

434249 Cpl. T. C. Greenwood, M.M., Infy.

For conspicuous gallantry and ability during an attack. He led his men splendidly, and outflanked a strong enemy garrison and captured three machine guns. He took forward and used one of these guns against another enemy position, which he captured, together with ten prisoners. He displayed courage and leadership of a high order.

919393 Pte. C. H. Grogg, Infy.

Just before reaching its objective the battalion was held up by machine-gun fire. This man rushed his gun forward for over 150 yards of open ground and opened fire on the enemy. He was severely wounded, but kept on firing until a stretcher-bearer arrived and dressed his wound. While being dressed he fired several bursts, and his dashing conduct no doubt saved many lives.

174582 Sjt. C. Harley, Infy.

During an advance a trench on the right flank of the battalion offered stubborn resistance. This non-commissioned officer detached a party of twenty men and rushed the position in the face of strong opposition. After bombing the post and bayoneting many of the garrison the remainder surrendered, over 100 prisoners and four machine guns being captured.

A36221 Sjt. R. S. Harris, M.M., M.G.C.

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty during an attack. He brought his guns into action under heavy machine-gun fire and successfully dealt with the enemy machine guns. He took command of the section when his officer was wounded, and most ably controlled and guided them through heavy shell fire. His courage and ability won the confidence of all under him.

696120 Pte. R. A. Harrop, Infy.

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty during an attack. With two other men, under heavy fire, he captured an enemy machine gun and crew, which was the more difficult as the gun was firing from the apex of two belts of wire. Later, when his company was forced to fall back, he undertook to bring out his wounded platoon officer, and did so successfully at great personal risk. He behaved throughout with marked courage and determination.

648409 Pte. H. E. Heggart, M.M., Mtd. Rif

When the line was being consolidated, this man, as stretcher-bearer, although wounded, rescued two wounded machine-gunners, crossing an open space of fifty yards, swept by fire, four times. He rescued many wounded by his coolness and disregard of fire.

171786 Sjt. A. K. Hibbert, M.M., Engrs.

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty while in charge of forward signal communication for the brigade. Under extremely trying conditions he successfully maintained communication by telephone with the storming battalions. The area over which he worked was continuously shelled and swept with machine-gun fire. He showed great initiative throughout and rendered valuable service.

797119 Pte. (A./Lce.-Cpl.) W. G. Hill, Infy.

This non-commissioned officer, whilst guiding a body of scouts, encountered an enemy machine-gun post in a wood which was difficult to locate owing to mist. Placing his men under cover, he crawled forward and, capturing the look-out man, called to his comrades, who encircled and dislodged the post, capturing the gun and crew. His judgment in handling a difficult situation was most praiseworthy.

229295 Sjt. G. F. Hilliard, Infy.

For conspicuous gallantry during an attack. He led a party of men against a strong enemy post in a wood, and with one other N.C.O. and six men was responsible for the capture of twelve machine guns and two hundred prisoners. His splendid courage and initiative cleared the way for his battalion's advance, and he rendered invaluable service.

742204 C./S./M. G. G. K. Holder, M.M., Infy.

When the right flank of the company was held up by a machine-gun post this W.O. took charge of the men on the left and rushed forward with them, capturing the guns and clearing the advance. He gave his company commander great assistance in re-organising the company when the objective was reached.

745086 Cpl. (A./Sjt.) R. Hollidge, M.M., Infy.

For conspicuous gallantry during an attack. When his platoon was held up by a machine-gun post he and his officer started to rush it. His officer was killed, but he seized the gun and turned it on to the crew, killing the whole six. He then turned it on to the enemy in rear, causing them many casualties. Later, he was among the first to enter a village, and did splendid work with a Lewis gun. Throughout he showed the greatest courage and determination.

414908 Pte. C. Hopton, Infy.

For conspicuous gallantry and initiative during an attack. Single-handed he attacked and captured an enemy machine gun, killing the crew. Later, he accounted for several of the enemy. He behaved with splendid courage and determination.

223311 C./S./M. J. Hudgins, Infy.

During an advance over open flat country, under heavy machine-gun and snipers' fire,
