FRIDAY, AUGUST 7, 1908.

At the Court at Goodwood House, the 1st day of August, 1908.

PRESENT,

The KING's Most Excellent Majesty in Council.

WHEREAS by the Sugar Convention Act, 1903, after reciting that by Article VII of the Convention, signed on the fifth day of March, nineteen hundred and two, in relation to sugar, provision was made for the establishment of a Permanent Commission charged with watching the execution of the provisions of the Convention, it is enacted that where it is reported by the Permanent Commission that any direct or indirect bounty is granted in any foreign country on the production or export of sugars, His Majesty may, by Order in Council, make a prohibition Order, that is to say, an Order prohibiting sugar from that foreign country to be imported or brought into the United Kingdom, subject to any provision which might be made by Parliament in view of such prohibition to impose a special duty on such sugar in accordance with the Convention; and it was also enacted that His Majesty might, similarly, revoke, alter, and add to any such Order.

And whereas it was provided by Article X of the said Convention that the Convention should come into force from the first day of September, one thousand nine hundred and three, and should remain in force for five years from that date.

And whereas upon reports made by the said Permanent Commission His Majesty, by an Order in Council dated the eleventh day of August, one thousand nine hundred and three, prohibited the importation into the United Kingdom of sugar from Denmark, Russia, and the Argentine Republic, and by another Order in Council dated the twenty-seventh day of March, one thousand nine hundred and five, prohibited the importation into the United Kingdom of sugar from Spain,

And whereas by an additional Act to the said Convention, signed on the twenty-eighth day of August, one thousand nine hundred and seven, and duly ratified, it has been agreed to maintain the said Convention in force for a fresh period of five years, commencing on the first day of September, one thousand nine hundred and eight, and it is provided that Great Britain shall be relieved after the said first day of September, one thousand nine hundred and eight, from the obligation under the said Convention to impose a special duty on sugar imported from any foreign country or to prohibit the importation of bounty-fed sugar.

Now, therefore, His Majesty, in exercise of the powers vested in Him by the said recited Act, by and with the advice of His Privy Council, is pleased to order, and it is hereby ordered, that as from the first day of September, one thousand nine hundred and eight, the two recited Orders in Council, dated respectively the eleventh day of August, one thousand nine hundred and three, and the twenty-seventh day of March, one thousand nine hundred and five, shall be no longer in force, and the said Orders are as from that day hereby revoked.
