

19542 Pte. A. Bullas, Leic. R.

For conspicuous gallantry during a raid on the enemy's trenches. He was near an officer when the latter fell wounded into a shell crater. After the raid he came back and twice subsequently led out search parties under heavy fire to look for the officer, but was unable to find him.

7674 Cpl. S. J. Burgess, R.E.

For constant devotion to duty displayed on all occasions and under trying circumstances during the advance. He has displayed gallantry, and has often been employed in leading working parties up to the trenches at night.

1/6286 C./Q./M./S. (A./C./S./M.) A. Burnside, Conn. Rang.

For conspicuous gallantry throughout the operations. He has been in every action with the exception of one. By his coolness and determination, either as platoon serjeant or company serjeant-major, he has always set a fine example to those under him.

10110 L./Cpl. R. Campbell, High. L.I.

For conspicuous gallantry in action. Although wounded at an early stage of the attack, he continued to advance with his men and bomb the enemy's trench. He has done consistent good work throughout the operations.

10697 Sjt. (A./C./S./M.) J. Carney, High. L.I. (now 2nd Lt.).

For conspicuous gallantry in leading grenade parties. He finally established himself in the communication trench leading from a nullah, whence he had driven back the enemy with great success.

5423 Pte. P. W. Clewlow, I.U. List, late Hrs.

For gallant and distinguished service. In command of a cable waggon detachment he has laid his lines under heavy fire and shown great devotion to duty.

241348 Sjt. C. G. Cluer, R.W. Surr. R.

For conspicuous gallantry and coolness in action in going back 30 yards behind the firing line during the withdrawal and picking up a wounded man under heavy fire. He also handled his men with coolness and ability throughout the day.

1/9543 A./L./Cpl. T. Connor, Conn. Rang.

For conspicuous gallantry when with a bombing party in the enemy's trenches. Though wounded himself, he continued to throw bombs until the supply ran out. He then carried a wounded man back into our own trenches.

6425 Sjt. M. J. Conroy, R.E.

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty at all times, and especially on one occasion when he helped to make a tower at night under heavy snipers' fire; also during the crossing of the river he rendered valuable assistance in superintending the removal of wounded from pontoons. He has always displayed marked coolness under fire.

19252 Pte. J. Cooper, E. Lan. R.

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty as a bomber during the operations. On all occasions he has shown great coolness and initiative.

4504 Shoeing Smith J. F. Couch, Hrs.

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty. He volunteered to go out and bring in the wounded. This he did on two occasions, carrying the men a considerable distance and being under heavy fire the whole way.

201687 Pte. R. F. Courtney, Hamps. R., (frmly. 4130).

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty. He volunteered to bring in a man who was lying wounded in the open. He succeeded in doing so under heavy fire, being assisted by another man.

10014 B./Q./M./S. H. Cox, R.F.A.

For devotion to duty and distinguished service. He has worked with great energy and ability.

29772 Sjt. W. Coyle, M.G. Corps.

For conspicuous gallantry on two occasions during the operations. When the enemy were within a hundred yards of our position, he acted as No. 1 to a gun. His target being many feet below him, he had to expose himself under heavy fire in order to lay on it. He rendered on another occasion considerable assistance in collecting and encouraging parties of our troops who were without leaders.

36102 Bombr. E. J. Craft, R.F.A.

For consistent good and gallant work as Battery Telephonist, particularly on one occasion, when he repaired his line in the open under heavy fire. He displayed the greatest coolness and courage throughout the day.

26676 L./Cpl. W. Crossley, Norf. R.

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty. At the crossing of the river he was in charge of a ferryboat, but though severely wounded, he remained at his post, thereby saving the loss of fifteen men.

32809 Gnr. T. Crossley, R.F.A.

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty as a Forward Observing Officer Telephonist. He has repeatedly repaired lines under heavy fire with total disregard of danger, and although wounded on one occasion by the fragment of a shell, he remained at his work until it was completed.

10506 Pte. A. Cunliffe, Sea. Highrs.

For marked gallantry on all occasions. He has been in every action in which the Battalion has taken part, and has repeatedly carried messages under heavy fire. By his courage and coolness he has greatly assisted the maintenance of communication between Commanding Officer and the firing line.

53804 Bombr. P. H. Dale, R.F.A.

For gallantry and devotion to duty as Forward Observation Officer Telephonist. He has on many occasions laid and repaired lines in the open under heavy fire.