

Distinguished Conduct Medals—continued.

Regimental No.	Rank.	Name.	Corps.	Action for which commended.
14954	Private ...	May, A. J. ...	2nd Battalion, Duke of Cornwall's Light Infantry	For conspicuous gallantry on 14th March 1915, near St. Eloi, when he left his trench voluntarily with another man under heavy fire, crawled through the barbed wire entanglements, and brought back three wounded men into cover.
8347	Acting-Serjeant	Maye, P. J. ...	2nd Battalion, Scottish Rifles	For gallant conduct at Neuve Chapelle. After all the Officers had been killed or wounded he collected a party of men and continued the forward movement through the German positions.
6055	Company Serjeant-Major ...	M'Beath, W. J. ...	2nd Battalion, Scottish Rifles	For conspicuous gallantry and ability at Neuve Chapelle from 10th to 14th March 1915, in persistently carrying on the attack after his Officers had been killed.
7388	Lance-Corporal	M'Clennan, C. ...	1st Battalion, King's Royal Rifle Corps	For gallant conduct in the assault at Givenchy on 10th March 1915. Was compelled to lie out all day against the enemy's trenches, and when an opportunity arose he carried a wounded man into safety, and then returned to the same place and effected another rescue.
9479	Private ...	M'Crae, R. ...	1st Battalion, Cameron Highlanders	For conspicuous gallantry on many occasions, especially near Bixchoote on 22nd October 1914, in rendering first aid to a severely wounded Officer under a heavy fire, although himself wounded in the head; he then re-joined the firing line after placing the Officer on the way to safety. On 23rd October, Private M'Crae assisted a severely wounded Officer out of a burning building under fire, and after placing him in cover returned to the firing line.
4565	Private ...	M'Dowell, J. ...	2nd Battalion, Border Regiment	For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty on 10th March, at Neuve Chapelle, when he left his trench under heavy fire on three occasions to attend on the wounded who were lying out 20 yards in front. He was killed on the third occasion.
10508	Private ...	M'Grath, F. ...	2nd Battalion, Royal Inniskilling Fusiliers	For conspicuous gallantry on 25th and 26th April 1915, at Givenchy, in assisting to rescue Officers and men from a deep mine full of poisonous gas. The courage and devotion to duty displayed were very pronounced, the risk of death through asphyxiation being very great.
7029	Private ...	M'Gurn, J. ...	1st Battalion Highland Light Infantry	For gallant conduct and devotion to duty during the attack on Neuve Chapelle on 12th March 1915, when he remained in attendance on the wounded, although himself wounded, and subsequently dragged one of them into safety.
3/6875	Private ...	M'Leod, D. ...	2nd Battalion, Seaforth Highlanders	For conspicuous gallantry and coolness on 10th March 1915, at Neuve Chapelle, in bombing the enemy in their trenches and driving them out, traverse by traverse.
1771	Private ...	M'Manus, J. ...	6th Dragoon Guards ...	For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty on the night of 13th February 1915, when he was badly wounded whilst driving a wagon near Zillebeke. He continued at and completed his duty (which lasted nearly 3 hours), when he collapsed from loss of blood.
