ALMERIC FITZROY.

War Office,
6th January 1919.

His Majesty the KING has been graciously pleased to approve of the award of the Victoria Cross to the undermentioned Officers, Non-commissioned Officers, and Men :—

Capt. (A./Lt.-Col.) Dudley Graham Johnson, D.S.O., M.C., S.W. Bord., attd. 2nd Bn., R. Suss. R.

For most conspicuous bravery and leadership during the forcing of the Sambre Canal on the 4th November 1918. The 2nd Infantry Brigade, of which the 2nd Bn., R. Suss. R., formed part, was ordered to cross by the lock South of Catillon. The position was strong, and before the bridge could be thrown a steep bank leading up to the lock and a waterway about 100 yards short of the canal had to be crossed.

The assaulting platoons and bridging parties, R.E., on their arrival at the waterway were thrown into confusion by a heavy barrage and machine-gun fire, and heavy casualties were caused.

At this moment Lt.-Col. Johnson arrived, and, realising the situation, at once collected men to man the bridges and assist the R.E., and personally led the assault.

In spite of his efforts heavy enemy fire again broke up the assaulting and bridging parties.

Without any hesitation, he again reorganised the platoons and bridging parties and led them at the lock, this time succeeding in effecting a crossing, after which all went well.

During all this time Lt.-Col. Johnson was under a very heavy fire, which, though it nearly decimated the assaulting columns, left him untouched.

His conduct was a fine example of great valour, coolness and intrepidity, which, added to his splendid leadership and the offensive spirit that he had inspired in his battalion, were entirely responsible for the successful crossing.

T./Capt. John MacGregor, M.C., D.C.M., 2nd C.M.R. Bn., 1st Central Ontario R.

For most conspicuous bravery, leadership and self-sacrificing devotion to duty near Cambrai from 29th September to 3rd October 1918.

He led his company under intense fire, and when the advance was checked by machine guns, although wounded, pushed on and located the enemy guns. He then ran forward in broad daylight, in face of heavy fire from all directions, and, with rifle and bayonet, single-handed, put the enemy crews out of action, killing four and taking eight prisoners. His prompt action saved many casualties and enabled the advance to continue.

After reorganising his command under heavy fire he rendered most useful support to neighbouring troops. When the enemy were showing stubborn resistance, he went along the line regardless of danger, organised the platoons, took command of the leading waves, and continued the advance. Later, after a personal daylight reconnaissance under heavy fire, he established his company in Neuville St. Remy, thereby greatly assisting the advance into Tilloy. Throughout the operations Capt. MacGregor displayed magnificent bravery and heroic leadership.

Lt. William Davidson Bissett, 1/6th Bn., Arg. & Suth'd Highrs. (T.F.).

For most conspicuous bravery and leadership East of Maing on the 25th October 1918, when in command of a platoon, which he led to its objective with great dash.

Later, owing to casualties, he took command of the company and handled it with great skill after a determined enemy counter-attack had turned his left flank. Realising the danger, he withdrew to the railway, thus temporarily saving the situation. The enemy, however, continued to advance in force after his men had exhausted their ammunition. Thereupon, under heavy fire, he mounted the railway embankment, and, calling upon his men to charge with the bayonet, drove back the enemy with heavy loss, and later, again charging forward, established his line.

By his splendid example and fine leadership Lt. Bissett was the means of saving a critical situation.

Lt. George Fraser Kerr, M.C., M.M., 3rd Bn., 1st Central Ontario R.

For most conspicuous bravery and leadership during the Bourlon Wood operations on 27th September 1918, when in command of the left support company in attack.

He handled his company with great skill, and gave timely support by outflanking a machine-gun which was impeding the advance.

Later, near the Arras-Cambrai road, the advance was again held up by a strong point. Lt. Kerr, far in advance of his company, rushed this strong point single-handed and captured four machine-guns and thirty-one prisoners.

His valour throughout this engagement was an inspiring example to all.

Lt. Milton Fowler Gregg, M.C., R. Can. Regt., Nova Scotia R.

For most conspicuous bravery and initiative during operations near Cambrai, 27th September to 1st October 1918.

On 28th September, when the advance of the brigade was held up by fire from both flanks and by thick, uncut wire, he crawled forward alone and explored the wire until he found a small gap, through which he subsequently led his men, and forced an entry into the enemy trench. The enemy counter-attacked in force, and, through lack of bombs, the situation became critical. Although wounded, Lt. Gregg returned alone under terrific fire and collected a further supply. Then rejoining his party, which by this time was much reduced in numbers, and, in spite of a second wound, he reorganised his men and led them with the greatest determination against the enemy trenches, which he finally cleared.

He personally killed or wounded 11 of the enemy and took 25 prisoners, in addition to 12 machine guns captured in this trench. Remaining with his company in spite of wounds, he again on the 30th September led his men in attack until severely wounded. The outstanding valour of this officer saved many casualties and enabled the advance to continue.

Lt. Samuel Lewis Honey, D.C.M., M.M., late 78th Bn., Manitoba R.

For most conspicuous bravery during the Bourlon Wood operations, 27th September to 2nd October 1918.

On 27th September, when his company commander and all other officers of his company had become casualties, Lt. Honey took command and skilfully reorganised under very severe fire. He continued the advance with great dash and gained the objective. Then finding that his company was suffering casualties from enfilade machine-gun fire he located the machine-gun nest and rushed it single-handed, capturing the guns and ten prisoners.

Subsequently he repelled four enemy counter-attacks and after dark again went out alone, and having located an enemy post, led a party which captured the post and three guns.

On the 29th September he led his company against a strong enemy position with great skill and daring and continued in the succeeding days of the battle to display the same high example of valour and self-sacrifice. He died of wounds received during the last day of the attack by his battalion.

Lt. George Morby Ingram, M.M., 24th Bn., A.I.F.

For most conspicuous bravery and initiative during the attack on Montbréhain, East of Peronne, on 5th October 1918. When early in the advance his platoon was held up by a strong point, Lt. Ingram, without hesitation, dashed out and rushed the post at the head of his men, capturing nine machine guns and killing 42 enemy after stubborn resistance.

Later, when the company had suffered severe casualties from enemy posts, and many leaders had fallen, he at once took control of the situation, rallied his men under intense fire, and led them forward. He himself rushed the first post, shot six of the enemy, and captured a machine gun, thus overcoming serious resistance.

On two subsequent occasions he again displayed great dash and resource in the capture of enemy posts, inflicting many casualties and taking 62 prisoners.

Throughout the whole day he showed the most inspiring example of courage and leadership, and freely exposed himself regardless of danger.

Lt. Joseph Maxwell, M.C., D.C.M., 18th Bn., A.I.F.

For most conspicuous bravery and leadership in attack on the Beaufort-Fonsomme line near Estrées, North of St. Quentin, on the 3rd October 1918.

His company commander was severely wounded early in the advance, and Lt. Maxwell at once took charge. The enemy wire when reached under intense fire was found to be exceptionally strong and closely supported by machine guns, whereupon Lt. Maxwell pushed forward single-handed through the wire and captured the most dangerous gun, killing three and capturing four enemy. He thus enabled his company to penetrate the wire and reach the objective. Later, he again dashed forward and silenced, single-handed, a gun which was holding up a flank company. Subsequently, when with two men only he attempted to capture a strong party of the enemy, he handled a most involved situation very skilfully, and it was due to his resource that he and his comrades escaped.

Throughout the day Lt. Maxwell set a high example of personal bravery, coupled with excellent judgment and quick decision.

2nd Lt. James Kirk, late 10th, attd. 2nd, Bn., Manchester R.

For most conspicuous bravery and devotion to duty North of Ors on 4th November 1918, whilst attempting to bridge the Oise Canal.

To cover the bridging of the canal he took a Lewis gun, and, under intense machine-gun fire, paddled across the canal on a raft, and at a range of ten yards expended all his ammunition. Further ammunition was paddled across to him and he continuously maintained covering fire for the bridging party from a most exposed position till killed at his gun.

The supreme contempt of danger and magnificent self-sacrifice displayed by this gallant officer prevented many casualties and enabled two platoons to cross the bridge before it was destroyed.

No. 295536 Sjt. Thomas Caldwell, 12th Bn., R. Sc. Fus. (Carlisle).

For most conspicuous bravery and initiative in attack near Audenarde on the 31st October 1918, when in command of a Lewis gun section engaged in clearing a farmhouse. When his section came under intense fire at close range from another farm, Sjt. Caldwell rushed towards the farm, and, in spite of very heavy fire, reached the enemy position, which he captured single-handed, together with 18 prisoners.

This gallant and determined exploit removed a serious obstacle from the line of advance, saved many casualties, and led to the capture by his section of about 70 prisoners, eight machine guns, and one trench mortar.

No. 37721 Sjt. John Clarke, 15th Bn., Lanc. Fus. (Rochdale).

For most conspicuous bravery and initiative during the attack at Happegarbe on 2nd November 1918, when in command of a platoon, he led his men forward with great determination, and, on being held up by heavy machine-gun fire, rushed forward through a thick, strongly held ridge, captured in succession four machine guns and single-handed bayoneted the crews. Later, he led the remnants of his platoon to the capture of three machine guns and many prisoners.

In the later stages of the attack on the same day, when his platoon was held up by enemy machine guns, he successfully led a Tank against them over very exposed ground.

Continuing the attack on 3rd November, after capturing many prisoners and gaining his objective, he organised his line most skilfully and held up the enemy.

On 4th November, in the attack on the Oise-Sambre Canal, under heavy fire from the Canal bank, he rushed forward with a Lewis gun team in the face of an intense barrage, brought the gun into action, effectively silenced the enemy's fire, thus enabling his company to advance and gain their objectives.

Throughout the whole of these operations Sjt. Clarke acted with magnificent bravery and total disregard of personal safety, and by his gallantry and high sense of duty set an inspiring example to all ranks.

No. 14107 Sjt. Horace Augustus Curtis, 2nd Bn., R. Dub. Fus. (Newlyn East, Cornwall).

For most conspicuous bravery and devotion to duty East of Le Cateau on the morning of the 18th October 1918, when in attack his platoon came unexpectedly under intense machine-gun fire. Realising that the attack would fail unless the enemy guns were silenced, Sjt. Curtis, without hesitation, rushed forward through our own barrage and the enemy fire, and killed and wounded the teams of two of the guns, whereupon the remaining four guns surrendered. Then, turning his attention to a train-load of reinforcements, he succeeded in capturing over 100 enemy before his comrades joined him.

His valour and disregard of danger inspired all.

No. 20695 Sjt. Frederick Charles Riggs, M.M., late 6th Bn., York & Lanc. R. (Bournemouth).

For most conspicuous bravery and self-sacrifice on the morning of the 1st October 1918, near Epinoy, when, having led his platoon through strong uncut wire under severe fire, he continued straight on, and, although losing heavily from flanking fire, succeeded in reaching his objective, where he rushed and captured a machine gun.

He later handled two captured guns with great effect, and caused the surrender of fifty enemy.

Subsequently, when the enemy again advanced in force, Sjt. Riggs cheerfully encouraged his men to resist, and whilst exhorting his men to fight on to the last, this very gallant soldier was killed.

No. 8000 Sjt. William Merrifield, 4th Bn., Central Ontario R.

For most conspicuous bravery and devotion to duty during the attack near Abancourt on the 1st October 1918. When his men were held up by an intense fire from two machine-gun emplacements, he attacked them both single-handed. Dashing from shell-hole to shell-hole he killed the occupants of the first post, and, although wounded, continued to attack the second post, and with a bomb killed the occupants. He refused to be evacuated, and led his platoon until again severely wounded.

Sjt. Merrifield has served with exceptional distinction on many former occasions, and throughout the action of the 1st October showed the highest qualities of valour and leadership.

No. 205353 Cpl. (A./Sjt.) John Brunton Daykins, 2/4th Bn., York & Lanc. R. (T.F.) (Jedburgh, Scotland).

For most conspicuous bravery and initiative at Solèsmes on 20th October 1918, when, with twelve remaining men of his platoon, he worked his way most skilfully, in face of heavy opposition, towards the church. By prompt action he enabled his party to rush a machine gun, and during subsequent severe hand-to-hand fighting he himself disposed of many of the enemy and secured his objective, his party, in addition to heavy casualties inflicted, taking thirty prisoners.

He then located another machine gun which was holding up a portion of his company. Under heavy fire he worked his way alone to the post, and shortly afterwards returned with twenty-five prisoners and an enemy machine gun, which he mounted at his post.

His magnificent fighting spirit and example inspired his men, saved many casualties, and contributed very largely to the success of the attack.

No. 241028 Pte. (L./Cpl.) William Harold Coltman, D.C.M., M.M., 1/6th Bn., N. Staffs. R. (T.F.) (Winshull, Burton-on-Trent).

For most conspicuous bravery, initiative and devotion to duty.

During the operations at Mannequin Hill, N.E. of Sequehart, on the 3rd and 4th October 1918, L./Cpl. Coltman, a stretcher-bearer, hearing that wounded had been left behind during a retirement, on his own initiative, went forward alone in the face of fierce enfilade fire, found the wounded, dressed them, and on three successive occasions carried comrades on his back to safety, thus saving their lives.

This very gallant N.C.O. tended the wounded unceasingly for forty-eight hours.

No. 213078 Spr. Adam Archibald, 218th Fd. Coy., R.E. (Leith).

For most conspicuous bravery and self-sacrifice on the 4th November 1918, near Ors, when with a party building a floating bridge across the Canal.

He was foremost in the work under a very heavy artillery barrage and machine-gun fire. The latter was directed at him from a few yards distance while he was working on the cork floats; nevertheless, he persevered in his task, and his example and efforts were such that the bridge, which was essential to the success of the operations, was very quickly completed.

The supreme devotion to duty of this gallant sapper, who collapsed from gas poisoning on completion of his work, was beyond all praise.

No. 42954 Pte. Norman Harvey, 1st Bn., R. Innis. Fus. (Newton-le-Willows).

For most conspicuous bravery and devotion to duty near Ingoyghen on the 25th October 1918, when his battalion was held up and suffered heavy casualties from enemy machine guns.

On his own initiative he rushed forward and engaged the enemy single-handed, disposing of twenty enemy and capturing two guns.

Later, when his company was checked by another enemy strong point, he again rushed forward alone and put the enemy to flight.

Subsequently, after dark, he voluntarily carried out, single-handed, an important reconnaissance and gained valuable information.

Pte. Harvey throughout the day displayed the greatest valour, and his several actions enabled the line to advance, saved many casualties, and inspired all.

No. 17324 Pte. Francis George Miles, 1/5th Bn., Glouc. R. (T.F.) (Coleford, Glos.).

For most conspicuous bravery and initiative in attack on the 23rd October 1918, during the advance against the Bois L'Evêque, when his company was held up by a line of enemy machine guns in the sunken road near the Moulin J. Jacques. Pte. Miles alone, and on his own initiative, went forward, under exceptionally heavy fire, located a machine gun, shot the gunner, and put the gun out of action. Observing another gun near by, he again advanced alone, shot the gunner, rushed the gun, and captured the team of eight. Finally, he stood up and beckoned to his company, who, acting on his signals, were enabled to work round the rear of the line and to capture sixteen machine guns, one officer, and fifty other ranks. It was due to the courage, initiative, and entire disregard of personal safety shown by this very gallant soldier that the company was enabled to advance at a time when any delay would have jeopardised seriously the whole operation.

No. 30245. Pte. James Towers, 2nd Bn., Sco. Rif. (Preston).

For most conspicuous bravery and devotion to duty at Méricourt on the 6th October 1918, when, under heavy fire, five runners having failed to deliver an important message, Pte. Towers, well aware of the fate of the runners who had already attempted the task, volunteered for the duty.

In spite of heavy fire opened on him as soon as he moved, he went straight through from cover to cover and eventually delivered the message.

His valour, determination, and utter disregard of danger were an inspiring example to all.

No. 43839 Pte. Alfred Wilkinson, 1/5th Bn., Manch. R. (T.F.) (Leigh).

For most conspicuous bravery and devotion to duty on 20th October 1918, during the attack on Marou, when four runners in succession having been killed in an endeavour to deliver a message to the supporting company, Pte. Wilkinson volunteered for the duty. He succeeded in delivering the message, though the journey involved exposure to extremely heavy machine-gun and shell fire for 600 yards. He showed magnificent courage and complete indifference to danger, thinking only of the needs of his company and entirely disregarding any consideration for personal safety.

Throughout the remainder of the day Pte. Wilkinson continued to do splendid work.

No. 310? Pte. Thomas Ricketts, 1st Bn., R. Newfoundland R.

For most conspicuous bravery and devotion to duty on the 14th October 1918, during the advance from Ledeghem, when the attack was temporarily held up by heavy hostile fire and the platoon to which he belonged suffered severe casualties from the fire of a battery at point-blank range.

Pte. Ricketts at once volunteered to go forward with his section commander and a Lewis gun to attempt to outflank the battery. Advancing by short rushes under heavy fire from enemy machine guns with the hostile battery, their ammunition was exhausted when still 300 yards from the battery. The enemy, seeing an opportunity to get their field guns away, began to bring up their gun teams. Pte. Ricketts, at once realising the situation, doubled back 100 yards under the heaviest machine-gun fire, procured further ammunition, and dashed back again to the Lewis gun, and by very accurate fire drove the enemy and the gun teams into a farm.

His platoon then advanced without casualties, and captured the four field guns, four machine guns, and eight prisoners.

A fifth field gun was subsequently intercepted by fire and captured.

By his presence of mind in anticipating the enemy intention and his utter disregard of personal safety, Pte. Ricketts secured the further supply of ammunition which directly resulted in these important captures and undoubtedly saved many lives.

TRADING WITH PALESTINE AND SYRIA.

Whereas by Proclamation, dated the 5th day of November 1914, it was declared that the Proclamation and Orders in Council then in force issued with reference to the state of war with the Emperor of Germany and the Emperor of Austria, King of Hungary, should be extended to the war with Turkey, subject to the reservations in such Proclamation:

And whereas the Proclamations so extended to the war with Turkey included the Trading with the Enemy Proclamation, No 2, dated the 9th day of September 1914, and the Proclamation relating to Trading with the Enemy, dated the 8th day of October 1914:

And whereas by Proclamation, dated the 7th day of January 1915, and the 14th day of September 1915, the provisions of the aforesaid Proclamations were extended as therein more specifically set forth:

And whereas it was declared by the said Trading with the Enemy Proclamation, No. 2, as follows:—

“Nothing in this Proclamation shall be taken to prohibit anything which shall be expressly permitted by Our licence, or by the licence given on Our behalf by a Secretary of State, or the Board of Trade, whether such licences be especially granted to individuals or be announced as applying to classes of persons.”

And whereas it is desirable to grant the licence hereinafter appearing:

Now, therefore, the Board of Trade, acting on behalf of His Majesty, and in pursuance of the powers reserved in the said Proclamations and all other powers thereunto them enabling, do hereby give and grant licence to all persons and bodies of persons resident, carrying on business, or being in the United Kingdom, to trade and have commercial and financial transactions with persons or bodies of persons resident or carrying on business in the following territories, namely, Palestine and Syria as far north as a line from Alexandretta to Aleppo inclusive and as far east as the Hejaz railway inclusive:

Provided always that any licence which may be necessary in respect of any transaction under any prohibition of export or prohibition of import for the time being in force in the United Kingdom or in respect of any remittance of money out of the United Kingdom covered by Regulation 41D of the Defence of the Realm Regulations is first obtained :

Provided also that this Licence shall not permit any person or body of persons to pay to any person or body of persons resident or carrying on business in the said territories any sum of money which by the terms of the Trading with the Enemy Amendment Acts, 1914 and 1915, or either of them, is required to be paid to the custodian appointed under the Trading with the Enemy Amendment Act, 1914, but such sum of money must be paid to the said custodian :

Provided further that this Licence shall not permit any person or body of persons to pay or deliver to any person or body of persons resident or carrying on business in the said territories any sum of money or property of which notice is required to be given to the said custodian under the said Acts or either of them.

ORDER.

IRON AND STEEL.

The Minister of Munition, in exercise of the powers conferred upon him by the Defence of the Realm Regulations and all other powers thereunto enabling him, hereby gives notice and orders as follows :—

(1) As from the date hereof until further notice the Steel Supplies (Metallurgical Coke, Iron and Steel) Permit, 1916, issued by the Minister of Munitions, dated the 1st November 1916, as varied by subsequent notices, shall take effect as if the following condition were incorporated among the conditions therein contained, namely,

On and after the seventh January 1919, until further notice, no purchase shall be made or delivery taken of Iron or Steel by any person holding at the date of such purchase any stock of Iron and Steel, or either of them, exceeding by more than 100 tons the amount of such stock held by him on the 31st October 1915, or the 31st October 1918, whichever shall be the greater amount, except under and in accordance with a special permit from the Minister of Munitions, which will only be granted on the condition of the permit holder repaying to the Minister of Munitions certain subsidies in respect of all such stock held by such permit holder on the 30th April 1919, which may be so in excess as above mentioned.

(2) All persons who shall on the 30th April 1919 hold a stock of Iron and Steel, or either of them, of 100 tons or more shall, within fourteen days after the 30th April 1919, furnish to the Controller of Iron and Steel Production, Ministry of Munitions, London, a true and complete return of the stock of Iron and Steel held by them (a) on the 31st October 1915, or the 31st October 1918, whichever shall be the greater, (b) on the 30th April 1919, on a form which may be obtained on application to the Controller at the above address.

(3) All Iron and Steel not actually incorporated in any building or structure or work in progress shall, for the purposes of this Order and the condition above mentioned, be deemed to be stock, and the Iron and Steel referred to shall not include scrap.

(4) This Order may be cited as the Steel and Iron (Purchase and Returns) Order, 1919.

NOTE.

The Steel and Iron (Purchase and Returns) Order of 7th January 1919, requiring a permit for the purchase of Iron and Steel which may be put into stock during the period of subsidies, is not intended, and will not be used by the Ministry, to control or in any way fetter the freedom of the market in Iron and Steel products. All persons applying to the Controller of Iron and Steel Production at the Ministry of Munitions will automatically be granted a permit, subject only to acceptance of the condition that they will pay the Ministry a rebate of subsidies in the event of stocks being accumulated on May 1st in excess of the amount defined in the Order. It is suggested that all persons whose stocks are likely, during this period, to exceed 100 tons should at once, and without regard to their immediate operations, apply to the Ministry and have their names included on the list of those licensed to deal during the subsidy period, without restriction.

(3) This Order may be cited as the Ball-Bearings (Suspension) Order, 1919.

Admiralty, 7th January 1919.

The KING has been graciously pleased to approve of the award of the Albert Medal for gallantry in saving life at sea to Actg. Lieut. Harry Melville Arbuthnot Day, R.M.L.I.

The account of the services in respect of which the decoration has been awarded is as follows :—

On the 9th November 1918, H.M.S. "Britannia" was torpedoed by an enemy submarine. The explosion of the torpedo was followed by another and more violent explosion of ammunition, and fires were started, resulting in the spread of smoke and fumes. Shortly after the explosion Lieutenant Day went down to the ward-room to search for wounded. He heard groaning forward of the ward-room, but found that the heavy wooden door leading forward had jammed and was immovable. He then burst upon the trap hatch to the ward-room pantry and climbed through it. He discovered Engineer Lieutenant Stanley F. Weir, R.N., and a ward-room steward alive and conscious, but unable to move. Fearing that he would hurt them if he endeavoured to drag them through the trap hatch single-handed, he climbed back into the ward-room aft and up on to the quarterdeck and procured two or three stokers, with whom he returned to the ward-room, and eventually carried the dying officer and man on deck and to the fore-castle. During this first visit to the ward-room, Lieutenant Day was alone, in the dark, the ship with a list, and fire close to the 12" magazine. Whilst carrying out this rescue work he inspected all scuttles and deadlights in the ward-room (and cabins before it) and ascertained that all were properly closed before leaving. The cordite fumes were very strong, and his life was in danger throughout. His courage and resource were beyond praise.
