COAL MINES ACT, 1911.

The Secretary for Mines gives notice that on the 8th day of August 1938 the Board of Trade made General Regulations under Section 86 of the Coal Mines Act, 1911, introducing new requirements regarding (a) provision for fire-fighting, (b) inspections by firemen, examiners, and deputies, and (c) telephones and electric signalling apparatus.

Part I. of the Regulations contains basic requirements of general application in regard to the provision of material and equipment for fighting fires underground, and to the organisation of fire-fighting work.

Part II. contains provisions relating to safety lamps to be used by deputies for the purpose of their statutory inspections, and to the recording of all findings of gas by deputies in the statutory report book.

Part III. introduces new requirements in regard to the use of telephones and electric signalling apparatus, by which all such apparatus (other than shaft signalling apparatus) throughout a seam in which safety lamps are required to be used, must be of types approved by the Board of Trade.

The Regulations, which may be cited as the Coal Mines General Regulations, 1938, come into force on the 1st day of March 1939. Copies of the Regulations may be purchased (price 1d. net) through any bookseller or directly from H.M. Stationery Office.
