

Distinguished Conduct Medals—continued.

Regimental No.	Rank.	Name.	Corps.	Action for which commended.
4889	Private ...	Cook, C. ...	7th Dragoon Guards ...	For conspicuous gallantry on 24th November 1914, at Festubert, in assisting to rescue a wounded man under heavy fire. Private Cook earlier on that day assisted an Officer in destroying a traverse in a German sap-head, under heavy bomb fire.
6792	Serjeant ...	Cooper, A. ...	1st Battalion, Bedfordshire Regiment	For conspicuous gallantry, ability, and coolness on numerous occasions. Was wounded on 30th October 1914, whilst conveying a message under heavy fire, and was again wounded the following day. Has shown marked courage at all times.
T 25142	Driver ...	Cox, H. T. ...	Army Service Corps ...	For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty at Neuve Chapelle, when he brought his waggon on two occasions in front of the German lines and thereby enabled his section to remove our wounded, who would otherwise have been left in the enemy's hands.
2587	Private ...	Crackett, J. ...	7th Dragoon Guards ...	For gallant conduct and devotion to duty near Festubert on the night of 20th-21st December 1914, in remaining in attendance on a mortally wounded Officer until he died, being exposed to a very severe fire.
23632	Serjeant ...	Crate, F. W. ...	1st Siege Battery, Royal Garrison Artillery	For gallantry and ability on all occasions in action. Has been an example in zeal and cheerfulness.
8692	Serjeant ...	Creech, G. ...	1st Battalion, Dorsetshire Regiment	For conspicuous ability and gallantry throughout the campaign, especially at Givenchy on 13th October 1914, and again at Pont Fixe, where he voluntarily took charge of a trench on the Givenchy road, and held the position against greatly superior numbers, until relief arrived. During the retirement from Mons, his gallantry was noted, and his readiness to take risks has been observed frequently.
2363	Lance-Corporal	Crooks, F. ...	1st Battalion, Manchester Regiment	For gallantry on 27th November 1914, in reconnaissance work, and on patrol duty in front of our trenches by night.
9911	Private ...	Cross, L. E. ...	4th Battalion, Middlesex Regiment	For gallant conduct on the night of 29th-30th December 1914, near Kemmel, when he crawled up to within 50 yards of the enemy's trenches under fire, attended on a wounded Officer and helped him away to cover.
522	Company-Quartermaster-Serjeant	Crouch, J. W. ...	1st Battalion, Northumberland Fusiliers	For conspicuous gallantry on 7th November 1914, near Hooge, in handling his machine guns with great ability until they were buried by shell fire. Has rendered valuable service throughout the whole period of the campaign.
4646	Corporal, Acting-Serjeant	Cummings, J. ...	1st Battalion, Cameron Highlanders	For conspicuous gallantry at Givenchy, on the 6th January 1915, when he went out from his trench three times under very heavy fire and brought his wounded comrades into safety.
T/ 20739	Provisional Farrier-Serjeant	Cussens, T. ...	Army Service Corps ...	For conspicuous gallantry and coolness on 5th November 1914, at Ypres, in extricating the horses after a shell had burst in the stables; six men and many horses were killed by the shells on this occasion.
8590	Acting-Corporal	Dagger, G. ...	1st Battalion, Duke of Cornwall's Light Infantry	For gallant conduct on 16th December 1914, in assisting in the filling up of a trench 100 yards from the enemy, whilst exposed to their fire for a period of three hours.