

sion, during a withdrawal, he returned under heavy fire and rescued a sergeant who had been shot through the head, placing him on his own horse and bringing him out of action. He has repeatedly shown himself to be a cool and capable Troop leader.

1326 Sjt. (A./C./Q./M./S.) F. J. Humphrey, Manch. R.

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty in action. He used a Lewis gun himself with great effect, and, later, when all the Lewis guns were out of action and many of the teams had become casualties, he collected and repaired the guns and re-organised the team, getting four guns into action again.

781 Cpl. R. Hutchison, R. Highrs.

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty. Seeing a wounded Sepoy lying out in the open in "No Man's Land," some thirty yards from our front line, he climbed over the parapet and brought him in over perfectly bare ground, thus saving the man's life.

242907 L./Cpl. J. J. Jagger, E. Kent R.

For conspicuous gallantry and ability in handling his Lewis gun section throughout the operations.

89040 S./M. J. Johnson, R.F.A.

For distinguished service. He has put in most excellent work throughout the operations.

48652 Sjt. E. Jones, R.F.A.

For gallantry in action. He was in charge of No. 2 Watching Post, which was heavily shelled. He remained at his post till intersections were obtained and verified on the active gun, although four H.E. shells actually hit the post. He then ordered his detachment under cover, and throughout displayed great initiative and coolness.

6830 Sjt./Piper J. Keith, R. Highrs.

For gallant and distinguished service throughout the operations. It is greatly due to his good work and influence that the pipers have performed their duties, both in action and at all times, in a most soldierly manner.

40744 Spr. F. A. Kemp, R.E.

For marked gallantry at the forcing of the passage of the river. Although his own team had become casualties, he volunteered for further rowing. By his fine example he inspired all his men.

29475 A./S./Sjt. J. Keogh, R.E.

For distinguished service and ability as instrument repairer and as N.C.O. i./c. linesmen. He has shown untiring energy, and no task has been too difficult for him, no matter how trying the circumstances. He has shown a splendid example of devotion to duty, and his work has been of the greatest value.

141142 Gnr. C. Knaggs, R.F.A.

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty. On one occasion, when the battery was under heavy fire, he remained in an exposed position, passing on orders until wounded.

8140 L./Cpl. W. Knell, Norf. R.

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty in attending to a large number of wounded under heavy fire. He worked hard for two days in dressing wounds, and has always been one of the last to leave the vicinity of the firing line.

15484 Pte. F. Lattimore, Norf. R.

For conspicuous gallantry in action. At the forcing of the passage of the river he was the first to dash forward with the bombers, and led all the attacks with bombs. He displayed the greatest contempt for danger and a fine example of cool courage.

241496 C./S./M. H. J. Lawrence, E. Kent R.

For conspicuous and consistent gallantry displayed throughout the operations.

61596 A./Cpl. H. Leathley, M.G. Corps.

For marked gallantry in action. When his section had lost six men and an officer and had two guns buried he carried his gun up to the front line and worked it with great ability although wounded.

44270 Farr./Serjt. W. J. Lemon, R.F.A.

For gallantry and devotion to duty. He displayed great coolness at the waggon lines, and under heavy fire he attended to twelve wounded horses, assisted to get teams away, and went out to bring in a severely wounded man in the area that was being heavily shelled.

203051 Pte. J. A. MacGregor, Hamps. R. (frmly. 6439).

For marked gallantry in action. He was one of a party of twenty-five ordered to take up S.A.A., eighteen of whom, including himself, were wounded. He nevertheless carried a man 300 yards on his back to our trenches, had his own wound dressed, and then returned to his own platoon.

S/10658 Pte. W. Mahon, R. Highrs.

For conspicuous gallantry in action. He was sent to examine the enemy front line and, if possible, locate any machine guns. He located one, bombed and damaged it. He was wounded while achieving this.

6363 Pte. H. W. McGrath, Dorset. R.

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty. He was twice sent with most important messages and twice volunteered to bring up ammunition to the front line. On each occasion he had to cross ground swept by heavy fire from front and flank, and this after several men had been killed whilst crossing this ground.

4th Grade Asst. Surg. J. P. McGuire, I.S.M.D.

For marked gallantry and devotion to duty with the dressing station, especially on one occasion when he did valuable work under fire, collecting and dressing the wounded.

60492 Cpl. A. McIntosh, R.F.A.

For gallantry and devotion to duty. On one occasion he did most excellent work with the F.O.O., and, although wounded, remained at his post until relieved.
