

formation on an extremely difficult and open bit of ground.

Capt. Alexander Campbell, 12th Fd. Co., R.E.

For gallant conduct and excellent work during an important infantry enterprise. Capt. Campbell controlled the efforts of large working parties, and the work performed was of the greatest importance to our operations. His example and energy were remarkable. He went from point to point over ground heavily swept by fire.

Temp. Capt. Walter Dawson, M.B., R.A.M.C.

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty when dressing the wounded and directing stretcher-bearers in the firing line. At dusk he searched the front himself under heavy rifle fire till every wounded man had been removed.

Capt. Humphrey Dene, 1st Bn., W. Gds.

For conspicuous gallantry and ability. When in command of an attack his arrangements were such that the enemy were taken by surprise, and he carried his objective without loss. When the enemy counter-attacked next morning, he went over the open to the front line under heavy fire, and controlled a difficult situation with great coolness and skill.

Capt. Peter Fleming Gow, M.B., Ind. Med. Serv.

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty on several occasions, notably when he took one end of a stretcher after three bearers had been hit, and brought in a wounded officer.

Capt. Stuart Grant-Dalton, York. R., and R.F.C.

For conspicuous gallantry and resource. When on return from escort duty his observer, 2nd Lt. Paris, discovered one of our machines which had been forced to land in enemy country owing to damage by hostile fire. Capt. Grant-Dalton with great gallantry landed, destroyed the machine, which was past repair, and returned ninety miles to his aerodrome with his observer and the pilot of the other machine.

Capt. Ernest Graham Hamilton, Conn. Rang.

For conspicuous gallantry during an enemy counter-attack. He rallied men of different regiments at a critical time and under heavy rifle fire. His efforts were successful in stopping the enemy.

Capt. Percy Cleghorn Stanley Hobart, R.E. (attd. 1st Sappers and Miners, Ind. Army).

For conspicuous gallantry when carrying out a series of dangerous reconnaissances under fire, during which he collected much useful information. On one occasion he made gallant efforts to rescue one of his escort, who was wounded; on another occasion he was wounded himself.

Capt. Philip Llewellyn Howell-Price, 1st Bn., Aus. Imp. Force.

For conspicuous gallantry when leading a party, which he had previously trained, in a successful raid on the enemy trenches. In face of heavy opposition and uncut wire he carried through his attack with great coolness and resource, and saw every officer and man back in our trenches before he returned.

Capt. William Archibald Miller, M.B., R.A.M.C., Spec. Res. (attd. 22nd (S) Bn., R. Fus.).

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty. Capt. Miller followed the front line of our attack over ground swept by shell, machine gun and rifle fire. He searched in every direction for wounded, and gained valuable information regarding the situation. This he at once communicated and again continued his search for wounded. This officer has on previous occasions shown distinguished gallantry.

Capt. Robert Murdie, 5th Can. Infy. Bn.

For conspicuous gallantry and ability. During a long continued and very heavy bombardment of his trench by the enemy he set a fine example of cool courage, and by his skilful dispositions materially reduced the casualties.

Temp. Lt. Lionel Matthew Rowlette, R.A.M.C. (attd. 1st Bn., W. Gds.).

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty. During a heavy bombardment he crawled across the open for a considerable distance to attend to two wounded men. Later he went out again and, although twice wounded, dressed the wounds of seven wounded men and tended them till he had to be himself removed.

Lt. (temp. Capt.) Francis Hart Toop, Glouc. R. (attd. 14th Bn.).

For conspicuous gallantry and ability during a successful raid on the enemy. When his C.O. had become a casualty he took charge, behaved with great gallantry, and was largely responsible for the success of the operations.

2nd Lt. (temp. Capt.) Andrew Carmichael Frame, 9th Bn., High L.I., T.F.

For conspicuous gallantry and ability. He organised and carried out with great dash a successful raid on the enemy's trenches. Many of the enemy were killed, many prisoners taken and 2 machine guns destroyed.

2nd Lt. (temp. Lt.) Herbert James Herd, 1st/7th Bn., R. Highrs., T.F.

For conspicuous gallantry when in command of a raiding party. Accompanied by a wounded serjt. he completed work which his bombers had failed to do. Under very heavy fire Lt. Herd carried a wounded serjt. to safety, and on three separate occasions went out under heavy fire to look for missing men.

2nd Lt. George Reynolds McCubbin, R.F.C., Spec. Res.

For conspicuous gallantry and skill. Seeing one of our machines about to engage two Fokkers he at once entered the fight, and
