Board of Trade (Fisheries and Harbour Department), London, March 20, 1902.
H. 4790.

THE Board of Trade have received, through the Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs, a copy of the following Despatch, dated March 9, from His Majesty's Representative at Constantinople, forwarding a report from the British Delegate on the Board of Health, with respect to an outbreak of cholera in the Haj:—

Constantinople, 9th March, 1902.
No. 30. Commercial.

MY LORD,—Referring to my Telegram Commercial No. 9 of 6th instant, I have the honour to transmit herewith to your Lordship copy of a Despatch from the British Delegate on the Board of Health reporting an outbreak of cholera in the Haj.

I have, &c.,
N. R. O'CONNOR.

His Majesty's Principal Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs.

Constantinople, 6th March, 1902.

SIR,—I have the honour to transmit herewith copies of telegrams received from the Sanitary Officer at Medina, reporting a serious outbreak of disease among the pilgrims there. The symptoms mentioned—vomiting, diarrhoea, anuria, cold extremities, cramps, and sunken eyes—leave practically no room for doubt that the disease is cholera; and as seventy deaths are reported to have occurred in one caravan, while another caravan is also apparently contaminated, the outbreak is already one of no little gravity.

An extraordinary meeting of the Board of Health was held this afternoon in consequence of this report. No later details of the outbreak had been received. In reply to a telegraphic inquiry, the Vali of the Hedjaz telegraphed from Jeddah, under yesterday's date, that he had left Mecca five days previously, that there was no suspicious disease there when he left, and that he had received no information of the appearance of any such disease there since. It may therefore be assumed that Mecca is for the present not contaminated. The infected caravans must have left Mecca quite a fortnight ago (the journey from Mecca to Medina usually occupies thirteen days); and the disease seems to have developed at some place, unnamed, between the two cities. So far as may be gathered from the present information, the outbreak seems to be confined to two caravans at Medina and to a portion of the road between Mecca and Medina.

The Board of Health has decided to communicate with the Vali of the Hedjaz and the Grand Sheriff of Mecca, who will be authorized to take whatever measures they may deem necessary to deal with the outbreak. Instructions have already been sent to the Sanitary Officer at Medina to form a local commission of medical men to inquire into and report upon the nature of the disease and to co-operate in the local measures. All leave has been stopped for medical officers in the Red Sea. As soon as the pilgrims begin to disperse after completion of the Haj, all the medical officers who can be spared from Camaran will be sent to Jeddah, and those of them who are of the Moslem religion (there is, I believe, only one) will be sent on to Mecca or Medina, as required.

Recommendations will be made to the authorities named above, and also to the Porte, as to the urgent need of efforts to prevent the introduction of the disease into Mecca. As the return flow of pilgrims has now set in from Medina to that city, the risk of its contamination is exceedingly great. The Turkish section of the Board is unanimous in declaring that any attempt to stop the flow, and to break up the pilgrimage is not to be even thought of; and it seems clear that were such an attempt made it would only end in failure, and would perhaps lead to worse evils than those it was intended to prevent.

Instructions will therefore be sent to Mecca to arrange, if possible, for the inspection of each caravan as it arrives, for the immediate isolation of any suspected case, and for the medical surveillance, as far as practicable, of the pilgrims during their stay there. As the present Haj is one of the most numerous attended of recent years, any efficient surveillance will probably prove impracticable, even if, as suggested, the local medical staff is supplemented by the services of such medical practitioners as there may be in Mecca.

It will also be recommended that military patrols should be stationed at the wells and pools on the road between Medina and Mecca, in order to prevent, as far as possible, their gross contamination by the pilgrims.

The Sanitary Administration has promised to prepare a scheme of measures intended to deal with the dispersion of the pilgrims after the completion of the Haj. This scheme will be submitted to the Board for discussion at next Tuesday's meeting.

I have, &c.,
F. G. CLEMON.
