

courage and energy in keeping his guns in action, on several occasions working through the night without a break.

9496 Cpl. T. Jones, W. Yorks. R. (Bradford).

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty. As a Lewis gunner he displayed the greatest courage and skill in moving forward and engaging hostile machine-guns, thereby helping to keep down enemy fire. He set a splendid example to all ranks.

28127 Sjt. W. Jones, M.G. Cps. (Bermondsey, London).

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty. During a severe bombardment, he remained by his gun throughout, so that it could be brought into action at any moment, although all his gun team had become casualties.

578 Sqdn. S./M. H. Jordison, Hrs. (Northampton).

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty since the commencement of the campaign. His ability, fine courage in action, and total disregard of personal danger have very beneficially influenced all ranks.

6616 C.S.M. J. Joshua, Welsh R. (Maesteg, Glam.).

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty since the commencement of the campaign, both as transport officer and company serjeant-major. He has shown himself to be a very brave man under fire and exceptionally capable, and his zeal and energy in the performance of his duties have been most marked.

7428 Sjt. J. W. Judd, Midx. R. (Kingston-on-Thames).

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty. His work at all times and his courage, coolness, and cheerfulness, have set a splendid example to the men of his platoon.

265487 C.S.M. H. Julsing, North'd Fus. (Newcastle-on-Tyne).

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty during a long period. He always showed great coolness and courage in difficult circumstances, and maintained a high standard of efficiency among his men.

13381 C.S.M. J. Kellock, H.L.I. (Glasgow).

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty. On one occasion he was completely buried by a shell. He was dug out, and, although he had three ribs broken, he refused to leave his post. His courage and example undoubtedly steadied the men who might otherwise have become demoralised.

340 Pte. (L./Cpl.) A. Kelly, Manch. R. (Manchester).

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty throughout the whole campaign as battalion headquarters runner. He has been through every engagement in which the battalion has taken part, and has carried messages under very heavy fire, with the greatest courage and determination.

28182 Pte. E. Kelly, R. Dub. Fus. (Fence-houses, Durham).

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty. He carried messages during two engagements under heavy fire, and showed splendid courage and determination.

24556 Sjt. J. Kelly, R.G.A. (Cork).

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty in the performance of arduous duties, often under heavy shell fire, and under adverse circumstances. When he was wounded he displayed great courage and self-sacrifice in attending to others who were wounded.

242264 Sjt. J. S. Kelly, Sea. Highrs. (Glasgow).

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion during a hostile attack, when he commanded a platoon with great courage and skill. He also reorganised mixed parties of other units with marked ability.

37301 Sjt. H. Kendal, R.E. (Bradford).

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion during lengthy operations. He invariably displayed the greatest coolness and courage under fire, and rendered invaluable assistance to his officers in the construction of strong points immediately behind advanced posts.

27604 Sjt. A. Kendall, R.G.A. (Brixton).

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty. He set a high standard of efficiency and discipline among his men, and always encouraged them by his magnificent example of courage and coolness under fire.

19978 B.S.M. C. A. Kendall, R.F.A. (Ilford).

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty. During the operations his resourcefulness and courage under trying and dangerous conditions contributed largely to the successful maintenance of the ammunition supply.

9541 B.S.M. J. Kennelly, R.G.A. (Edinburgh).

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty. He has rendered continuous good service and has done his work with a thoroughness and attention to detail beyond all praise. In addition to his other duties, he acted as No. 1 of a gun, and during that period made his detachment highly efficient. He has always shown the greatest coolness and contempt of danger.

35605 Sjt. H. Kent, R.G.A. (Malmesbury, Wilts.).

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty. Although his gun was put out of action on three occasions by enemy fire, he continued to fight it, setting a fine example of courage and determination to the men of his battery.

12782 Pte. A. Kerr, R. Scots. Fus. (E. Dumbarton).

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty. While in charge of the brigade headquarters transport during the past six months, he has displayed consistent gallantry in getting forward important stores