| 10297 | Private ... | Chawk, H. ... | 2nd Battalion, Gordon Highlanders | For gallant conduct on many occasions, especially at Neuve Chapelle on 13th March 1915, when he was continually employed in carrying messages under heavy fire. |

I. ... | 1/5th Battalion, South Lancashire Regiment (T.F.) | For conspicuous gallantry, energy, and devotion to duty near Le Touquet from 25th February to 9th April 1915, when engaged in working underground (continually in water) preparing a mine, which was successfully exploded on the latter date. E. ... | 56th Field Company, Royal Engineers | For conspicuous gallantry and ability at Spanbroek Molen on 12th March 1915, in leading his party up to the enemy's position, and subsequently for his very good organising work with the infantry attacking party, who had lost their Officers and Non-commissioned Officers. |

The courage and devotion to duty displayed were very pronounced, the risk of death through asphyxiation being very great. |
| 7086 | Acting Squadron Quartermaster-Serjeant | Clenshaw, W. ... | 5th Lancers ... | For conspicuous gallantry and coolness on 25th August 1914; when in charge of the rear troop of the rear-guard, he maintained his position with great ability against a very superior force of the enemy, thereby enabling a battery to withdraw in safety. |
| 10677 | Private ... | Clifford, W. ... | 1st Battalion, Highland Light Infantry | For conspicuous gallantry and ability at Neuve Chapelle on 12th March 1915. During the attack he laid a telephone wire, with the assistance of another man, from the second line to the firing line under very severe fire. Two men had previously been killed whilst endeavouring to perform this work. |
| 8782 | Private ... | Collins, J. ... | 1st Battalion, Leinster Regiment | For conspicuous gallantry and very great daring on 14th February 1915, near St. Eloi, when he stood on the parapets of his trench for several minutes in full view of and only ten yards from the enemy, rallying the men of his company under heavy fire. The gallant conduct of this soldier was largely instrumental in preventing any further advance by the enemy. |
