

2434 Cpl. C. E. Lowe, R.W. Surrey R. (Barkingside, E.).

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty. He showed great courage and initiative during an attack, and after the captured position was consolidated, took command of a very exposed advanced post. He greatly encouraged his men by his splendid example of coolness and contempt of danger.

G/26720 Cpl. A. G. Ludlow, R. Fus. (Tottenham).

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty as a runner during a long period. He has invariably displayed the greatest courage in action, and his energy and cheerfulness in the performance of his duties, however dangerous, have been exemplary.

24470 Bombr. W. G. Mabbutt, R.F.A. (Shipston-on-Stour).

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty whilst acting as N.C.O. in charge of headquarters communication lines. He invariably carried out his duties most efficiently, and showed great courage and coolness, often under trying circumstances.

888 A./Sjt. A. Macaulay, M.G. Coy. (Royal British Hotel, Perth).

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty. When in charge of a machine gun in a forward isolated post at a time when the hostile shell fire round his post was exceptionally severe, and when the enemy were repeatedly making night attacks, he set a splendid example to his men, and by his vigilance and resource prevented all possibility of the hostile attacks developing. He has always been conspicuous for his fearlessness and coolness under heavy fire.

617 Pte. C. E. V. Macdonald, Cav. S.R. (Fort Rose, Ross-shire).

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty. While he was lying on the ground, stunned by the fall of his horse, which had been shot under him, the enemy came up and commenced to kick him. He feigned death, was able to note the hostile positions, and crawled in after dark with very valuable information.

200036 C.S.M. (A./R.S.M.) B. Maddock, N. & Derby R. (Repton).

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty. He invariably displayed untiring energy, courage, and zeal in the performance of his duties.

200018 Sjt. A. Macdonald, Sea. Highrs. (Alness).

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty. He has rendered valuable service since the commencement of the campaign, and has always shown the greatest courage, coolness, and initiative.

129580 C.S.M. W. Mackerell, R.E. (Norwich).

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty. He did excellent work throughout gas operations, especially in the carrying of material. On all occasions when under fire he has set an excellent example of courage and devotion to duty.

29053 Sjt. W. R. MacQueen, M.G. Corps (E. London).

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty during a long period. He has always displayed absolute disregard of personal danger, and has set an excellent example to his men.

9911 Sjt. G. W. Marriott, R.F.A. (Homer-ton, N.E.).

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty while in command of his gun detachment during lengthy operations. He invariably displayed the highest coolness and courage under fire, and set a splendid example to all ranks with him.

11/785 Sjt. E. Marritt, E. Yorks. R. (Hull).

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty during an attack. He was in command of his Lewis gun section, and, by his courage and resource, he was mainly responsible for the capture of two enemy strong points and a machine gun.

4911 Sjt. H. G. Marsh, W. Kent R. (Deal).

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty during a long period. By his coolness and contempt for danger, as platoon serjeant, and acting company serjeant-major, he has never failed to inspire the men under him with complete confidence, and has set a splendid example to all ranks.

52363 A.B. Q.M.S. D. Marshall, R.F.A. (Blackpool).

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion on many occasions when assisting to carry ammunition to forward positions, generally under heavy shell, and gas shell fire. Ultimately he was wounded, but continued his work until he fell exhausted.

P/4732 Sjt. L. T. Marsom, Mil. Mtd. Police (Bedford).

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty. It was largely due to his high courage and untiring energy during operations that the traffic control in forward areas was efficiently maintained. His coolness under fire was most marked.

52947 Sjt. J. Martin, R.F.A. (Streatham Hill).

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty. Throughout lengthy operations he always displayed keenness and ability in the performance of his duties, and his coolness under fire has proved a fine incentive to the men of his detachment.

8346 C.S.M. J. Martin, Lanc. Fus. (Manchester).

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty. During the lengthy operations he displayed splendid courage, and always set a fine example to all ranks.

131424 Cpl. (A./Sjt.) T. Martin, R.E. (W. Hartlepool).

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty and consistent good work. He handled his men with great skill under heavy fire while in charge of a party constructing a track to a newly captured position. He always set a splendid example of courage and determination.