Lights in the Gulf of Patras.

THE Commander-in-Chief in the Mediterranean has reported to the Lords Commissioners of the Admiralty the defective manner in which the coasts of the Gulf of Patras are lighted.

The mariner must therefore be on his guard, as no dependence can be placed on those lights, and it is uncertain whether at any time the lighthouse at the extremity of the mole at Patras will be found lighted or not.

The same remark applies to the light at Misolonghi.

By Command of their Lordships,
JOHN WASHINGTON, Hydrographer.
Hydrographic Office, Admiralty, London,
2d May 1863.

This Notice affects the Admiralty Chart—Gulf of Patras, No. 207. Also Mediterranean Lights List, Nos. 260, 261.
