

be accompanied by a certificate from some Inspector or other officer duly appointed for the purpose by the Health Committee of the said borough, that such offal or dung, or litter has come from or been in contact with healthy and unsuspected animals, or has been properly disinfected. Provided however that no such certificate as aforesaid shall be required for the removal of horse manure.

And whereas divers parts of the said Hundred of West Derby are now affected with the cattle plague, and the removal of dung or litter from place to place therein is likely to propagate infection. Now, therefore, the said Justices do hereby further give notice, declare, and order—

2. That from and after the date of this order, and until the same is altered or revoked by any other order of this Court, or of the Privy Council, or Act of Parliament, it shall not be lawful for any person or persons to remove, or cause to be removed, any dung or litter from any place within the same jurisdiction to any other place within the said jurisdiction, unless each cartload or other quantity of dung or litter so removed be accompanied by a certificate of some Cattle Inspector or "competent person" (but the certificate of any such competent person as aforesaid, shall be in all cases countersigned by a Justice of the Peace) that such dung or litter is not likely to propagate infection; provided always, that this prohibition shall not apply to the removal of any dung or litter from one part of any farm to another part of the same farm.

3. That during the period aforesaid, it shall not be lawful for any person or persons to remove or cause to be removed, any dung or litter from any farm or premises which has or have been affected with the cattle plague, unless and until such dung or litter has been certified by some Cattle Inspector to have been turned over and properly disinfected in his presence, and to his satisfaction.

4. And the said Justices do hereby confirm the said order, declaration, and notice of the 29th of January last, in every respect in which it is not altered or varied by this order, or by the order of Quarter Sessions of the 8th of February last.

5. Every person offending against these orders, declarations, and notices, or any of them, will be liable for each offence to a penalty not exceeding £20.

By the Court,
Birchall and Wilson, Deputy Clerks of the Peace.

Dated this 12th day of March, 1866.

CATTLE PLAGUE.

Berwickshire.

Notice is hereby given, that the local authority for the county of Berwick, under "The Cattle Diseases Prevention Act, 1866," at a meeting held at Dunse, of the date hereof, in terms of the powers conferred on it by said Act, and by the Orders of Her Majesty's Most Honourable Privy Council of date 23rd February, 1866, resolved as follows:—

Whereas the cattle plague no longer exists in the county of Berwick, and the orders issued by the local authority for the disinfection of places where the said plague had existed, have been fully carried out; and whereas it is expedient that the former orders of any local authority for the county with regard to the removal of animals under the Order of the Lords of the Privy

Council respecting the cattle plague, should be amended, it is ordered as follows:—

1st. That for the present, and till this order is revoked, any bull, cow, heifer, bullock, ox, or calf may be removed generally from place to place within the said county of Berwick, and within the jurisdiction of the said local authority, without a licence.

2nd. That it shall be lawful to bring bulls, cows, sheep, lambs, goats, or swine, one or more, into the county of Berwick, from any other part of Great Britain, provided that, previous to bringing any of the said animals into the said county, the owner thereof, or some person on his behalf, duly authorised by him, and competent to do so, shall make, before the local authority of the county of Berwick, at a meeting assembled, such a declaration, or produce such evidence, as shall satisfy the said local authority that the said animals have not been on any farm or in any place where cattle plague exists or has existed within the preceding three months, and that the said animals may be brought into the county of Berwick without risk of bringing contagion with them, and such owner or other person shall apply for, and obtain from, the said local authority, if it see fit to grant the same, a licence in duplicate, authorising him to bring the said animals, one or more, into the said county.

3rd. That nothing herein contained shall authorise or permit the removal of any heifer, bullock, ox, or calf, from any other part of Great Britain into the county of Berwick.

Every person offending against the above orders, shall for every such offence forfeit a sum not exceeding £20.

By order of the Local Authority,
Hugh Hume Campbell,
Chairman of Local Authority.

The local authority meets in Dunse, in the County Buildings, every Monday, at one o'clock p.m.

County Buildings, Dunse, 26th March, 1866.

CATTLE PLAGUE.

Huntingdonshire, to wit.

At the General Quarter Sessions of the Peace holden by adjournment at the Shire Hall, Huntingdon, in and for the said county, on Saturday, the 24th day of March, 1866, before George Rust, Esquire, the Earl of Sandwich, David Veasey, Arthur Sperling, D. Herbert, Esquires, and others, their fellows, Justices:—

Whereas the Justices in Sessions held this 24th day of March, 1866, did resolve—That it is expedient to vary and alter the several orders made by them on the 7th and the 27th days of February last, respectively, in the manner and to the extent hereinafter mentioned, and they do hereby order and direct as follows:—

1st. That any person who may have purchased any bull within the county may, by licence obtained from a Magistrate, move such bull from the premises where purchased to his own premises, on proof made satisfactory to such Justice, that no case of cattle plague has occurred within twenty-eight days on the premises where the bull has been, or within a quarter of a mile of such premises.

2nd. That all parts of such orders as above-named, which restrict absolutely the bringing into this county, from any other part of Great Britain, any animals or articles therein enumerated, be, as far as regards sheep and lambs, hereby revoked, and that, until further ordered,
