maintained at all times in good order and efficient action.

22. Every keeper shall cause every yard, area, forecourt, or other open space within the curtilage of his house to be maintained at all times in good order, and to be thoroughly cleansed, from time to time, as often as may be reasonably necessary for the purpose of keeping such yard, area, forecourt, or other open space in a clean and wholesome condition.

23. Every keeper shall cause all such means of ventilation as may be provided in or in connection with any room or passage in his house, and in or in connection with any water-closet, earth-closet, or privy belonging to such house to be maintained at all times in good order.

24. Every keeper shall cause the windows of every room in his house, which may be appointed for use and occupation as a sleeping apartment, to be kept fully open for one hour at least in the forenoon, and for one hour at least in the afternoon of every day provided that such keeper shall not be required in pursuance of this bye-law to cause any such window to be opened or to be kept open at any time when the state of the weather is such as to render it necessary that the window should be closed, or when any bed in such room may be occupied by any lodger in consequence of sickness or of other sufficient cause.

25. Every keeper shall in the first week in the months of April and October in every year cause every part of his house to be cleansed.

He shall at the same time, except in such cases as are hereinafter specified, cause every area, the interior surface of every ceiling and wall of every water-closet, earth-closet, or privy belonging to the premises, and the interior surface of every ceiling and wall of every room, staircase, and passage in the house, to be thoroughly cleansed with hot lime-wash.

Provided that the foregoing requirements with respect to the lime-washing of the internal surface of the walls of rooms, staircases, and passages, shall not apply in any case where the internal surface of any such wall is painted, or where the material of or with which such surface is constructed or covered is such as to render the lime-washing thereof unsuitable or inexpedient, and where such surface is thoroughly cleansed and the paint or other covering is renewed, if the renewal thereof be necessary, for the purpose of keeping the house in a cleanly and wholesome condition.

26. Immediately after any keeper shall have been informed or shall have ascertained that any person in his house is ill of an infectious disease he shall give written notice thereof to the Medical Officer of Health.
