TUESDAY, SEPTEMBER 20, 1842.

ADMIRALTY, September 17, 1842.

HER Majesty the Queen and his Royal Highness Prince Albert embarked on board her Majesty's hired steam-ship Trident, at Granton Pier, near Edinburgh, at half-past nine o'clock A. M. on the 15th instant.

This morning, at a quarter before ten o'clock A. M. Her Majesty and His Royal Highness landed at Woolwich, and proceeded immediately to Windsor.

DALKEITH PALACE, September 5, 1842.

The following Addresses were presented to the Queen; which were very graciously received by Her Majesty:—

TO THE QUEEN.

Most Gracious Majesty,

WE, your Majesty's Loyal Subjects, the Highland and Agricultural Society of Scotland, assembled in an extraordinary general meeting on the auspicious event of your Majesty's arrival in this your Ancient Kingdom of Scotland, most gratefully avail ourselves of the occasion of your Royal presence, humbly to approach your Majesty with the united expression of our devoted fealty to the Crown, of our profound regard towards your sacred person, and of our deep sense of the distinguished mark of your Royal favour, which your Majesty, by this gracious visit, confers upon your faithful people of Scotland.

Associated for the advancement of Agriculture and the useful Arts therewith connected, and incorporated for these purposes by an early Charter of your Majesty's Royal predecessor, George the Third, our anxious endeavours have been directed to improve, by all the means at our command, the productive industry of the country, and with this the moral and social condition of the people; and we hail the happy arrival of your Majesty amongst us, as animating us in our efforts, by manifesting to every Class, the deep and generous interest which your Majesty takes in the happiness and well-being of this part of the Empire.

Cherishing with national feelings the memory of a long line of Illustrious Princes whose Royal dignities are centered in the person of your Majesty, as the august representative of the Royal House of Scotland, we gratefully contrast, with the former condition of this once divided nation, that which it now presents, indissolubly united with the other parts of the Empire, and enjoying, under the safeguard of a constitutional Throne, the benignant sway of your Majesty, and unequalled opportunities of advancing in the cultivation of the Arts which pertain to civilization and peace.

We earnestly and confidently trust that your Majesty, during your short sojourn in Scotland, will derive gratification corresponding with your kindly feelings towards the country, from witnessing its general prosperity, the peaceful condition and advancing industry of the Peasantry, with the effects of that system of moral and religious education so long established amongst us.

On the occasion of the auspicious visit of your Majesty's Royal predecessor, George the Fourth to Scotland, this Society had the gratification to receive a signal mark of Royal favour, and to be then assured that the course it had pursued, was such as to meet with the approbation of His Majesty; and we now humbly entertain an ardent hope, that your Majesty will find reason to be satisfied, that our more recent proceedings have been such as to warrant a continuance of Royal countenance and favour.

Sealed with the Corporate Seal, and signed at desire, and in presence of a special general meeting of the Society, by His Grace James Henry Robert, Duke of Roxburghe, K.T. Senior Vice-President, in the Chair, in the absence of His Grace Charles Duke of Richmond, President of the Society.
ROXBURGHE, Vice-President.

DALKEITH PALACE, September 5, 1842.

The following Addresses were presented to H.R.H. Prince Albert; which His Royal Highness was pleased to receive very graciously:—

UNTO HIS ROYAL HIGHNESS FRANCIS ALBERT AUGUSTUS CHARLES EMANUEL, DUKE OF SAXE, PRINCE OF SAXE COBOURG AND GOTHA, K.G. &c. &c.

WE, the most Worshipful and Right Honourable Lord Frederick FitzClarence, G.C.H. &c. &c. &c. Grand Master Mason, &c. &c. &c. on behalf of the ancient Fraternity of Free and accepted Masons of Scotland, approach your Royal Highness with every feeling of sincere and heartfelt pleasure at your R. H. arrival in Scotland.

Our ancient Society is a structure based upon the broad principles of Philanthropy, Brotherly Love, and Charity, and cemented and raised in peace and order,—with such principles as these, all true Masons may be considered good and virtuous members of society, and loyal subjects of her Majesty.

We rejoice with your R. H. at the universal feeling of Loyalty which seems to pervade all classes upon this happy occasion, and which must convince your R. H. if that were necessary, that Scotland hails with joy the presence of her Queen. And that the Great Architect of the Universe may protect and bless your R. H. and your beloved Consort the Queen and royal offspring, is the fervent prayer of the Free Masons of Scotland.

FREDERICK FITZCLARENCE,
 Grand Master Mason of Scotland.
