

Distinguished Conduct Medals—continued.

Regimental No.	Rank.	Name.	Corps.	Action for which commended.
19729	Sapper ...	Davison, J. S. ...	"G" Depot, Royal Engineers	For conspicuous gallantry on the 25th April 1915, at Ypres. While carrying a message he was struck by shrapnel, receiving several severe wounds, but he safely delivered his message, going over one-third of a mile to do so.
7970	Serjeant ...	Davis, F. J. ...	1st Battalion, Lincolnshire Regiment	For conspicuous gallantry and ability at Hooze, on 16th June 1915. During an attack on the German trenches he took command of the supporting line of his Company, which had lost all its Officers, and rushed a portion of the German 2nd line, capturing the trench and taking several prisoners.
3064	Private ...	Day, A. E. ...	7th City of London Battalion, The London Regiment (T.F.)	For gallant conduct on the 16th May 1915, at Festubert. During an attack on the German trenches, he rescued a man, who was unable to extricate himself, from a watercourse, and succeeded in bringing him into safety under a heavy shell fire.
3976	Private ...	Denton, W. ...	2nd Battalion, Rifle Brigade	For conspicuous gallantry on the 9th May 1915, near Rouges Bancs, when he went back across open ground to collect bombs from wounded men, and continued to throw them after all his party had been shot down. He used about forty German bombs, which were found in the captured trench, against the enemy.
95	Acting Corporal	Dervin, J. ...	1st Battalion, Manchester Regiment	For conspicuous gallantry on the 26th April 1915, near Ypres. When the troops on the left of the Brigade were held up in the attack, and his Officers were killed or wounded, he advanced, with great gallantry and determination, to within a short distance of the enemy's trench and held on. During a pause in the attack he rescued a wounded man out of a brook and placed him under cover.
3 / 2770	Private ...	Devlin, J. ...	3rd Battalion, Royal Highlanders	For conspicuous gallantry on the 9th May 1915, at Rue du Bois, when, being wounded himself, he dragged back an Officer, who had been severely wounded about forty yards from the German parapet.
7437	Private ...	Dickson, R. ...	1/8th Battalion, Royal Scots (Lothian Regiment), T.F.	For conspicuous gallantry on the 16th May 1915, at Festubert, when he volunteered to go with a Company Serjeant-Major to bomb down a German trench, 500 yards of which they captured, together with 102 prisoners, including three Officers.
1748	Lance-Corporal	Dinnage, A. ...	47th (London) Divisional Signal Company, Royal Engineers (T.F.)	For conspicuous gallantry on the 22nd May 1915, at Givenchy, in laying a telephone line under a heavy shell fire, although advised to wait for it to slacken, thus completing an important communication.
7556	Private ...	Docherty, T. ...	2nd Battalion, Cameron Highlanders	For conspicuous gallantry and ability on the 8th May 1915, near Hooge. He repaired the telephone wire, where it had been cut in fifteen places, the work being voluntary on his part and carried out under a very heavy shell fire. On the same day he executed repairs on two more occasions to the wires, thus keeping communication open when it was of the highest importance it should be maintained.
