HOLYROOD HOUSE—August 15, 1822.

This day, the Right Honourable the Lord Provost, Magistrates, and Town-Council of the City of Edinburgh waited upon his Majesty with the following Address, which was read by Charles Cunningham, Esq. the Senior City-Clerk.

To the King's Most Excellent Majesty,
The Loyal Address of the Lord Provost, Magistrates, and Town-Council of the City of Edinburgh, in Council assembled.

May it please your Majesty,

We, your Majesty's most dutiful and devoted subjects, the Lord Provost, Magistrates, and Town-Council of Edinburgh, with the deepest sentiments of attachment to your Sacred Person and Government, beg to approach your Majesty's presence, in order to tender our dutiful congratulations on your arrival in the Palace of your Royal Ancestors.

It is with feelings of the most solemn kind, mingled with joy and with wonder, that we perform a duty of this high nature to the Monarch of Great Britain, in halls which have witnessed in former times so many vicissitudes of Royalty, and which have been silent and unoccupied for such a length of years. More than two centuries have elapsed since your Majesty's Palace of Holyrood ceased to be the principal residence of Royalty, and more than one since Edinburgh resigned the dignity of an independent Metropolis. These sacrifices, although important to the consolidation of the empire at large, had their temporary inconveniences and disadvantages, which, thanks be to God, and to the paternal government of your Majesty and your Royal Ancestors, are known to the present inhabitants of Edinburgh only by tradition.

We are proud to say, that while necessarily deprived of our Sovereign's presence, the Citizens of Edinburgh have never forgotten their ancient ties of intimate communication betwixt your Majesty's Royal Ancestors and the former Inhabitants of this City. They have thought it their duty to press near the Throne, whenever an expression of their feelings would be becoming or proper: They have rejoiced when your Majesty and your Fathers have rejoiced; and they have sorrowed with your Majesty in those sorrows from which none are exempted. In the hour of need, their population and their property were placed with ready hands and devoted hearts at your Majesty's disposal; and if, amidst the wonderful vicissitudes of a late eventful period, a Royal Visit to Scotland had been dictated by a desire to call forth to the uttermost the resources of the Country, under these circumstances, your Majesty would have experienced as heartfelt a Welcome from Scotland and its Capital, as even now, when your arrival is that of a Monarch, prosperous and triumphant beyond the example of British record, in peaceful progress through a flourishing Empire.

We will not enlarge on the sense we have of the personal fatigue and inconvenience to which your Majesty must needs have been subjected, in the voyage undertaken to do your Ancient Kingdom this distinguished honour. Still less will we apologize for what may have been imperfect in your Majesty's reception, from want of time, of means, or of the experience necessary on such occasions.

If our preparations could have been made, in any degree, to correspond with the joyful and dutiful feelings by which they have been dictated, never Sovereign's entrance into his Ancient Capital would have been more distinguished than that of George the Fourth into the Metropolis of Scotland.

Signed in name and by appointment of the Magistrates and Council, in Council assembled, and the City Seal affixed hereto.

WILLIAM ARBUTHNOT,
Lord Provost.

To which Address his Majesty was pleased to return the following most gracious Answer.—

"It is with peculiar and cordial satisfaction that I visit this part of my dominions.

"I am happy to have an opportunity of expressing in person my deep sense of the zealous and uniform support which I received from my Scottish subjects in the prosecution of that arduous contest, to the glorious termination of which their patriotism and valour so eminently contributed.

"The feelings which they have this day manifested towards me, and which have made an indelible impression on my heart, fully justify that unbounded confidence which I have ever reposed in their affectionate attachment and loyalty.

"I return you my warmest thanks for the congratulations you have offered me on this happy occasion; and I promise to my ancient and faithful City of Edinburgh my continued favour and protection."

WESTMINSTER—August 5, 1822.

THIS day, the Lords being met, a message was sent to the Honourable House of Commons by the Gentleman Usher of the Black Rod, acquainting them, that The Lords, authorized by virtue of a Commission under the Great Seal, signed by his Majesty, for declaring his Royal Assent to several Acts agreed upon by both Houses, do desire the immediate attendance of the Honourable House in the House of Peers to hear the Commission read; and the Commons being come thither, the said Commission, empowering the Lord Archbishop of Canterbury, the Lord High Chancellor of Great Britain, and several other Lords therein named, to declare and notify the Royal Assent to the said acts, was read accordingly, and the Royal Assent given to

An act for raising the sum of sixteen millions five hundred thousand pounds by Exchequer Bills for the service of the year 1822.

An act to amend an act, passed in the fiftieth year of his late Majesty, for directing that accounts of increase and diminution of public salaries, pensions, and allowances, shall be annually laid before Parliament, and for regulating and controlling the granting and paying such salaries, pensions and allowances.

An act to defray the charge of the pay, clothing, and contingent expences of the disembodied militia in Great Britain, and to grant allowances in certain cases to subaltern officers, adjutants, quartermasters, surgeons, surgeons-mates, and serjeant-majors of militia, until the 25th day of March 1823.

An act to amend the laws for the prevention of smuggling.

An act to allow, until the 1st day of August 1823, a drawback of the whole of the duties of customs on brimstone used and consumed in the making and preparing oil of vitriol or sulphuric acid.

An act to continue, until the 31st day of December 1824, the bounty to vessels employed in the Greenland Seas and Davy's Streights, and to authorize his Majesty to alter the times for the sailing of the said vessels, and any of the limitations contained in the acts for allowing the said bounty.

An act to continue for one year so much of an act of the last Session of Parliament as increases the duties payable on sugar imported from the East Indies.

An act for granting rates of postage for the conveyance of letters and packets between the port of Liverpool, in the county of Lancaster, and the Isle of Man.

An act to regulate the trade of the provinces of Lower and Uper Canada, and for other purposes relating to the said provinces.

An act for vesting all estates and property, occupied for the barrack service in any part of the United Kingdom, in the Principal Officers of his Majesty's Ordinance, and for granting certain powers to the said Principal Officers in relation thereto.

An act to allow, until the 10th day of November 1824, the exportation of spirits, distilled from corn, for home consumption in Scotland, to parts beyond seas, without payment of the duty of excise chargeable thereon.

An act to provide for the more effectual punishment of certain offences, by imprisonment with hard labour.

An act to defray, until the 25th day of June 1823, the charge of the pay and clothing of the militia of Ireland, and for making allowances to officers and quartermasters of the said militia during peace.

An act to authorize the further advance of money, out of the Consolidated Fund, for the completion of works of a public nature, and for the encouragement of the fisheries in Ireland.

An act to amend an act made in this present Session of Parliament, for amending an act, made in the first year of his present Majesty's reign, for the assistance of trade and manufactures in Ireland, by authorizing the advance of certain sums for the support of commercial credit there.

An act for the appointment of constables, and to secure the effectual performance of the duties of their office, and for the appointment of magistrates in Ireland in certain cases.

An act to regulate the qualification of persons holding the office of Coroner in Ireland.

An act for the more convenient and effectual registering in Ireland deeds executed in Great Britain.

An act for the better regulation of the fund called the Orphans Fund.
