Dr. Sandby, Master of Magdalen College, Vice-Chancellor; the Right Hon the Fall of Hadmister Vice. Hon. the Earl of Hardwicke, High Steward; and feveral of the Nobility, Students in the University; the Bishops of Norwick, Litchsiest and Coventry, Chester, St. David's, Chickester, Peterborough, and Bristol; with a great Number of Heads of Houses, Doctors, and Masters of Arts; all in their proper University Habits.

To the King's Most Excellent Majesty, The humble Address of the Chancellor, Masters, and Scholars, of the University of Cambridge.

Most Gracious Sovereign,

Y. E., your Majesty's most dutiful and loyal

Subjects, the Chancellor, Masters, and Scholars, of your University of Cambridge, lamenting, with the fineerest Grief, the Death of our late most Gracious Sovereign; and being truly sensible of the Blessings we enjoyed under His glorious Reign, humbly beg Leave to approach your Royal Presence, to tessify our deepest Concern, for the severe, and most affecting Loss, which your Majesty and these Kingdoms have sustained by that melancholy Event; and, with Hearts full of the fincerest Duty, and most affectionate Zeal, to congratulate your Majesty on your happy Accession to the Throne of your Royal Ancestors. The remarkable Prosperity and Success, which, by the Divine Providence, have been vouchfafed to us, through the long, and illustrious Reign of your Royal Grandfather; the acknowledged Lenity, Mederation, and Wifdom, of His Government; that uniform Regard to our Laws and Confitution, which was the invariable Rule of His Conduct; that constant and inviolable integrity, with which His Engagements were suffiled; that Firmness, and Resolution, with which His Counsels were directed; as they were productive of the most invaluable Blessings, justly demand the most affectionate Remembrance, and grateful Acknowledgments, of a dutiful and happy People.

We, of this University, in particular, who have been distinguished by the most signal Marks of His especial Favor, who have been honored by repeated Acts of His Royal Munificence; who have ever experienced the continued Support and Encouragement of His most gracious Countenance and Protection, can never be fo unmindful of our Duty and Obligations, as not to retain the most lively Impressions, and, on all Occasions, testify the warmell Sense of Gratitude towards our Royal Benefactor.

The pleasing Hopes, so justly raised in us, by the Contideration of your Majesty's Princely Vir-tues, early implanted, and successfully cultivated; of your eminent and publick Regard to our Holy Religion, and your well-known Affection for our excellent Constitution in Church and State, have, by your Majesty's most gracious, and leasonable Deciaration in Council, been improved into the strongest Considence, that every Thing dear and valuable to us, will be preserved, in its full Extent, under your Majesty's Auspicious Government.

[Price Six-Pence] from your Majesty's innate Goodness and acknow- nourable Mr. Secretary Pist, thei: Representatives in Parilament :

Engaged as we are, by every Principle of Duty, we will not fail to offer up our most devout and fervent Prayers, that your Majesty's gracious Intentions to promote the Welfare of your Subjects, and to support the Dignity of your Crown, may be ever attended with Success; that the dreadful Effects of the present destructive, though necessary, War, may be succeeded by the lasting Blessings of an honorable and happy Peace; and that your Manager of the succession of jesty's Throne may be ever fixed on that most solid and glorious Foundation, on which it now stands, the united Affections of a free and loyal People.

Permit us, Sir, with all Humility, to add our most carnest and faithful Assurances to your Manager of Combides over firm jesty, that your University of Cambridge, ever sirmly united in Principles of Loyalty and Assection, to your Royal and Illustrious Family, will invariably persevere in the most dutiful Attachment to your Royal Person and Government; and that our zealous and unwearied Endeavours shall be ever employed to impress deeply on the Minds of the rising Generation, entrusted to our Care, the most sincere and awful Reverence for our Holy Religion; the most zealous Regard for that happy Government under which we live; and the truest Sentiments of Allegiance, Fidelity, and Affection, to your Sacred Majesty; that so, under the settled Insluence of these good Principles, and by the Wisdom of your Majesty's Counsels, the Blessings which we now enjoy may be perpetuated under the Government of your Royal and August House.

Given under our Common Seal, this 10th Day of November, 1760.

To which Address His Majesty was pleased to give this most gracious Answer.

I Thank you for this very Dutiful and Loyal Address; the Zeal and Affection you show to my Person, Fuinly, and Government, and the Affurances you give me, of educating the Youth under your Care, in a due Reverence to our most Holy Religion, and in Principles of Zeal and Affection to our happy Establishment in Church and State, are most acceptable to me, and cannot fail of recommending you to my Favour and Protection.

His Majesty was pleased to receive them very graciously: And they had all the Honour to kis His Majesty's Hand.

Leicester House, Nov. 13.

This Day the University of Cambridge waited upon her Royal Highness the Princess Dowager of Wales; and his Grace the Duke of Newcastle, their Chancellor, made their Compliments of Condoleance and Congratulation in the following Speech.

May it please your Royal Highness,

W. H., the Chancellor, Matters, and Scholars, of the University of Cambridge, humbly beg Leave to condole with your Royal Highness, upon the Death of our late most gracious Sovereign; and to congratulate your Royal Highness upon the happy Accession of the King your Son, to the Imperial rown of these Kingdoms.

Nothing could alleviate our deep Concern, and repair our affecting Loss, but that entire Sense we have of His Majesty's Princely Virtues, early cultivated, and brought to a happy Maturity, by the pious, and maternal Care of your Royal Highness and equal videncies year and spilled sydnesses hills.
