TUESDAY, JULY 19, 1910.

SCOTTISH OFFICE, WHITEHALL,

July 18, 1910.

THE King has been pleased, by Warrant under His Majesty's Royal Sign Manual, bearing date the 16th July 1910, to appoint Mr. David Johnstone Doughty as one of His Majesty's Trumpeters in Scotland, in the room of Mr. Henry John O'Neil, deceased.

Roads and Bridges (Scotland) Amendment Act, 1892 (55 & 56 Vict. c. 12).

ORDER by the Secretary for Scotland.

WHEREAS by the fifth section of the Roads and Bridges (Scotland) Amendment Act, 1892, it is provided as follows:—

Notwithstanding anything contained in section eighty of the Act first and second William the Fourth, chapter forty-three, as incorporated in the Roads and Bridges (Scotland) Act, 1878, the exemption from the general right of searching for, digging, and carrying away materials, as made in the said section eighty, shall be extended to such land or grounds as it may appear to the Secretary for Scotland, on the application of the proprietor thereof, desirable to preserve intact, on the ground of national or public interest or historical association.

And whereas an application has been made to me by the Town Council of the City of Edinburgh that the exemption from the general right of searching for, digging, and carrying away materials, may be extended to the lands known as the Blackford Hill, Edinburgh, so far as the same belong to the said Town Council.

Now therefore I, the Right Honourable John,

Baron Pentland, His Majesty's Secretary for Scotland, in pursuance of the powers vested in me by the said Roads and Bridges (Scotland) Amendment Act, 1892, do hereby determine that it is desirable to preserve intact on the grounds of national and public interest the lands known as the Blackford Hill, Edinburgh, so far as the same belong to the Town Council of the City of Edinburgh; and that the exemption from the general right of searching for, digging, and carrying away materials, as made in section eighty of the Act first and second William IV., chapter forty-three, as incorporated in the Roads and Bridges (Scotland) Act, 1878, shall extend to the said lands.

Given under my hand and seal of office at Whitehall, this fifteenth day of July 1910.

L. S.

PENTLAND,

His Majesty's Secretary for Scotland.
