PUBLISHED BY AUTHORITY.

FROM FRIDAY, AUGUST 16, TO TUESDAY, AUGUST 20, 1822.

At the Court at Holyrood House, the 17th August 1822,

PRESENT,

The KING's Most Excellent Majesty in Council.

This day, the Right Honourable Charles Hope, Lord President of the Court of Session, was, by his Majesty's command, sworn of his Majesty's Most Honourable Privy Council, and took his place at the Board accordingly.

HOLYROOD HOUSE, — August 19, 1822.

The following Address of the Commission of the General Assembly of the Church of Scotland has been presented to his Majesty on the Throne.

Most Gracious Sovereign,

WE, the Ministers and Elders of the Church of Scotland, met as a Commission of the General Assembly, and the representative body of the whole Church, beg leave, with profound respect, to approach your Majesty's Throne, and to present to your Majesty the strongest and most solemn assurances of our veneration, affection, and loyalty.

We most sincerely and most joyfully congratulate your Majesty on your safe arrival in Scotland; and we congratulate Scotland on that most auspicious event: An event in which we feel the highest exultation, and from which we anticipate the happiest consequences.

To this day, your Majesty's subjects in Scotland have looked forward with joyful expectation: And to this day they will look back as a day of glory to their native land.

At the annual meetings of our national Church, we have esteemed it a high honour to behold your Majesty's representative; and through him to receive your Majesty's most gracious assurances of maintaining inviolate our rights and privileges as by law established: But we cannot express what we feel, when, within the precincts of your ancient kingdom of Scotland, we behold your Majesty in person: A king distinguished by every splendid endowment, and graced by every elegant accomplishment,—at once the safeguard of our country, and the bulwark of our Church.

From the first moment that your Majesty undertook the charge of public affairs, the providence of God has beamed upon you with a bright effulgence. By the wisdom of your Majesty's counsels, and the vigour of your arms, your Majesty was enabled, by the blessing of Almighty God, to frustrate the formidable attempts of a gigantic power, which, grasping at universal empire, threatened to destroy the independence of Europe: And that same Providence, we trust, will still continue to encompass your Majesty as with a shield, and over all your glory to create a defence.

As a portion of your Majesty's subjects, we express our warmest gratitude for the honour your Majesty has done to our country, by most graciously condescending to visit it. And we trust, that when your Majesty returns from your Scottish dominions, you will be able to say, that in this part of the united kingdom you have seen a people who love their God, their country, and their King.

As the constituted representatives of the Church of Scotland, we present to your Majesty our heartfelt thanks for the many signal favours which your Majesty has been pleased to confer upon us: And, as the best return which we can make for your Majesty's goodness, we beg leave to assure your Majesty, that it shall be our study, in our respective districts, to discharge with fidelity and zeal the duties committed to our trust; and to encourage loyalty and submission to the laws, as equally indispensable to both public and private prosperity.

We will labour to impress upon the people committed to our care a high sense of the invaluable blessings of our glorious and happy constitution. We will teach them to fear God, to honour their King, and to connect the principles of religion with a dutiful obedience to the laws of their country.

That your Majesty may long sway the regal sceptre over a great, a free, a loyal, a happy, and an united people: That your Majesty may long enjoy the blessings of health, and every comfort which this world can afford: And that at length your Majesty may inherit a kingdom which cannot be moved, and a crown of glory which fadeth not away, are our most sincere and fervent prayers.

Signed in our name, in our presence, and at our appointment, the Seal of the Church of Scotland being affixed thereto, by DAVID LAMONT, Moderator.

Edinburgh, 19th August 1822.

To which address his Majesty was pleased to return the following most gracious Answer.—

“ I thank you for these expressions of fidelity and attachment, in the sincerity of which I place implicit confidence.

“ It is with the utmost satisfaction that I avail myself of this opportunity of confirming in person the assurances I have given through my Representative, that I will maintain inviolate those rights and privileges to which the Church of Scotland is entitled by the most solemn compacts.

“ In your continued exertions to promote true religion, and to inculcate loyalty and obedience to the laws, you may rely on my constant support and protection.

“ I cordially unite with you in grateful acknowledgments to Almighty God for his signal protection of my people in the time of general peril and calamity, and in an earnest prayer, that through his divine assistance I may be enabled to protect their liberties, and to advance their prosperity and happiness.”

HOLYROOD HOUSE, — August 19, 1822.

The following Addresses from the University of St. Andrews, the University of Glasgow, the University and King's College of Aberdeen, the University of Edinburgh, and the Marischal College and University of Aberdeen, have been presented to his Majesty on the Throne.

May it please your Majesty,

We, your Majesty's most dutiful and loyal subjects, the Chancellor, Rector, Principals of Colleges, and Professors of the University of St. Andrews, beg leave to approach the Throne, on the present auspicious occasion, with the expression of our profound respect and warm attachment to the person of our beloved Sovereign. After having, by persevering vigour, been the chief instrument, under Providence, of rescuing the Continent of Europe from the thralldom of a powerful usurper,—after having terminated a war, glorious for Britain, by a peace, which secured the independence of surrounding nations, your Majesty, prompted by paternal affection, has seen fit to visit the several kingdoms which compose your extensive dominions; to witness the happiness of a people living under the protection of wise laws, administered by a Monarch who has ever shewn a sacred regard for the liberties, and an anxious desire to promote the welfare of his subjects. Permit us, Sire, to join in the general and cordial expression of welcome which resounds throughout our land on the happy event of your Majesty's arrival amongst us. Our hearts exult with unfeigned joy, when we see the illustrious descendant of a long line of Scottish Monarchs seated in the Palace of his Royal Ancestors, surrounded by the posterity of those men who preserved the independence of their country, until it became an integral part of the British Empire, by an union which gave new splendour to the Throne, and a rapid increase of prosperity to the people.

May it please your Majesty,—The Seminary which we represent continued for a considerable period to be the only University in Scotland. It enjoyed the favour, and was often honoured by the presence of our ancient Kings, whose Parliaments were occasionally held within its precincts. It has ever been distinguished as the seat of steady loyalty and attachment to the person of the Sovereign; and in this respect we can with truth say, that we do not yield to our predecessors. Being persuaded that a faithful discharge of the important duties assigned to us is the best, and will be to your Majesty the most acceptable proof which we can give of our loyalty, we beg leave most respectfully to convey to the Throne the assurance, that while we labour to promote literature and science, of which your Majesty is the liberal patron, we shall omit no opportunity to inspire the youth committed to our care with sentiments of love and respect to their King, of attachment to the House of Brunswick, and of veneration for that excellent constitution of government, which stands unrivalled in the history of nations.

Given under our Common Seal this 19th day of August 1822.

MELVILLE, C.
FRANCIS NICOLL, Rector.

May it please your Majesty,

We, the Lord Chancellor, Lord Rector, Dean of Faculties, Principal, and Professors of the University of Glasgow, most humbly approach your august person, to offer our joyful congratulations on the arrival of your Majesty in your ancient kingdom of Scotland.

Deeply sensible of the high honour conferred on this portion of your empire by your Majesty's gracious visit, we gladly embrace the opportunity which it affords us, of renewing our assurances of devoted loyalty and attachment to the sacred person of a Sovereign, whose wise administration has so much exalted the glory of the empire.

We feel also a national pride in reflecting that your Majesty's visit has been reserved for a period when Scotland, in her increased population and resources, in the splendid extension of her cities, in the improved fertility of her soil, and, above all, in the moral and intellectual cultivation of her people, presents to the eye of her Monarch the most gratifying proofs of the advantages she has derived from the mild and auspicious government of the illustrious House of Brunswick.

As members of an ancient University, which has often experienced the favour and protection of your Majesty's royal ancestors, we trust that we shall ever approve ourselves to your Majesty as the faithful instructors of the numerous youth under our care, by instilling into their minds those principles which shall lead them to support the constitution, adorn the literature, and advance the prosperity of their country.

That your Majesty may long sway the sceptre over a loyal and happy people, is our earnest prayer to the Almighty Ruler of Nations.

Signed in our name, under the Common Seal of the University.

MONTROSE.

Glasgow, 7th August 1822.

Unto the King's Most Excellent Majesty,

The humble Address of the Chancellor, Rector, Principal, and Professors of the University and King's College of Aberdeen.

Most Gracious Sovereign,

We, your Majesty's most loyal and dutiful subjects, the Chancellor, Rector, Principal, and Professors of the University and King's College of Aberdeen, beg leave to approach the Throne with our heartfelt congratulations on your Majesty's arrival in your ancient kingdom of Scotland. It is with peculiar satisfaction that the Members of this University, which derived its name from one of your Majesty's most illustrious ancestors, and which has been fostered by the countenance and munificence of succeeding Sovereigns, embrace this opportunity of assuring your Majesty that we cordially participate in those ardent feelings of loyalty which pervade every class of your Majesty's subjects in this kingdom.

That your Majesty, under whose auspices literature and science have so eminently flourished, and the administration of public affairs has been so prosperously conducted, may long be preserved to reign over a free, loyal, and happy people, is the earnest prayer of

May it please your Majesty,

Your Majesty's most dutiful subjects, the Chancellor, Rector, Principal, and Professors of the University and King's College of Aberdeen.

GORDON, Chancellor.
ABERDEEN. Rector.
HUGH MACPHERSON, Sub-Principal.

Most Gracious Sovereign,

We, the Principal and Professors of the University of Edinburgh, humbly approach your Majesty's Throne, and warmed by the strongest feelings of national pride and gratitude, and loyal affection, we offer to your Majesty our most cordial congratulations on your auspicious arrival in the capital of your ancient Kingdom of Scotland, and in the Palace of your illustrious Ancestors. We hail your august presence as a distinguished and most gratifying proof of your royal condescension and kindness to our country; and participating in the ardent exultation excited by the high and happy event in all the classes of our fellow-citizens, we tender to your Majesty the heartfelt homage of our most profound respect and most devoted attachment.

We are deeply impressed by a sense of those benevolent purposes of public good, for which your Majesty has graciously desired to witness, in this quarter of your Empire, the condition and character of your people; and we feel in the impression a new and animating incentive to the faithful and zealous discharge of all our professional duties.—To that fidelity and zeal we now, therefore, entreat your Majesty's permission to pledge ourselves gratefully, sincerely, and solemnly.

Deign, then, indulgently to rely on our assurance, that in our different academical departments we will continue to employ our most strenuous exertions for promoting that intellectual, moral, and religious instruction, which, being the most solid basis of a nation's prosperity, happiness, and honour, it is the dearest wish of your Majesty's heart, and the most unceasing object of your reign, to extend and to perpetuate throughout all your dominions. That the Almighty King of Kings may bless your Majesty with a long reign of glory, and that he may bestow on you in Heaven an unfading crown, are our most fervent prayers.

GEO. H. BAIRD, Principal.

To the KING'S Most Excellent Majesty.

May it please your Majesty,

We, your Majesty's most dutiful and loyal subjects, the Chancellor, Rector, Dean of Faculty, Principal, Professors, and other Members of your Majesty's Marischal College and University of Aberdeen, beg leave, with all becoming humility and reverence, to offer to your Majesty our sincere and heartfelt congratulations on your safe and happy arrival in this northern part of your Majesty's United Kingdoms. This auspicious event has infused into our minds, as well as into those of your other subjects in this your ancient kingdom, the most lively satisfaction and joy; and the more, that your Majesty has thus conferred on us, and on all the inhabitants of this our native land, a happiness which had not, during so long a succession of time, been enjoyed by our forefathers, that of beholding in the midst of us our most gracious Sovereign.

We may, however, be permitted to affirm, that notwithstanding the absence of our Monarchs, the Scottish subjects of your Majesty and your royal predecessors have not been outdone by those of any part of the British Empire in genuine loyalty, in adherence to our happy constitution of government, and in affection to your Majesty's illustrious House. May the happy event, on which we beg leave to present our humble, yet warm congratulations, tend more and more to confirm these sentiments in the breasts of our nation, and to cement that most salutary union which ought always to subsist between a Sovereign and his people.

We entreat permission to assure your Majesty, that while we assiduously exert ourselves to instruct the youth committed to our care in all sound learning and useful and liberal science, we shall strenuously inculcate on them enlightened and unshaken attachment to our holy religion, obedience to its precepts, unalterable loyalty towards our most gracious Sovereign, and that genuine and consistent patriotism which distinguishes a people blessed with freedom, protected by law, and revering its dictates.

May that omnipotent and ever-blessed Being, "by whom King's reign, and Princes decree justice," ever preserve and defend your Majesty, direct your councils, make your government happily conducive to the welfare of the British Empire, and render your reign long and prosperous over a free, a religious, and a happy people.

These are, most Gracious Sovereign, the fervent prayers of your Majesty's most dutiful, affectionate, and loyal subjects, the Chancellor, Rector, Dean of Faculty, Principal, Professors, and other Members of your Majesty's Marischal College and University of Aberdeen.

Signed in name and by appointment of the Faculty of the University.

HUGH LUMSDEN, Dean of Faculty.

CHA. FORBES, Rector.

W. L. BROWN, S. S. T. D. & P. Principal.

To which Addresses from the Universities of Scotland his Majesty was pleased to return the following most gracious Answer.—

"The testimonies of loyalty and attachment which are contained in your Addresses are very gratifying to my feelings."

"I highly appreciate that excellent system of instruction which is established in the Universities of Scotland, and which has mainly contributed to form the character of a religious and enlightened people.

"I feel assured that you will continue to promote the cultivation of science and of sound learning, and to instil into the minds of the youth committed to your care, those principles which will lead them to form a correct estimate of the peculiar blessings we enjoy under our free and happy constitution."

HOLYROOD HOUSE,—August 19, 1822.

The following Address from the Bishops and Clergy of the Scottish Episcopal Church, has been presented to his Majesty in the Closet.

To the KING'S Most Excellent Majesty.

May it please your Majesty.

We, your Majesty's dutiful and loyal subjects, the Bishops and Clergy of the Scottish Episcopal Church, beg leave humbly to approach your royal presence with expressions of our most heartfelt attachment and loyalty to your Majesty's sacred person and government.

So many years have passed away since Scotland was honoured by the presence of its Sovereign, that to behold your Majesty in the palace of the long line of our ancient monarchs, your Majesty's royal ancestors, is to us, as it must be to every true Scotchman, a matter of pride and exultation; and in this house, more especially, do we feel ourselves prompted by these emotions to declare, that within the wide compass of your Majesty's dominions are nowhere to be found hearts more loyal than those which beat in the breasts of the Scottish Episcopalians.

The devoted attachment uniformly displayed by the members of our Church to him whom they have considered as their legitimate Sovereign is so well known to your Majesty, that it would be waste of time to repeat it here; and is, indeed, amply vouched by the lowly station which we, her Bishops, now hold in civil society. Your Majesty likewise knows that our religious principles and forms of worship are the same with those of the Church of England, from which, indeed, we twice derived our Episcopacy, when it had been lost at home; and whilst we are sincerely grateful for the toleration of these principles, and the free exercise of the rites of our worship, we feel that it is to your Majesty's gracious consideration, and that of your Royal father, that our gratitude is in a peculiar manner due.

We would not occupy too much of your Majesty's time by protestations of our loyalty; but we must beg leave solemnly to declare, in your royal presence, that viewing in your Majesty's sacred person the lineal descendant of the Royal Family of Scotland, and the legitimate possessor of the British Throne, we feel to your Majesty that devoted attachment which our principles assure us is due to our rightful Sovereign; and that should evil days ever come upon your Majesty's royal house, (which may God, of his infinite mercy, avert), the House of Brunswick will find that the Scottish Episcopalians are ready to endure for it as much as they have suffered for the House of Stuart, and with heart and hand to convince the world, that in their breasts a firm attachment to the religion of their fathers is inseparably combined with unshaken loyalty to their King.

That your Majesty may long reign over a happy and united people, to maintain that peace and prosperity which the wisdom of your Majesty's counsels and the vigour of your arms have, by the Providence of God, achieved for them, is the earnest prayer of your Majesty's most dutiful and loyal subjects,

GEO. GLEIG, Premier Bishop.
ALEXANDER JOLLY, Bishop.
DANIEL SANDFORD, Bishop.
PATK. TORRY, Bishop.
W. SKINNER, Bishop.
DAVID LOW, Bishop.

To which Address his Majesty was pleased to return the following most gracious Answer.

"I thank you for this dutiful and loyal Address; and I receive with the greatest satisfaction your affectionate congratulations on my arrival in this part of my dominions.

"I have the fullest confidence in your faithful attachment to my Person and Government; and you may rely on my protection of the civil and religious liberties of all classes of my subjects."

HOLYROOD HOUSE,—August 19, 1822.

The following Address from the Highland Society of Scotland, has been presented to his Majesty in the Closet.

To the KING.

Most Gracious Sovereign,

The Highland Society of Scotland, constituted by Royal Charter, assembled in an Extraordinary General Meeting, humbly approaches the Throne, in all its national warmth of loyalty, with its most sincere congratulations on your Majesty's presence in this ancient kingdom. The Society rejoices in the present opportunity of offering its dutiful homage, afforded by the benignant care of your Majesty in visiting your Majesty's faithful subjects of Scotland, from which the Society anticipates the happiest results.

The best energies of this Society have been unremittingly directed to stimulate the industry of your Majesty's people; and it is confident that your Majesty's paternal interest in the welfare of your Majesty's subjects, will be gratified by the information which it has the satisfaction of laying before your Majesty, of the advancement of Scotland in agriculture, manufactures, and the other objects which it is the peculiar purpose of this Society's institution to promote and encourage. The same animated spirit for improvement, and the same pious observance of the moral virtues, which have so long distinguished the Scottish Nation, remain uninterrupted, and are disseminated in active exercise throughout the kingdom.

The Highland Society of Scotland, embracing a very large proportion of the rank and property of this part of the United Kingdom, begs leave earnestly to assure your Majesty of the unalterable loyalty and of the faithful attachment of the Scottish people to your Majesty's sacred person, and of their profound veneration for that happy constitution, which has ever proved the safeguard of your Majesty's subjects, as it has been the bulwark of the British Empire.

Sealed with the Seal of the Society, and signed by the Most Noble William Marquis of Lothian, one of the Vice-Presidents in office, in presence and at desire of the Meeting,
LOTHIAN, V. P.

Edinburgh, 9th August 1822.

To which Address his Majesty was pleased to return the following most gracious Answer.

"I thank you for this loyal and dutiful Address. "It will always be gratifying to me to hear of the success of a Society which has for its object the encouragement of the agriculture and manufactures of Scotland."
