Hague, Nov. 6, N. S. The Prince of Orange being perfectly recovered of his late Indisposition, set out this Morning with his Retinue, accompanied by Mr. Walpole and Mr. Finch, for Helvoetsluys, where the Yachts are, in order to embark for England with the first fair Wind. By the last Post from the Rhine we have received Advice that Fort Kehl surrendered to the French the 29th of last Month for want of Ammunition and Provisions, and that the French Army was gone towards Stolhoffen. We have received here no fresh Accounts of the Affairs of Poland, except that King Stanislaus was still at Dantzick, and that that City was threatned with a Bombardment from the Muscovites if the Magistrates did not oblige him to retire from thence.

Helvoetsluys, Nov. 7, N. S. The Prince of Orange came hither Yesterday from the Hague, to be in Readiness to make use of the first favourable Wind for passing over to England; though at present the Wind is so strong and contrary, that no Vessels but the Packet Boats will venture to put to Sea. His Highness lay last Night on board the Eubus Yacht.

Whitehall, October 30.

Whereas on Thursday the Twenty Fifth Instant, about Eight a-Clock in the Evening, several Persons forced themselves into the House of Colonel James Desfontaines at Paddington, in the County of Middlesex, and robbed him of Money and other Effects to a considerable Value; and also bound, bruised and wounded him in a cruel and inhuman Manner: His Majesty, for the better discovering and bringing to Justice the Persons concerned, in such heinous Crimes, is pleased to promise his most gracious Pardon to any one of them, who shall discover his Accomplise or Accomplices, so as he or they may be apprehended and convicted thereof.

And as a further Encouragement, His Majesty is also pleased to promise a Reward of Fifty Pounds to any one of them, or to any other Person or Persons who shall make such Discovery as aforesaid, to be paid on the Conviction of the Offender or Offenders.
