The Secretary of State for Scotland, in exercise of his powers under the Destructive Insects and Pests Acts, 1877 to 1927, has made the Blackcurrant Reversion (Scotland) Order, 1952, which comes into operation on 1st March 1952.

The Order makes provision for the examination of blackcurrant plants suspected of being affected with reversion, and gives power to the Secretary of State to order the destruction of any plants found to be so affected. Such action will be taken if it appears from a complaint made by a person who is the occupier of land on which blackcurrant plants are growing that any blackcurrant plants growing on any land in the vicinity of the land occupied by the person making the complaint is so affected with blackcurrant reversion that other blackcurrant plants may also become so affected.

Copies of the Order (S.I. 1952, No. 225 (S. 11)) may be obtained from H.M. Stationery Office, 13A Castle Street, Edinburgh, 2, or through any bookseller, price 2d. net.
