Town & Country Planning

Planning Permitted Development (PD) Rights For Agricultural Buildings - A Consultation Paper

The purpose of the consultation is to obtain views on a possible change to planning permitted development rights to facilitate compliance with the action programme being finalised by the Department of the Environment (DOE) and the Department of Agriculture and Rural Development (DARD) for implementation of the Nitrates Directive. The Nitrates Directive seeks to reduce or prevent water pollution caused by the application and storage of organic manure and chemical fertiliser on farmland.

The paper considers a possible extension of PD rights which would reduce the number of slurry tanks requiring applications for planning permission.

If you are interested in making your views known a copy of the consultation paper can be obtained from:

Warren Buchanan, Department of the Environment, Planning Service Headquarters, Policy & Legislation Branch, Millennium House, Belfast BT2 7BN

Alternatively you can request a copy by telephone: 028 9041 6966, by fax: 028 9041 6960 or by text phone: 028 9054 0642. The document is also available on the Planning Service website at www.planningni.gov.uk.

EUROPEAN COMMUNITIES ACT 1972 HEALTH AND SAFETY AT WORK (NORTHERN IRELAND) ORDER 1978

Control of Major Accident Hazards (Amendment) Regulations (Northern Ireland) 2005 (S.R. 2005 No. 305)

Notice is hereby given that the Department of Enterprise, Trade and Investment in exercise of the powers conferred on it by the European Communities Act 1972 and the Health and Safety at Work (Northern Ireland) Order 1978, has made Regulations entitled "The Control of Major Accident Hazards (Amendment) Regulations (Northern Ireland) 2005" (S.R. 2005 No 305).

The Regulations will amend the current Control of Major Accident Hazards Regulations (Northern Ireland) 2000 (S.R. 2000 No. 93) ("the COMAH Regulations"), which came into operation on 1 May 2000. They will implement for Northern Ireland, the health, safety and environmental aspects of Directive 2003/105/EC, which amends Directive 96/82/EC (the Seveso II Directive) on the control of major accident hazards involving dangerous substances. The Seveso II Directive was implemented in Northern Ireland through the COMAH Regulations

The key revision to the Regulations regard changes to the lists of named dangerous substances or generic categories of substances that are used to determine whether the Regulations apply and to what extent. These changes involve:-

- a redefinition of ammonium nitrate to cover lower percentage composition, and new classes covering self sustaining decomposition and reject material;
- a new named category for potassium nitrate fertilisers;
- the specification of seven new carcinogens, and raised threshold limits for all carcinogens;
- a new category for petroleum products to include gas oils such as diesel, naphtha, and kerosene including jet fuels, with thresholds that are half those of the previous automotive petrol category;
- the redefinition of the classes for explosives;
- lower qualifying thresholds for substances dangerous for the environment; and
- a change to the aggregation rule that is applied to all substances classified as toxic, dangerous for the environment, flammable or oxidising.

The amended Regulations also broaden the application of COMAH at mines, quarries, boreholes and waste landfill sites, and clarify some requirements in the original Regulations. Other amendments are largely administrative, including compliance timescales for establishments affected by the changes, and notification arrangements for petroleum products.

The Regulations come into operation on 25th July 2005.

Copies of these Regulations may be purchased from The Stationery Office Bookshop, 16 Arthur Street, Belfast BT1 4GD. ISBN 0-337-96060-7, £3.00 net. (1702/21)
