BURGH OF HAMILTON.

NOTICE is hereby given that Henry Shanks Keith, Esquire, Provost and Chief Magistrate of the Burgh of Hamilton; Robert Berry, Esquire, Advocate, Sheriff of the County of Lanark; and William C. Dunbar, Esquire, Under-Secretary for Scotland, the person appointed by one of His Majesty's Principal Secretaries of State in pursuance of section 11 of The Hamilton Burgh Act, 1878, have readjusted the boundaries of the Wards of the Burgh of Hamilton, and have reported the said readjustment to one of His Majesty's Principal Secretaries of State, who has approved of the said Report, and which readjusted boundaries of the Wards are as follows:—

FIRST WARD.—Beginning at the point of junction of the Earnock Mineral Railway with the Hamilton Branch of the Caledonian Railway at the north side of the Burgh boundary, and following the west side of the said mineral railway southward to its west point of intersection with the southern boundary of the Burgh and following the southern boundary of the Burgh eastward to the point where it crosses the Cadzow Burn at Chantinghall Bridge, thence following the centre of the course of the Cadzow Burn northward till it runs under the mineral railway of the Caledonian Railway Company, and thereafter following the west side of the said railway northward to the point where it passes under the North British Railway, thence for a distance of 450 feet or thereby following the north side of the North British Railway eastward till it crosses Union Street, thence eastward along the centre line of Union Street to Auchingramont Road, thence following the centre line of Auchingramont Road to the centre of Cadzow Street, thence north-westward along the centre line of Cadzow Street to the point where it is joined by the centre line of Muir Street, and thence along Muir Street to the point where the Burgh boundary coincides with the south-eastern extremity of the boundary wall between the Ducal Policies and Muir Street at Katherine Bank, thence following the Burgh boundary first northward along Bothwell Road and thence along the extreme north-west boundary of the Burgh to the Wellshaw Burn, and thence following the boundary of the Burgh along the Wellshaw Burn, till it runs under the Hamilton Branch of the Caledonian Railway, and thence north-westward along the Burgh boundary on said railway to the point first mentioned.

SECOND WARD.—Starting at the point where the Caledonian Mineral Railway runs under the North British Railway near Union Street, and following the west side of the said mineral railway southward to the centre of Cadzow Burn, and following the centre of the course of that burn thereafter, southward to the Burgh boundary at Chantinghall Bridge, and following the Burgh boundary thereafter eastward to the east side of the said mineral railway, and thereafter along the aforesaid mineral railway south-eastward to the point where it crosses the Lovers' Lane, and running north-east along the centre line of the said Lovers' Lane till it reaches the Tuphall Road, and following the centre line of the Tuphall Road east and north-eastward till it is intersected by the Burnside Lane, and following the centre line of the Burnside Lane eastward till it joins Gateside Street, thence following the centre line of Gateside Street and Quarry Street north-eastward till the latter joins Cadzow Street, thence following the centre line of Cadzow Street westward till it intersects Auchingramont Road, and following the centre line of Auchingramont Road south-westward to Union Street, and following the centre line of Union Street westward to the point where it crosses the North British Railway, and thence along the north side of the North British Railway westward to the point first mentioned.

THIRD WARD.—Beginning at the point where the Mineral Railway of the Caledonian Company crosses the Lovers' Lane at the south-west boundary of the Burgh, and following the Burgh boundary along the said railway to the point where it crosses the Strathaven Road, and thence following the Burgh boundary generally in a north-easterly direction to Waird's Lodge, and thence following the centre line of the road from Waird's Lodge northward to Woodside Walk, and following the centre line of Woodside Walk westward to the point where it intersects the centre line of High Patrick Street, and following the centre line of High Patrick Street northward to the centre of Duke Street, and following the centre line of Duke Street westward to the New Cross where it is intersected by the centre line of Quarry Street, thence following the centre line of Quarry Street and Gateside Street southward to Burnside Lane, and following the centre line of Burnside Lane, Tuphall Road, and Lovers' Lane, to the point first mentioned.

FOURTH WARD.—Beginning at the Burgh boundary at Waird's Lodge, and following the Burgh boundary north-eastward to Covan Bridge, thence continuing on the Burgh boundary, through the great avenue north-westward to the Edinburgh Road, and continuing still on the Burgh boundary northward and westward till the latter coincides with the south-eastern extremity of the boundary wall between the Ducal Policies and Muir Street at Katherine Bank, and crossing Muir Street to the centre line of Cadzow Street, and following the centre line of Cadzow Street south-eastward to the Old Cross, and running south-west along the centre line of Quarry Street to the New Cross, and running east thereafter along the centre line of Duke Street to the point where it intersects the centre line of High Patrick Street and following the centre line of High Patrick Street to Woodside Walk, thence east along the centre line of Woodside Walk to the centre of the road to Waird's Lodge, and thence southward along the centre of the line of the last-mentioned road to the point first mentioned.

FIFTH WARD.—Beginning at the north-west extremity of the Burgh boundary at Blautyre Junction, and following the Burgh boundary, generally in a south-westerly direction, to its extreme south-westerly point, and following the Burgh boundary thereafter towards the south-east to the point where the Burgh boundary first intersects the Earnock Mineral Railway, and following the west side of the said railway northward to the point where it intersects the northern boundary of the Burgh upon the Hamilton Branch of the Caledonian Railway, and following the Burgh boundary north-westward along the said Caledonian Railway to the point first mentioned.
