2. The existing School Boards shall cease to exist, and there shall be established in their room for the districts united as aforesaid one school board to be called "The School Board of Dalkeith."

3. The said School Board of Dalkeith (hereinafter referred to as "the School Board") shall consist of the twelve members who at the date hereof constitute the said existing school boards. CHANCERY OF THE ROYAL VICTORIAN ORDER
ST. JAMES' PALACE, June 28, 1912.

The King has been graciously pleased to make the following promotions in and appointments to the Royal Victorian Order:—

To be Knight Grand Cross.

William Thomas, Baron Merthyr of Senghenydd,
K.C.V.O.

To be Member of the Fourth Class.

Lionel Arthur Lindsay, Esq.

WHITEHALL, July 1, 1912.

His Majesty the King has been graciously pleased to award the Edward Medal of the First Class to John Mitchell and James Green under the following circumstances:—

On the 23rd December 1911, water in large quantities broke into the Bamfurlong Mine, near Wigan, and by a heavy fall of earth a party of 13 were cut off from safety. Mitchell explored the roads in order to find a way of reaching these men, though his life was exposed to constant danger in consequence of the continued rise of the water. Finally he succeeded in boring a passage through the fall, thereby rescuing all the men who had been cut off. In another part of the workings Green, who had heard of the inundation, went down the dip to warn the men under his charge, although he met the water already rushing down the roads. In doing so, he acted at grave risk to his life, and it was two hours before he was out of danger. He extricated all his men.

James Green has since died, and the Medal will be given to his widow.

WHITEHALL, July 1, 1912.

His Majesty the King has been graciously pleased to award the Edward Medal of the Second Class to James A. Wright, a timberman at the Rand Clip Mine, Bocksburg, under the following circumstances:—

On the 25th of April 1911, a baling tank was accidentally lowered too far down a shaft, and broke the slings carrying a sinking pump, which fell into the water at the bottom of the shaft, pinning two natives under water. Wright made repeated efforts to extricate them by diving. The water, though only 4½ feet deep, was rising, and there was great danger that the pump and other wreckage would be shifted by Wright's attempts to pull out the natives, and would pin down him under water. He was unsuccessful in his attempted rescue, but the action showed a high degree of courage.

WHITEHALL, July 1, 1912.

His Majesty the King has been graciously pleased to award the Edward Medal of the Second Class to George Edwards, under the following circumstances:—

On the 22nd of July 1911, a road was being driven at the Bryncethin Colliery, near Bridge-end, in order to release an accumulation of gas, which, in a sudden outburst, rushed through a borehole in the roof, and the manager and three men were overcome by the fumes. Edwards was summoned from his home, and with a rope tied round his legs tried to reach the three men who had not been rescued. He was overpowered by gas, and had to be dragged out. On recovering he made further attempts and succeeded in attaching a rope to the bodies of two of the men, who were drawn up, but too late to save their lives. Edwards undoubtedly ran considerable risk, and, though his efforts to save life were unfortunately unsuccessful, his gallant action appears to deserve recognition.

WHITEHALL, July 1, 1912.

His Majesty the King has been graciously pleased to award the Edward Medal of the Second Class to Robert Greenlees, of the British South Africa Explosives Works, Modderfontein, South Africa, under the following circumstances:—

On the 27th February 1911, Greenlees was engaged along with a fellow-workman named Greig, in destroying bags of Collodion Cotton, when one of the bags ignited and both men were severely burned. Greig's clothes had caught fire, and he was helpless from the shock. Greenlees, in spite of the fact that he was suffering from severe pain, went to Greig's assistance and extinguished the flames in time to save his life for the moment, though he subsequently succumbed.

DOWNING STREET, April 30, 1912.

The King has been pleased to give directions for the appointment of William Rees Davies, Esq., K.C. (Attorney-General), to be Chief Justice of the Supreme Court of the Colony of Hong Kong.

Whereas Regulations were made by the Board of Trade on the 6th May 1912, in pursuance of section 91 of the National Insurance Act, 1911, and whereas in Regulation 36 of these Regulations it is enacted as follows:—

“Where any workmen employed in an insured trade are employed in or for the purposes of the business of any person (in this Regulation referred to as the substantial employer) by some other person who himself works wholly or mainly by way of manual labour in that business (in this Regulation referred to as the immediate employer), the substantial employer shall, unless the Board direct to the contrary, be treated for the purposes of Part II. of the Act as the employer of those workmen instead of the immediate employer, and shall be liable accordingly to perform the duties and pay the contributions required under the Act or these Regulations to be performed and paid by the employer of a workman in an insured trade:

Provided that—

(a) the substantial employer may deduct from any payments due from him to the immediate employer any sums paid by him as contributions on behalf of the workmen, and the immediate employer may deduct from the workmen's wages or from any other payments due from him to the workmen any sums deducted from payments due to him by the substantial employer: and

(b) any direction given by the Board under this Regulation shall not come into force until the expiration of seven days from the date thereof or such later date as may be specified in the direction.”

And whereas it is expedient that directions should be given by the Board of Trade in accordance with the above-mentioned Regulation.

Now, therefore, the Board of Trade hereby direct that in the case of workmen employed in building and construction of works, where the substantial employer has not an exclusive right to the services of the immediate employer, the substantial employer shall not be treated as the employer for the purposes of Part II. of the Act, but the immediate employer shall be treated as the employer for the purposes of Part II. of the Act.

This direction shall come into force on the 15th July 1912.

Signed by order of the Board of Trade, this 2nd day of July 1912.

H. LLEWELLYN SMITH,
Secretary to the Board of Trade.

And notice is hereby given that, in accordance with the provisions of the Rules Publication Act, 1893, copies of the proposed Rules and Orders may be obtained by any public body within forty days of the date hereof, at the Admiralty.

And whereas by virtue of Section 113 of the Act and the Ninth Schedule to the Act it is not possible for a draft Special Order under the Act to come into force before the expiration of a period of at least fifty-one days after the publication of the draft Order :

And whereas the said Joint Committee acting either alone or jointly as aforesaid have published notice of their proposal to make certain Special Orders under the Act, and are about to publish notice of their proposal to make certain further Special Orders under the Act, but unless special provision is made in manner provided by this Order the Special Orders in respect of which notice has been or will be published cannot come into force until after the commencement of the Act :

And whereas it is expedient for bringing Part I. of the Act into operation that the Joint Committee acting either alone or jointly as aforesaid, as the case may be, should in any case in which they have given notice of their proposal to make a Special Order be enabled to make the Order to come into operation on or before the commencement of the Act as a provisional Order :

(2) Any Provisional Special Order made in pursuance of this Order shall be laid before both Houses of Parliament, as soon as may be after it is made, and if an address is presented to His Majesty by either House of Parliament within the next subsequent twenty-one days on which that House has sat next after any such Provisional Special Order is laid before it, praying that the Order may be annulled, His Majesty in Council may annul the Order, and it shall thenceforth be void, but without prejudice to the validity of anything previously done thereunder.
