

Life Assurance Society's Acts, 1863 and 1877, and of any other Act or Acts relating to the Society.

To make further and other provision with respect to the investment of the funds and moneys for the time being of the Society, including all or any part of their Proprietors' Guarantee Fund and Assurance Fund respectively, and to repeal or modify all or any restrictions upon the investments of such funds and moneys contained in the Settlement and in the said Acts or any or either of them.

To remove doubts as to the meaning and effect of the provisions of the Settlement as altered by resolutions of the Society with respect to reserving part of the surplus of the Assurance Fund of the Society before dividing such surplus as provided by the Settlement.

To make further provision as to the valuation of the property and assets and the claims on or liabilities of the Society or any of those matters, and with respect to any other matter to be taken into account in ascertaining the surplus of the Assurance Fund of the Society, and to enable the Directors or such number of them as the Bill may prescribe to determine the principles upon which such valuation shall be made or such matter determined, or upon which the share to be assigned in accordance with the settlement to the assured of the surplus or of the remainder of the surplus of the Assurance Fund of the Society shall be calculated or ascertained and distributed.

To confer the right to a bonus out of the profits or probable profits of the Society upon or in respect of policies granted with participation in profits becoming claims during any quinquennial or other period subsequent to any 31st day of December, up to which any account or statement mentioned in Clause LXXV. of the settlement has been or is made out.

To entitle the proprietors of the Society to interim bonuses in anticipation of the share of the profits to which proprietors would be entitled at the expiration of any current financial period.

To make provision for dividing the shares in the capital of the Society into five shares of smaller nominal amount, and to amend the settlement in that respect.

To vary or extinguish all rights and privileges inconsistent with or which would or might in any way interfere with the objects of the Bill, and to confer other rights or privileges.

Printed copies of the Bill will be deposited at the Private Bill Office of the House of Commons on or before the 21st day of December next.

Dated this 24th day of November 1886.
