(a) All processes and operations in the making from any material other than precious metals and precious stones of buttons, button-moulds, metal fancy buttons, button-headed studs, upholsterers' buttons or upholsterers' button-headed nails (excluding in all cases, except as hereinafter provided, the making of the shanks), or in the covering of button-moulds.

(b) All processes and operations in the making of the following articles when done in association with or in conjunction with the work specified in sub-paragraph (a) above

- (i) shanks;
- (ii) studs, links or parts thereof from any material other than metal;

(c) (i) the carding wherever carried on of any of the articles specified in sub-paragraph (a) above;

(d) The manufacture of metal small-wares as specified in paragraphs (1) to (6) of the Appendix to the Trade Boards (Stamped or Pressed Metal-Wares) Order, 1924, when carried on in an establishment mainly engaged in any of the processes of operations mentioned above.

(e) All processes and operations in the (i) assembling or (ii) finishing of articles specified above when done in association with or in conjunction with any of the above-mentioned processes or operations.

(a) The manufacture of wooden button-moulds where not carried on in association with or in conjunction with button-making;

(b) The making of buttons or the covering of button-moulds in an establishment in which (i) such work is performed in association with or in conjunction with the making of wearing apparel and (ii) the majority of the buttons made or of the button-moulds covered are for use on such wearing apparel.

(c) The making of buttons or the covering of button-moulds when done in association with or in conjunction with the manufacture of embroidery and trimmings, unless such making of buttons or covering of button-moulds is done (i) by machine process and (ii) in a separate department by workers exclusively engaged thereon.

(d) The processes or operations specified in paragraph 1 above when performed in an establishment mainly engaged in the manufacture of articles of real or imitation jewellery except when performed by a worker who during the whole time that he works in any week in such establishment is wholly or mainly employed on such processes or operations.

(e) Any work which by paragraph 7 of the Appendix to the Trade Boards (Stamped or Pressed Metal-Wares) Order, 1924, is included in the Stamped or Pressed Metal-Wares Trade.

DRAFT INSTRUCTIONAL CIRCULAR TRADE BOARDS (BUTTON MANUFACTURING) ORDER, 1925.

1. It has been represented to the Minister of Labour that it might prove of assistance to employers and workers and others concerned in the application of the Trade Boards Acts, 1909–1918, if, in suitable cases, when he makes an Order applying the Acts to a trade for the first time or when he makes an Order varying the existing description of a trade contained in an Order made under the said Acts, some information was given by a departmental Instructional Circular as to his understanding of the scope of the Order.

2. An authoritative interpretation of the Trade Boards Acts and/or of Orders made thereunder can only be given by the Courts of Law and on the understanding that any views which he may express provisionally as to the inclusion within, or exclusion from the scope of the Acts and/or Orders made thereunder of any trade, process, operation, articles or of any class of worker are given on the information at the time in his possession and are subject to revision in the light of further information, the Minister makes the observations which follow in paragraph 3 et seq. below for the guidance of all concerned in the application of the Trade Boards (Button Manufacturing) Order, dated 1925.

3. The Button Making trade was first defined for the purposes of the Trade Boards Acts in the Appendix to the Minister's Special Order dated 20th October 1919.

Following upon the revision of the definition of the Stamped or Pressed Metal Wares trade, it was found necessary to make a slight consequential amendment in the definition of the Button Making trade, the object of this amendment and of the revised Stamped or Pressed Metal Wares definition being to avoid the original position whereby certain establishments manufacturing both buttons and other stamped or pressed articles might be affected by the Orders of both Boards. This amendment was effected by the Minister's Special Order dated 6th August 1924, and the position now is that the Board under which such establishments fall is henceforward determined according as they are mainly engaged in one or the other trade.

4. By the Minister's third Order dated

1925, the definition contained in the previous Order is varied by the substitution therefor of the description set out in the Appendix. Generally, the effect of the new definition is to remove doubts which have arisen in the past with respect to the position under the Trade Boards Acts of workers engaged in the manufacture of articles or employed on processes or operations which were not expressly enumerated in the old Orders, and to draw a clearer line of demarcation between the scope of the Button Manufacturing and of overlapping trades. It does not bring within the scope of the Acts any considerable body of workers which was clearly not previously covered by the Order.

5. The general plan of the Order is as follows:—The paragraph 1 (a) brings under the scope of the Board the processes of operations which are normally regarded as constituting button-making. Paragraph 1 (b) brings within the Board's scope the making of shanks for buttons and of studs, links or parts thereof from any material other than metal when carried on in association with or in conjunction with the manufacture of buttons, and also the making of non-metal clasps, slides, &c., for use on wearing apparel when made in a branch or department making or carding the buttons and other articles specified in paragraph 1 (a). By the paragraphs 1 (c), 1 (e) and 1 (f) are included processes or operations subsequent to the actual forming of the button, such as assembling, finishing, carding, warehousing, packing, &c. Paragraph 1 (d) determines the position when buttons and other stamped or pressed articles ("metal small-wares") not otherwise under the Button Manufacturing Board are made in the same establishment. The paragraph 2 relates to operations and processes which, for the purposes of the present Order, are not regarded as forming a part of the Button Manufacturing trade. It will be seen that in the circumstances described in sub-paragraphs (a) to (c), the manufacture of wooden button-moulds and the manufacture of buttons, and the covering of moulds when carried on in association with or in conjunction with other trades are excluded from the scope of the Board, as is also, under sub-paragraphs (d) and (e), the manufacture of buttons, &c., when carried on in an establishment mainly engaged in the manufacture of articles known in the trade as real or imitation jewellery (unless in this case the work is done by a worker mainly so employed in any week), or in an establishment mainly engaged in the manufacture of the metal small-wares which are within the scope of the Stamped or Pressed Metal-Wares Order, 1924.

6. The following illustrations, which must not be taken as exhaustive, are given of the terms employed in the Minister's Order:—

(a) In paragraph 1 (a) of the definition, which enumerates the normal products of the trade, no specification is given of either materials or processes, as it is felt that a detailed enumeration is undesirable in a trade which is liable to frequent innovations in regard to materials and processes.

Similarly, in the sub-paragraphs of the definition relating to assembling or finishing (para. 1 (e)) and warehousing, packing, &c. (para. 1 (f)), no detailed enumeration is attempted. The Minister understands, however, that the following are the principal operations (in alphabetical order) incidental to the button manufacturing trade:—

Annealing, backing, barrelling, beading, blanking, bleaching, boring, bottoming, boxing, brazing, bronzing, buffing, burnishing, carding, carrying, clipping, closing, colouring, counter sinking, counting, covering moulds, crocheting, cutting, dipping, despatching, drilling, dyeing, enamelling, fancying, filling moulds, grinding, hardening, inlaying, inspecting, japanning, labelling, lacquering, lining, nickelling, packeting, packing, painting, piercing, plaiting or tying, planishing, plating, polishing, portering (indocr), pressing, rivetting, sawing, scouring, sewing, shanking, shearing, soldering, sorting, spinning, staining, stamping, sticking, storekeeping, stringing, testing, turning, trimming, undercutting, varnishing, viewing, warehousing, weighing.

All of these processes, whether carried on by hand or by machinery, are intended to be comprised in the definition but any other operations would also be covered, provided that they could be considered to be operations in the manufacture of the buttons and other articles enumerated in paragraph 1.

(b) Para. 1 (b) of the definition.—Shanks, studs, links or parts thereof, clasps, slides, ornaments, &c. The object of this paragraph is to facilitate the administration of the Order by including within the scope of the button manufacturing trade certain processes and operations which have been found in practice to be commonly carried on in association with the main operations of that trade. It is now provided that where the processes and operations in question are carried on in association with or in conjunction with the manufacture of buttons, the provisions of the present Order shall apply to such work. In the case of non-metal clasps, &c., for use on wearing apparel, having regard to the circumstances of their manufacture, it is provided that such work would only be within the scope of the Order where carried on in a branch or department making or carding the buttons and other articles mentioned in paragraph 1 (a). The term "wearing apparel" means in this connection all articles of clothing, including headgear and footgear.

(c) Para. 1 (e) of the definition (Assembling or finishing processes or operations). (See note under (a)).

(d) Para. 1 (c) of the definition (Carding operations). This paragraph refers to two types of carding. First, the carding of the normal products of button manufacturing establishments, and second, the carding of other articles made in such establishments. The Order includes within its scope:—

(1) The carding, wherever carried on, of the normal products of the trade, that is, the buttons and other articles enumerated in para. 1 (a) of the definition. The carding in Great Britain of buttons imported from abroad would thus be included.

(2) The carding of shanks, studs, links or parts thereof, clasps, slides, &c., that is the carding of the articles enumerated in para. 1 (b) of the definition, when they have been manufactured in association with or in conjunction with buttons or other articles forming the normal product of the trade. * Thus, the carding of studs, clasps, &c., when done by outworkers engaged in carding these articles as well as buttons is brought within the scope of the Order. By way of exception to this general rule, it is further provided that, although the studs, clasps, &c., may have been made in button manufacturing establishments, the carding of these articles is not to be regarded as work within scope if carried on apart from such manufacture and apart from the carding of the normal products of the trade. If, therefore, an establishment were engaged in carding studs which had been imported from abroad and studs which had been made in button manufacturing establishments, none of the carding operations would be within the scope of the Order. If, however, the studs were carded with buttons, wherever the latter had been made, all the carding would be within scope.

(e) Paragraph 1 (f) (Warehousing, packing and despatching. (See note under (a)).

(f) Paragraphs 1 (d) and 2 (e).—The aim of these two paragraphs is to avoid the inconvenience which might be caused by the operation of both the Button Making Trade Board and the Stamped or Pressed Metal Wares Trade Board in the same establishment. The work of any such establishment is now placed either under the Button Making Board or the Stamped or Pressed Metal Wares Board according to which type of work constitutes the main business of the firm.

(g) Paragraph 2 (a) of the definition.—The object of this paragraph is to exclude the manufacture of wooden button moulds, e.g., by wood turning firms who manufacture no buttons. It will be noted that the manufacture of other button moulds is included within the scope of the Board under paragraph 1 (a).

(h) Paragraph 2 (b) of the definition.—Agreement has been reached between the Button Making Trade Board and the various clothing Trade Boards that the most satisfactory way of dealing with workers employed in clothing firms on the making of buttons or covering of button moulds is to place such workers under either the Button Making Trade Board or the Clothing Trade Board concerned, according as the majority of the buttons they make are for sale as buttons or are for use on the clothing manufactured by the firm in question. This agreement has been carried out in the definition.

(i) Paragraph 2 (c) of the definition.—It has been ascertained that a very small amount of button making, principally by hand processes, may be done by workers who are mainly employed in the making of embroidery or trimmings. This work is excluded from the scope of the Order. On the other hand, if any workers in a firm making embroidery or trimmings are exclusively employed in a separate department on making buttons by machine processes, they are within the scope of the Button Making Board.

(j) Paragraph 2 (d) of the definition.—The object of this paragraph is to exclude the manufacture of buttons in jewellery establishments, unless they are made by a worker who is wholly or mainly engaged on the making of buttons throughout a working week. In that event, the work done by the worker for each such week is within the scope of the Order.
