*Board of Trade (Harbour Department),
London, September 4, 1889.*

THE Board of Trade have received through the Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs a copy of a despatch, dated 30th ultimo, from Her Majesty's Representative at Copenhagen, transmitting copy of a Quarantine Notice, issued by the Danish Government, of which the following is a translation:—

"In view of the outbreak of cholera in Trieste having now ceased, the preventive quarantine measures against arrivals from that port, as decreed in the notices issued by the Ministry of Justice, on the 27th April and 30th June, 1887, are hereby raised. The prohibition to import into the kingdom the articles mentioned in § 32 of the law of July 2, 1880, is also raised, together with the compulsory purification of all linen, wearing apparel, and bedding, belonging to the personal effects of persons arriving from the above port.

"For the present there is no quarantine. The provisions of chap. 2, § I, of the law relating to preventive measures against the introduction of contagious diseases into the kingdom, of the 2nd July, 1880, are in force until further notice against arrivals from the following places—Marseilles, Sicilian ports, all Egyptian sea ports, Tonkin and Cochin China sea ports, together with those of the East Indies and the Dutch East Indian Colonies, Red Sea ports, Brazilian ports, Cuba, Hayti, Porto Rico.

"The importation from the above-mentioned places of old linen, second-hand clothes or bedding (provided they do not form part of travellers' personal effects), rags, old wadding, carding wool, and waste paper, is forbidden.

"All wearing apparel and bedding brought as personal effects from the above places, will be submitted to purification under the superintendence of the proper officers.

"The measures set forth in this notice to come into force from the present date.

"J. NELLEMANN.
