EXTRACT FROM A TREASURY CIRCULAR

Treasury Chambers,
Great George Street, London, S.W.1.
9th January, 1958.

Sir,

CROWN COPYRIGHT

1. I am directed by the Lords Commissioners of Her Majesty's Treasury to refer to the Copyright Act, 1956, which came into effect on 1st June, 1957, and which replaces the Copyright Act, 1911 (with the exception of certain provisions not directly relating to copyright). The new Act re-enacts in substance the provisions of the 1911 Act relating to Crown copyright and, in addition, contains certain new provisions relating to sound recordings and cinematograph films made by or under the direction or control of Her Majesty or of a Government Department. It also makes changes in the law relating to privately-owned copyright. Section 39 of the Copyright Act, 1956, deals with Crown copyright and replaces section 18 of the Copyright Act, 1911.

2. The practice to be followed with regard to Crown copyright was defined, following the Copyright Act, 1911, in a Treasury Minute dated 28th June, 1912. Although the Copyright Act, 1956, does not generally alter the position of Crown copyright, the increase in the volume and scope of official publications since 1912 and the development of new methods of reproduction make a restatement of policy on this subject desirable.

3. Crown copyright is vested by Royal letters patent in the Controller of Her Majesty's Stationery Office and permission to reproduce from official material, published or unpublished, may be given only by him, or by Departments to whom delegated authority to deal with particular classes of applications has been given. Authority to permit reproduction from official films and certain photographs has been delegated by the Controller to the Central Office of Information. All applications for permission to reproduce official material not covered by a specific delegated authority should be referred to the Controller, who will normally consult the Department of origin of the material before authorising its use.

4. For copyright purposes, Government publications may be divided into the following classes:—

(1) Bills and Acts of Parliament, Statutory Rules and Orders and Statutory Instruments.

(2) Other Parliamentary papers, including Reports of Select Committees of both Houses and Papers laid before Parliament by Statute and by Command.

(3) The Official Report of the House of Lords and House of Commons Debates (Hansard).

(4) Non-Parliamentary publications, comprising all papers of Government Departments not contained in the first three classes.

(5) Charts and Ordnance Maps.

5. It is in the public interest that the information contained in publications falling in the first three classes should be diffused as widely as possible. For these publications no steps will normally be taken to enforce the rights of the Crown in respect of copyright. The rights of the Crown will not, however, lapse and should exceptional circumstances appear to justify such a course, it will be possible to assert them. Copies of Acts of Parliament, Statutory Rules and Orders and Statutory Instruments, other than those reproduced by the authority of the Stationery Office, must not purport on the face of them to be published by Authority. Applicants desiring to make reproductions from House of Lords or House of Commons Debates should be warned that any person or body publishing unofficial reports of proceedings in Parliament, even though they are verbatim reports of speeches as reported in the Official Report, may not enjoy as extensive privilege, in proceedings for defamation, as the full Official Report would enjoy. Reproductions from Hansard in connection with advertising are not permitted.

6. The fourth class comprises a wide range of Government publications, including many which explain the operation of Acts of Parliament, or make available the results of research, and other activities of departments. It is desirable that this information should be widely known; official publication is the usual channel for this purpose and, subject to the exercise of the discretions described in the next paragraph, My Lords see no reason why free reproduction should be allowed of this kind of material for commercial purposes. The exercise of Crown copyright is also necessary to protect official material from misuse by unfair or misleading selection, indignified associations, or undesirable use for advertising purposes. The rights of the Crown will therefore normally be enforced for publications in this class, which will bear an indication that Crown copyright is reserved. Acknowledgement of source and of the permission of the Controller of Her Majesty's Stationery Office should be required, and suitable fees imposed for reproduction. In assessing fees the Controller will give consideration to the value of the material to the applicant, and the extent to which private reproduction will affect the revenue from sales of the official publication, subject always to his discretion to waive or reduce fees in appropriate circumstances.

7. The Controller will waive or reduce fees in respect of applications for reproduction for profession, technical or scientific purposes where profit is not a primary purpose of reproduction, and consideration of reduction or remission of fees will also be given to reproductions in works of scholarship, in the journals of learned societies and similar non-profit-making bodies, for educational purposes and in other cases where the need for the fullest dissemination of official information is paramount and the commercial or other aspects are relatively unimportant.

8. The above considerations apply to the material in the fifth class. The routine administration of Crown copyright relating to charts and ordnance maps is subject in practice to appropriate arrangements for delegation between the Controller of Her Majesty's Stationery Office and the Admiralty and Ordnance Survey departments.

Your obedient Servant,

A. JOHNSTON.

The Civil Service Commissioners hereby give notice that the following Regulations are published with the approval of the Lords Commissioners of H.M. Treasury, viz.:—

REGULATIONS FOR THE RECRUITMENT OF VETERINARY OFFICERS, RESEARCH OFFICERS AND ASSISTANT VETERINARY INVESTIGATION OFFICERS IN THE MINISTRY OF AGRICULTURE, FISHERIES AND FOOD.

1. Both men and women may compete.

2. Age.
Candidates must have been born on or before 1st March, 1935. There is no upper age limit, but in appointing persons in a permanent capacity Departments expect regular and effective service for a reasonable period, and the Commissioners will take this requirement into account.

3. Nationality.
To be eligible for appointment a candidate must be a British subject, a British protected person or a citizen of the Irish Republic and in addition satisfy one of the following conditions:—

(a) if he was a British subject, a British protected person or a citizen of the Irish Republic at birth:—

(i) at least one of his parents must be, or have been at death, a British subject, a British protected person or a citizen of the Irish Republic, or

(ii) the candidate must have resided in a country or territory within the Commonwealth or in the Irish Republic or been employed elsewhere in the service of the Crown or partly have so resided and partly been so employed for at least five years out of the last eight years preceding the date of his appointment:

(b) if he was not a British subject, a British protected person or a citizen of the Irish Republic at birth, he must have resided in a country or territory within the Commonwealth or in the Irish Republic or been employed elsewhere in the service of the Crown or partly have so resided and partly been so employed for at least five years out of the last eight years preceding the date of his appointment:

(c) if not qualified under sub-paragraph (a) or sub-paragraph (b) of this paragraph, he must satisfy the Commissioners that he is so closely connected with a country or territory within the Commonwealth either by ancestry, upbringing or residence, or by reason of national service, that an exception may properly be made in his favour.

4. Qualifications and Experience.
(a) Candidates for appointment as Veterinary Officer must be members of the Royal College of Veterinary Surgeons and have had at least one year's practical experience in some recognised branch of the veterinary profession after graduation.

(b) Candidates for appointment as Research Officer should normally be Members of the Royal College of Veterinary Surgeons but in exceptional cases this qualification may be dispensed with for certain posts which have special requirements provided that the candidate has other particularly suitable qualifications. Candidates for appointment as Assistant Veterinary Investigation Officer must be members of the Royal College of Veterinary Surgeons. For both grades preference will be given to those candidates who have had post-graduate experience in laboratory research work or in some other recognised branch of the veterinary profession.

5. Competition.
The Commissioners will invite to an interview the candidates who appear to have the best qualifications and experience. The Selection Board will recommend to the Commissioners those candidates who appear to be most suitable for appointment.

6. Health and Character.
Successful candidates must satisfy the Commissioners as to their health and character.

7. Candidates Trained as Teachers.
Candidates who have been trained as teachers in Northern Ireland or in the Irish Republic, and upon whose training public money has been spent, cannot be appointed until the consent of the appropriate education authority has been notified to the Commissioners.

8. Refund of Marriage Gratuity.
Married women who have formerly been established civil servants and have drawn marriage gratuity (other than those who resigned compulsorily on marriage and whose resignation took effect before 15th October, 1946, or who are widowed or divorced, or who are separated from their husbands, or whose husbands suffer without hope of recovery from total physical or mental incapacity) will not be eligible unless they undertake to refund on appointment the marriage gratuity paid. Provided that this undertaking will not be required if the break between the first period of service (including any period of unestablished service immediately following the period in respect of which the gratuity was paid) and the date of re-establishment is more than seven years.

9. Canvassing.
Any attempt on the part of candidates to enlist support for their applications through Members of Parliament or other influential persons, except as referees to be named by them in their application forms, will disqualify them for appointment.

10. Fee.
Every successful candidate will be required to pay a fee of £4 before the issue of a certificate of qualification for appointment.

11. The Commissioners' decision will be final in all matters concerning this competition.
