To the HEIRS OF ENTAIL of the Estate of Seaforth.

To the HEIRS OF ENTAIL of the Estate of Seaforth. In terms of the Act and Warrant of the Lords of Council and Session, dated 6th July last, pronounced in the Petition at the instance of the Honourable Mrs. Stewart Mackenzie of Seaforth and her husband, for sale of parts of the estate of Seaforth, under authority of the act 5. Geo. III, cap. 23, Notice is hereby given, that there will be Sold by public roup, before the Lord Ordinary on the Bills, within the Parliament or Session House of Edinburgh, on Wednesday the 17th November next, between the hours of two and five o'clock afternoon,

THE WHOLE ISLAND of LEWIS, excepting only the parish of Stornoway, comprehending the parishes of BARVAS, UIG, and LOCHS, and extending from the Butt of the Lewis to the Harris March.

The lands for sale form an uninterrupted estate, containing, as appears from a survey taken by James Chapman in 1810—of arable land and intersected pasture, 8555 acres; of fine pasture, 4035 acres; moorish pasture and moss, 230,561 acres; fresh water lakes, 6138 acres; wood, 18. 2. 16 falls, making in all a total of 249,309 of Scots acres. The shores produce from 400 to 500 tons of kelp annually, of the best quality, which may be increased by various means, already partly in operation.

The whole east coast is indented with very safe and ac-Roag, covered by Little Bernia and other Islands, affords a safe retreat for coasting vessels, and the London fishing smacks. The cod and ling fisheries, around the whole island, give steady and regular employment to the native fishermen, and may be much improved.

There are several Salmon Fishings of considerable value in the estuaries and rivers, which also abound with trout. The game is abundant, and consists of red deer, ptarmigan, grouse, hares, and a variety of water fowl.

Besides the main land, the sale comprehends several va-luable isles attached to these three parishes; and the whole will be exposed, either in one lot at the upset price of L.136,378: 3: 6, or in two separate lots, as after mention-

The rental and value has been proved before the Cour of Session to be as follows:-

These lands were formerly let much higher that they are now valued at, but from the remoteness of the situation and the late depression in land produce, the witnesses examined in the sale have deponed, that from 25 to 30 per cent. ought to be deducted from the former rents, which has been done accordingly, and a purchaver will thus receive a return for the investment of his capital rarely to be met with in these times.

The lands are held partly of the Crown and partly of subjects superior, and no value has been put upon the Crown superiorities. The teinds of all the three parishes are value of stipend, and the value of stipend, and the value of stipend. lued and exhausted by the allocation of stipend, and the patronage of the churches is in the Crown.
