The Night Employment of Young Persons (Reverberatory or Regenerative Furnaces) (Northern Ireland) Order, 1924, dated March 28, 1924.

In pursuance of Section 59 of the Factory and Workshop Act, 1901, (a) and the Government of Ireland Act, 1920, and the several Orders made thereunder, the Ministry of Labour for Northern Ireland hereby rescinds the Order of the 21st May, 1913, (b) relating to the night employment of male young persons in those parts of factories in which Reverberatory or Regenerative Furnaces are used, in so far as the said Order relates to Northern Ireland, and in pursuance of section 54 of the said Factory and Workshop Act, 1901, the Ministry of Labour for Northern Ireland directs that the special exception by which a male young person may be employed during the night in certain factories shall extend, so far as regards young persons of the age of 16 years and upwards, to parts of other factories in which Reverberatory or Regenerative Furnaces are used in connection with (i) smelting of ores, (ii) metal rolling, (iii) forges, or (iv) manufacture of metal tubes or rods, and are necessarily kept in operation day and night in order to avoid waste of material and fuel, subject to the conditions prescribed in subsection (1) of the said section, and to the following further conditions:—

(1) The exception shall apply only to young persons employed in such processes requiring to be carried on continuously throughout the night as are defined in the certificate of the Inspector hereinafter mentioned.

(2) Every young person employed in pursuance of the exception shall be submitted by the occupier to the Certifying Surgeon for the district once at least in every six months for examination at the factory, for which examination the like fee shall be payable by the occupier as for examination for certificates of fitness in pursuance of the Act, and a register of such examinations shall be kept at the factory in the prescribed form and containing the prescribed particulars.

(3) No young person who on examination is certified by the Certifying Surgeon, by signed entry in the register, to be unfit for such employment shall be employed again in pursuance of the exception without the written sanction of the Certifying Surgeon entered as above.

(4) No young person shall be employed in pursuance of the exception unless and until the occupier holds a certificate from the Inspector for the district to the effect that provision has been made to his satisfaction for compliance with the conditions specified in this Order, which certificate shall define the processes to which the exception applies. Provided that any young person of 16 years of age or upwards who, prior to 1st September, 1923, was employed at night, in pursuance of the said Order of the 21st May, 1913, on premises where such employment is not authorised by this Order may continue to be so employed as if this Order had not been made.
