DEPARTMENT OF THE ENVIRONMENT

THE WENTWORTH ESTATE ACT 1964

(AMENDMENT) REGULATIONS 1990

LOCAL GOVERNMENT FINANCE ACT 1988

Notice is hereby given that the Secretary of State for the Environment proposes to make the above-mentioned Regulations under sections 118, 143(1) and 143(2) of the Local Government Finance Act 1988.

The Regulations are required to provide for the future financing of the maintenance of the private roads and footpaths of the Wentworth Estate by the Wentworth Estate Roads Committee, in consequence of the abolition of general rates on domestic property under the 1988 Act, and the effect this has on the powers of the Committee to levy a road rate as provided in the Wentworth Estate Act 1964.

The proposed Regulations will amend the Committee's power to levy the road rate to the following effect:

- (a) consequent upon the abolition of domestic rating, domestic net rateable values as at 31st March 1990 will be multiplied by a calculated factor which will provide new values for domestic property. A uniform road rate will be set for both domestic and non-domestic chargeable hereditaments, and levied on the new values thus calculated for domestic hereditaments, and on the rateable values of non-domestic hereditaments as shown in the local non-domestic rating list. Special provision is made for hereditaments which are partly domestic and partly non-domestic.

- (b) the calculated factor (8.867) will maintain the proportion as at 31st March 1990 of the aggregated amount of the rate payable by owners of shops and other businesses etc. (classed as non-domestic from 1st April 1990) in relation to the aggregated amount of the rate payable by owners of domestic hereditaments.
- (c) for other consequential and supplementary matters, including the method for calculating the appropriate value of hereditaments after future revaluations.

A draft of the Regulations may be inspected at the offices of the Wentworth Estate Roads Committee, The Professional's Building, Wentworth Club, Wentworth Drive, Virginia Water, Surrey GU25 4LS. Any person who wishes to make representations in relation to the draft Regulations should do so in writing, to be received by 14th December 1990, at the Department of the Environment, Room N6/05, 2 Marsham Street, London SW1P 3EB. Interpretation

- 2.—(1) "Faxmail" is a service for the high-speed transmission electronically of written or printed documents, diagrams, still pictures and other matter deemed suitable by the Post Office for such transmission between places in the United Kingdom and between places in the United Kingdom and such places outside it as the Post Office may from time to time determine.
- (2) "Faxmail item" means an item which (as the context requires) is:
 - (a) either tendered for transmission in material form or received in facsimile by the Post Office, and
 - (b) either delivered to the addresses in material form or transmitted to the relevant postal authority, or, provided the item was received in material form, transmitted to the addresses in accordance with this Scheme.
- (3) "relevant postal authority" means the postal authority in the country of destination of a Faxmail item and includes the United Kingdom.

PART II

General Conditions

Reception for transmission

3. A Faxmail item may be handed in or transmitted to any post office from time to time designated for that purpose by the Post Office, or it may be handed to a Post Office messenger authorised to receive it in which case the sender shall pay the appropriate charge for this facility as fixed from time to time by the Post Office in addition to all charges for the use of the Faxmail service. The sender shall complete such forms containing such particulars as the Post Office shall prescribe.

Addresses

- 4.—(1) The address of the person to whom the Faxmail item is to be delivered (if it is not to be collected by anyone) shall be in such form as will enable the item to be delivered without difficulty or the need to make enquiries and with due regard to any requirement of the relevant postal authority.

- (2) The address shall be one which falls within a delivery area from time to time defined by the relevant postal authority.

- (3) The address shall be furnished in the language or one of the languages of the country of destination provided this is written in Roman characters.

Objectionable documents

5. No Faxmail item shall be delivered or tendered for transmission if in the opinion of the Post Office it contains anything which is libellous or is grossly offensive or of an indecent, obscene or menacing character.

Limits of size and quality

6. No Faxmail item may exceed 210 millimetres in width or 297 millimetres in length or have an all round margin of less than 10 millimetres. If in the opinion of the Post Office an item is unsuitable for transmission by reason of its quality, it shall not be accepted for transmission.

Stoppage of certain Faxmail items

- 7.—(1) The Post Office may refuse or stop the transmission of a Faxmail item which does not in its opinion comply with this Scheme.
- (2) Subject to the provisions of this Scheme, where it is found that any sum payable in respect of a Faxmail item or of any service rendered in connection therewith has not been paid (whether such sum is payable to the Post Office or to any other body or person), delivery of that Faxmail item may be withheld until such sum has been paid by the addressee or by the sender.

Return and forwarding of original items

8. The originals of items held by the Post Office for transmission by Faxmail, except such items the transmission of which has been refused or stopped pursuant to paragraph 7(1) hereof because they come within paragraph 5 hereof, shall be returned by the Post Office to the sender or, at the sender's request, be forwarded to the addressee.

Identity

9. The sender or addressee of a Faxmail item shall, if the Post Office so requires, furnish evidence of his identity.

Availability of service

10. Faxmail may be provided by the Post Office at such times, during such periods, and at such post offices, in such circumstances and on such conditions (not being inconsistent with the provisions of this Scheme) as the Post Office may from time to time consider expedient.

PART III

Charges

Charges for transmission

11. The charges for and in connection with the transmission of Faxmail items shall be as fixed from time to time by the Post Office.

Special delivery charges

12. Where a service comparable to the Post Office's express packet service is available in the country of destination of a Faxmail item and the sender requests delivery by that service, he shall pay the appropriate charge as fixed from time to time by the Post Office.

Method of payment of charges

- 12.—(1) All charges in respect of transmission and of all other services provided in connection therewith shall (except as herein provided or as the Post Office may direct) be prepaid by the sender.
- (2) Faxmail items may be accepted for transmission without prepayment if the sender has made prior arrangements with the Post Office for a credit account.

Remission of charges

14. The Post Office may remit or refund in whole or in part any sum payable or paid under this Scheme in such cases as it may determine but no refund shall be made in respect of a Faxmail item which the sender has requested the Post Office to transmit after having been warned by it that the item has been presented too late to secure transmission to the office of destination on that day.
