INDIA BOARD, December 6, 1842.

DISPATCHES, of which the following is a copy, have been transmitted by the Governor General of India, and received at the East India House, this day :

From Major-General G. Pollock, C.B. Commanding in Affghanistan, to Major-General Lumley, Adjutant-General of the Army.

Sir, Camp, Cabool, September 22, 1842.

I HAVE the honour to report, for the information of His Excellency the Commander in Chief, that, having received intimation from Bamecan, that the European officers and soldiers, prisoners there, had made arrangements by which they hoped to effect their own liberation, I, at the suggestion of Mohun Loll, with the concurrence of Khan Sheereen Khan, Chief of the Kuzzulbashas, sanctioned the speedy departure of 700 of his horse on the 15th instant, the day of our arrival here, to meet the party. Some difficulty occurred on the score of money, I advanced 10,000 rupees, which were delivered by Sir R. Shakespear, who accompanied the Kuzzulbashas. Being apprehensive that attempts would be made to intercept the prisoners, I detached Major-General Sir R. Sale, with the troops named on the margin*, on the 19th instant, to the Urghundee pass, and the circumstance proved fortunate, as a delay of twenty-four hours would have enabled Sultan Jan, who was in pursuit, to overtake our people. I am happy to state, that the whole who were in confinement, (as per subjoined roll) with the exception of Captain Bygrave, who is with Mahomed Akbar, arrived in my camp yesterday evening.

I cannot conclude without recording my opinion, that to Khan Sheereen Khan and Mohun Loll may be attributed the safety of the prisoners, and I have reason to believe the chief of the Kuzzulbashas to be a steadfast adherent to the British Government.

I have, &c.

GEORGE POLLOCK, Major-General, Commanding in Affghanistan.

From Major-General Pollock, C.B., Commanding in Affghanistan, to T. H. Maddock, Esq. Secretary to the Government of India.

Sir, Camp, Cabool, September 27, 1842.

I HAVE much satisfaction in reporting, for the information of the Right Honourable the Governor-General, the arrival in the Camp this morning of Captain Bygrave, the only person who remained in the hands of Mahomed Akbar Khan. It appears that Captain Bygrave was allowed to join my camp by Mahomed Akbar, who has sent a letter to my address, a copy and translation of which shall be forwarded by the next opportunity.

I have, &c.

GEORGE POLLOCK, Major-General, Commanding in Affghanistan.

From Major General W. Nott, Commanding Field Force, to Major General Pollock, C.B., Commanding West of the Indus.

Sir, Camp, Urghundee, Sept. 16, 1842.

I HAVE the honour to acquaint you, that Shumshoodeen, Sultan Jan, and other Affghan Chiefs, having assembled about 12,000 men, occupied a succession of strong mountain intercepting my march upon Beenee Badam and Mydan, on the 14th and 15th instant. Our troops dislodged them in gallant style, and their conduct afforded me the greatest satisfaction.

The artillery distinguished themselves; and I beg to mention the names of Captain Leslie, Bombay horse artillery; Captains Blood, Bombay foot artillery, and Anderson and Turner, of the Bengal horse artillery; and the 38th and 43d Bengal native infantry. I beg to bring under the favourable notice of Government, Captain White of Her Majesty's 40th regiment, in command of the light companies of Her Majesty's 40th and 41st regiments, and of the 2d, 16th, 38th, 42d, and 43d Bengal native regiments, for the able manner in which he carried my orders into effect, and for the gallantry displayed by him and the companies under his command, in ascending the mountains and driving the enemy from their positions. I had every reason to be pleased with the conduct of all the troops, European and Native. I forward a list of killed and wounded.

I am, &c.
W. NOTT, Major General,

Exd. THOS. POLWHELE, Deputy Assistant Adjutant-General.

From Major-General G. Pollock, C.B. Commanding in Afghanistan, to Major General Lumley, Adjutant-General of the Army.

Sir, Camp, Cabool, Oct. 1, 1842.

I have the honour to forward a copy of a letter from Major-General M'Caskill, K.H. commanding the force which I detached under his command, for the purpose of dispersing the enemy collected in the vicinity of Charekar, as stated in my letter of the 28th instant.

The success of the Major-General's operations against Istalif is most gratifying, that place being considered by the Affghans as totally inaccessible to our troops.

I have, &c.
G. POLLOCK, Major-General,
Commanding in Afghanistan.

From Major-General M'Caskill, K.H. Commanding a detachment in Kohistan, to Captain Ponsonby, Assistant Adjutant-General.

Sir, Camp, Istalif, September 30, 1842.

I HAVE the satisfaction to acquaint you, for the information of Major-General Pollock, C.B. that the troops under my command yesterday made themselves masters of the strong and populous town of Istalif, totally defeating the numerous levies collected for its defence, under the infamous Hmeenollah Khan Loguree, Khaojie Ameer Kotwal, Hazin Khan (an assassin of Sir Alexander Burnes,) Hazir Alee Khan, Khuleefa Ibrahim, and many other chiefs of Cabool and the Kohistan.

The Major-General is aware that the force detailed in the margin was placed at my disposal for operation in these valleys, on the 25th. The two brigades formed a junction near Khowja Rawash, on the 26th; moved to an encampment near Zimuree on the 27th, and pitched their tents within four miles of this place on the 28th. The same evening I reconnoitred the enemy's position; it is impossible to conceive ground naturally stronger. The town of Istalif, consisting of masses of houses and forts, is built on the slope of a mountain, in the rear of which are yet loftier eminences shutting in a defile which leads to Toorkistan, and in no way can this place of abode of 15,000 people be approached but by surmounting ranges of hills separated by deep ravines, or traversing, by narrow roads, its gardens, vineyards, and orchards, fenced in with strong enclosure walls; the whole of them, with the mountain side, and tops of the houses, were occupied by Jezailchies, and the strongest proof is afforded that the enemy, after this disposition, considered the place unassailable, by their having retained within the town the wives and children, not only of the inhabitants, but of thousands of refugees from Cabool.

* Artillery—Captain Backhouse's mountain train, Captain Blood's battery of 9-pounders, (Bombay), two 18-pounders.—Cavalry—Head quarters and 2 squadrons H.M.'s 3d light dragoons, 1st squadron 1st light cavalry, Captain Christie's (late S.S. 2 regiment) corps of Cavalry.—Infantry—Brigadier Tulloch's brigade, (with the addition of Captain Broadfoot's sappers and miners, and the exception of the 60th native infantry), Brigadier Stacy's brigade.

The observations which I was enabled to make under a sharp jezail fire, and the report of Major Pottinger, induced me to determine to assault the next morning the right of the enemy's extensive position, as it was there that I could hope to bring the artillery most effectively into battery. Arrangements were made with this view. The troops were formed into two columns of attack and reserve; Brigadier Tulloch's brigade and the mountain train composed the right; Brigadier Stacy's and Captain Blood's battery and the 18-pounders the left; these were supported by the third column, under Major Simmons, Her Majesty's 41st, consisting of a wing of his regiment, and the cavalry under Major Lockwood; Captain Christie's corps protected the baggage.

The troops moved soon after daylight, and traversing the plain in perfect order, passed nearly from the left to the right of the enemy's position. Our light troops and guns repressed the occasional attacks of their jezailchies from the gardens, who were numerous and most audacious; but when the column arrived in front of the village Ismillah, I resolved to make a combined attack on this point; Brigadier Tulloch's brigade assailed its left, and Brigadier Stacy, making a longer detour, attacked the right.

I cannot express in adequate terms my admiration of the style in which the former column, covered by skirmishers, rushed upon the gardens filled with bold and skillful marksmen. Her Majesty's 9th foot, the 26th native infantry, and Captain Broadfoot's sappers, vied with each other in steady courage; and their rapid and unhesitating advance soon left the enemy no resource, but flight. Very shortly after this assault, the three light companies of Her Majesty's 41st, the 42d, and 43d native infantry, covering their own column, got into action, and on their side, stormed the village and vineyard with distinguished gallantry. The combination was steadily persevered in, and though I had few opportunities of using the artillery with effect, I had soon the gratification of seeing the enclosures, forts, heights, suburbs, and town successively won by the two columns. The enemy were driven from them, and pursued with a rapidity which left no time to rally; and a singular spectacle was then presented in the escape up the mountain side of the women and children from the place, to which no interception was offered; but, as detached parties of the beaten Affghans still occupied some very lofty heights, the mountain train ascended them by a dizzy pathway, and dispersed the fugitives by its effective fire. Our reserve was now established on the lower heights, and the whole of the place, filled with property of every description, much of it plundered from our army in 1841, was in the hands of our force; two guns, brass field pieces, were also taken, and one of them was seized with such promptitude, that its captor, Lieutenant Elmhirst, Her Majesty's 9th foot, turned its fire upon the fugitives with some effect. I directed the town to be set on fire in several places, after taking out various supplies which might be useful to our troops, and the work of demolition is still proceeding under the direction of Major Sanders, of the engineers. Our loss has been trifling, for the advance of our officers and men was too rapid and decisive to allow of the sharp fire of the enemy telling much upon them, and, deceived by the direction of the reconnaissance of the 28th, the Affghans had expected the attack on their left, and posted their guns and the elite of their force in that quarter.

I have now the pleasing task of expressing the amount of my obligations for their exertions in the field to Brigadiers Tulloch and Stacy, commanding brigades and columns; to Lieutenant-Colonel Taylor, K.H. Her Majesty's 9th foot; Major Huish, of the 26th native infantry; and Captain Broadfoot, of the sappers, commanding corps on the right, which bore the brunt of the action; to Major Simmons, Her Majesty's 41st foot, commanding the reserve; to Captain Backhouse, commanding the mountain train, and Captain Blood, commanding the battery of 9 pounders; the last was ably aided by Lieutenant Terry. I have received valuable assistance throughout our operations from Major Pottinger, C.B., and Major Sanders, engineers, and yesterday from Captain Mackenzie, and Lieutenant Airey, Her Majesty's 3d bufs, and Lieutenant Webb, 30th regiment Madras native infantry, temporarily attached to me, and since we marched from Cabool, as on former occasions, from my own staff, departmental and personal, viz.—Captain Havelock, Deputy-Assistant Adjutant-General; Lieutenant Mayne, Deputy-Assistant Quarter-Master-General; Lieutenant Pollock, artillery, Aide-de-Camp to the Major-General, who volunteered his services with me; and to Lieutenant Bethune, Her Majesty's 9th foot, my own Aide-de-Camp. Regarding the last-mentioned officer, I take the opportunity of rectifying an oversight on my part; I ought specially to have reported to Major-General Pollock, Lieutenant Bethune's valuable services in the recent affair at the Huft Kotul, in which I was entrusted with the command of the main column. Brigadier Tulloch reports in very strong terms the good conduct on the present occasion of Captain Smith, Her Majesty's 9th foot, his Brigade-Major. I enclose a return of the killed and wounded, and of the two guns captured.
