel at Frenchay should be the parish church of the said parish of St. John the Baptist, Frenchay, with boundaries as follows:

The boundary to commence at Bradford’s-bridge, thence to follow east and south-east the boundary line between the respective tythings of Winterbourne and Hambrook, so far as the bridge at Quar Barton, close to the Bristol Turnpike road, which it follows south up to the top of White’s-hill, then turns east out of it, down a lane leading to the mill occupied by Mr. Jones, leaving the mill to the east, within Frenchay parish; thence to proceed east or north east, by a steep narrow passage, by the house occupied by Mr. Roach, and then passing in front of some newly erected cottages until it reaches the turnpike-road leading from Winterbourne-down to Damason’s-bridge, then in an easterly direction following the turnpike-road to Damason’s-bridge; thence to proceed south and south west, and follow the course of the River Froome (which forms the boundary between the tithings of Winterbourne and Hambrook and the parish of Mangotsfield) to where the tithing of Hambrook joins the parishes of Stapleton and Mangotsfield; thence west and north west, following the boundary line between the tithing of Hambrook and the parish of Stapleton, to where the tithing of Hambrook joins the parishes of Stapleton and Stoke Gifford; and thence in a northerly direction, following the boundary between the parish of Stoke Gifford and the tithing of Hambrook, as far as Bradford’s-bridge, from whence the boundary commenced, including also the hamlet of Stanley, which is separated from the tithing of Hambrook by part of the parish of Stapleton, and which is surrounded by the parish of Stapleton, as the same is more particularly delineated in the map annexed to the said representation, and therein coloured green:

That the whole of the glebe land lying within the parishes of Winterbourne and Saint John the Baptist, Frenchay, will belong to the parish of Winterbourne; that the tithes arising from the lands specified in the schedule thereunto annexed, and valued at one hundred and seventy-six pounds, ten shillings per annum, and being one sixth of the tithes of the now existing parish of Winterbourne, will belong to the parish of Saint John the Baptist, Frenchay: that there are no modusses or other endowments arising in the said parish of Winterbourne: that it is estimated that the value or produce of fees, oblations, offerings, and other ecclesiastical dues, which now arise in the said parish of Saint John the Baptist, Frenchay, are less by one half than those which arise in the parish of Winterbourne, but will probably increase:

That the consents of the Lord Bishop of Bristol and of the President and Scholars of St. John’s College in Oxford, the patrons of the parish church of Winterbourne, have been obtained, as required by the above-mentioned section of the said Act of the 58th year of His Majesty King George the Third, and, in testimony of such approbation, the said Lord Bishop of Bristol has put his signature and seal, and the said President and Scholars have affixed their common seal at the foot of the said representation; and humbly praying, that His Majesty would be graciously pleased to take the premises into His royal consideration, and to make such order in respect thereto, as to His Majesty shall seem meet:

His Majesty, having taken the said representation, together with the map thereunto annexed, into consideration, was pleased, by and with the advice of His Privy Council, to approve thereof, and to order, as it is hereby ordered, that the proposed division be accordingly made and effected agreeably to the provisions of the said Acts.

Wm. L. Bathurst.
