Regimental No.	Rank.	Name.	Corps.	Action for which commended.
1038	Private ...	Neville, F. ...	15th Hussars ...	For conspicuous gallantry on 29th October, near Zandvoorde, when he obtained valuable information which was acted upon regarding German observation post, in obtaining which his horse and himself were knocked over by high explosive shell. He subsequently conveyed two messages over dangerous ground.
5588	Lance-Corporal	Newbery, F. ...	1st Battalion, Somerset Light Infantry	For gallant behaviour on the night of 31st October in leading a rush on the enemy's trench, which was occupied in force. On the previous day he also acted in a gallant manner.
9644	Serjeant-Drummer	Nice, W. W. ...	1st Battalion, Coldstream Guards	For gallantry on 26th September near Troyon, when he voluntarily took out stretcher bearers and rescued two wounded men from a burning haystack under heavy fire.
7997	Acting-Corporal	Nilen, W. ...	1st Battalion, Royal Berkshire Regiment	For gallantry on 14th November in leaving his trench under fire and cutting away a tree which was masking the fire of our guns.
9946	Serjeant ...	Nisbet, J. ...	2nd Battalion, Highland Light Infantry	For very conspicuous gallantry on 14th November. Being without an Officer, he held his trench the whole day under very heavy shell fire, although wounded in the head, arm and leg.
15547	Battery-Quartermaster-Serjeant	Noakes, F. ...	"K" Battery, Royal Horse Artillery	For gallantry, great coolness, and resource, on many occasions under heavy fire. Has done good work constantly during the campaign.
5105	Serjeant ...	Owins, D. M. ...	2nd Battalion, Worcestershire Regiment	For gallant conduct and ability on 21st and 22nd October, in the defence of an advanced trench, after his Officer had been killed, when the casualties were severe from the enemy's sustained heavy rifle fire. Was wounded on the latter date.
5748	Corporal ...	Page, A. A. ...	4th Hussars ...	For gallantry and ability at Houdeng-Aineries and at St. Christophe-a-Berry. In the action near Hollebeke on 30th October his gallant conduct was again noticeable.
