AT the Council-Chamber, Whitehall, the 12th Day of June, 1760.

The Lords of His Majesty's most Honourable Privy-Council.

WHEREAS the Time limited by His Majesty's Proclamation of the 15th of May last, "For giving Encouragement to Seamen and able bodied Landmen to enter themselves on board His Majesty's Ships of War; for granting Rewards for discovering such Seamen as shall conceal themselves; for pardoning such Seamen as have deserted and shall return into the Service; and also for taking up all stragling Seamen," hath been prolonged and extended to the 21st of this Instant June; — And whereas it is judged expedient for His Majesty's Service, that the same should be continued for some Time longer; — It is therefore hereby ordered in Council, that the said Time be prolonged and extended from the aforesaid 21st Day of this Instant June, to the 31st Day of July next; and that the Bounties and Rewards given and granted by His Majesty's aforementioned Proclamation, be continued to be paid until the said 31st Day of July next. — Whereof all Persons concerned are to take Notice, and govern themselves accordingly.

Breslau, June 22. We have just now received Advice, that General Laudohn having, with a Body of 12,000 Volunteers, made a general Assault upon the Town of Glatz, in the Night of the 17th and 18th, Colonel d'O, who commands in that Place, made so brave a Defence, that the Enemy was repulsed with a very considerable Loss, computed to amount to some Thousands of Men, which however cannot be exactly ascertained, as the Communication with Glatz is cut off. After General Laudohn had miscarried in this Attempt, he raised the Blockade of Glatz; and having called in all his several Detachments, marched towards Landshut, in order to attack General Fouquet in that Post.

Breslau, June 24. We have, this Instant, received the melancholy News, that General Laudohn, after having retired from before Glatz, and called in all his Detachments, had, in the Night of the 23d, attacked General Fouquet in his Intrenchments near Landshut; and that, after a most obstinate Action, that Corps was forced to abandon them, and to retire by Bolkenhayn towards the Town of Jauer. We don't hitherto know any other Particulars of that Action, but that the Battalions of Mosel, and Le Noble, have greatly suffered in it; and that the greatest Part of the Baggage of that Corps is fallen into the Hands of the Enemy, whose Loss, upon this Occasion, we are assured, is very considerable.

P. S. We just now have received an Account, that Major General Ziethen, who was posted with five Battalions near Furstenstein, and the Mountain of Zeekeke, has made a successful Retreat to Schweidnitz, where he arrived Yesterday at Four in the Afternoon. A Battalion, which General Fouquet had detached some Time before the Action to reinforce the Garrison of Neifs, had the good Fortune likewise to reach that Place.

Magdebourg, June 28. Since the Enemy has abandoned their Camp of Radebourg, and the King has fixed his own there, the two Armies are only separated by a Wood. Nothing material however has passed. The Enemy's Light Troops have made many Attempts to molest and surprize some Part of his Majesty's Camp, but have always been repulsed with Loss. In one of these Skirmishes, a Hundred of their Chasseurs were killed, and Ten of them were made Prisoners by our Troops under General Krokow. On the other Side of the Elbe Colonel Kleist surprized Colonel Torreck, drove him into Nossen, took two Officers, 42 Hussars, and 50 Horses.

His Majesty has again fixed his Camp at Gros d'Obritz, in order to be near at Hand to support the Corps encamped at Meissen, in Case the Enemy should think proper to attack it.

News has just been received, that Prince Henry is encamped with the Army under his Command at Landsparg, and that General Forcade, who is detached from him, is encamped at Massow, a few Leagues distant from Stargard.

Hague, July 4. No Alteration, we find, has been made lately in the Position of the respective Armies in Hesse. Prince Ferdinand's Head Quarters continued, on the 30th past, at Diederhausen; the Army under his Command being encamped between Treyfa and Ziegenhayn. Marshal Broglio likewise remained in his Camp at Neustad.
