Westminster, January 20.

HIS Majesty came this Day to the House of Peers, and being in His Royal Robes seated on the Throne with the usual Solemnity, Sir Henry Belden, Gentleman Usher of the Black Rod, was sent with a Message from His Majesty to the House of Commons, commanding their Attendance in the House of Peers. The Commons being come thither accordingly, His Majesty was pleased to give the Royal assent to,

An Act for granting to His Majesty an additional Duty upon Strong Beer and Ale, and for raising the Sum of Twelve Millions by way of Annuities and a Lottery to be charged on the said Duty; and for further encouraging the Exportation of Strong Beer and Ale.

An Act for the Regulation of His Majesty's Marine Forces while on Shore.

And to one private Act.

The following Address of the Justices of the Peace, Grand Jury, and Gentry of the County of Glamorgan, has been presented to His Majesty by Sir Edmond Thomas, being introduced by the Lord of His Majesty's Bed-Chamber in Waiting: Which Address His Majesty was pleased to receive very graciously.

To the King's most Excellent Majesty.

Most Gracious Sovereign,

WE the Justices of the Peace, Grand Jury and Gentry of your County of Glamorgan, at Quarter Sessions assembled, at the Town of Cardiff in the said County, your Majesty's most loyal and dutiful Subjects, beg Leave, in the most respectful Manner, to express the deep Concern we lately felt on the Death of our most gracious Sovereign, your Royal Grandfather, at a Period which, though glorious to himself, might have been rendered a most alarming one to us, amidst a War, in which we are so principally involved in every Part of the World. But permit us now to approach your Majesty, with the warmest and most sincere Congratulations on your happy Accession to the Throne of these Kingdoms, which leaves Room in our Breasts for no Sentiments but those of Joy and Confidence, and (what by others is acquired through Time) of immediate and unaffected Gratitude; for we had scarcely heard you reigned, when your Declaration to your Council informed us, how much we already owed you.

We had, indeed, formed the most sanguine Hopes from our Knowledge, that your Mind, by Nature benevolent, had, from Infancy, been trained up in virtuous and patriot Principles by your Royal Father, once the Object of the warmest Affections of this Country; nor were we less sensible how those Principles had been since cultivated by the maternal Care and Attention of a most excellent Princess, till Manhood and Reason confirmed them in your Breast; we should therefore be most ungrateful, did we not, with one Accord, retain the strongest Sense of the Obligations these Kingdoms owe her, and we cannot but assure ourselves, that your Majesty will not be displeased with our Testimony of it on this Occasion; since, permit us to say, it is not amongst the least shining of your Virtues, that, though a King, you still feel yourself a Son.

When you was graciously pleased to repeat from your Throne, the very endearing Sentiments, that you gloried in being a Briton, with what Rapidity was the grateful Idea circulated thorough the Realm; with what Eagerness was the happy Prefage imbibed by every reflecting Mind, since the distinguished Honour of a Briton, is the Enjoyment of our most excellent Constitution; from the Protection of which your Glory and Happiness, as a British Monarch, must chiefly arise!

These comfortable Assurances were no sooner made, than in Fact confirmed to us, by the gracious Manner in which your Majesty began your Reign, by giving up, from the generous Dictates of your own Heart, your hereditary Revenue to the Disposition of Parliament; an Instance of Self-Denial and Public Spirit we can never too much admire, and which must establish that Confidence, which had been so happily begun between your Majesty and your Subjects. It is this Confidence that has at once brought about that Union amongst your People, reserved as the peculiar Blessing and Characteristick of your Reign, a Felicity which has ever, till now, been deemed rather as what was to be wished for, than to be expected. And here, Sir, permit us again to admire your Wisdom and Firmness, in the early Steps you was pleased to take, in perfecting this great and salutary Work; the Preservation of which may you ever consider, as the Criterion of honest and disinterested Councils, in those who have the Honour to assist towards it.

Having thus fixed the Basis of your Empire in the united Hearts of those you are to govern, your Majesty has most graciously and wisely honoured them, by expressing an Approbation of a well regulated national Militia; a Defence in all Ages agreeable to the Genius of a free and generous People, and the Utility of which is at this Instant by Experience become self evident.

With these Sentiments, which we with the utmost Humility have ventured to lay before you, it would be almost needless to assure your Majesty of our most zealous Support, in the Prosecution of the War your Majesty has found yourself engaged in, till such Time as a Peace can be effected, which shall be consistent with the Honour, Interest and Safety of your Majesty and these Kingdoms; and which will enable you to display, in their full lustre, those Virtues which cannot fail rendering you the most amiable and truly glorious Monarch of a happy People, incessantly employed in offering up their Prayers to Heaven for your Life and Felicity.

The following Address of the Freeholders, Justices of the Peace, and Commissioners of Supply of the County of Lanark, has been presented to His Majesty by Daniel Campbell, Esq; their Representative in Parliament, being introduced by the Lord of His Majesty's Bed-Chamber in Waiting: Which Address His Majesty was pleased to receive very graciously.

To the King's most Excellent Majesty,

The humble Address of the Freeholders, Justices of the Peace, and Commissioners of Supply of the County of Lanark.

Most Gracious Sovereign,

WE your Majesty's dutiful and loyal Subjects, the Freeholders, Justices of the Peace, and Commissioners of Supply of the County of Lanark, penetrated with unfeigned and heartfelt Sorrow, humbly humbly beg Leave to express our Sentiments of Sympathy and Condolence upon the Loss these Kingdoms have sustained in the Death of your Majesty's Grandfather our late most excellent Sovereign: His Royal Virtues, his mild and benign Government, his constant Care of our Laws and Liberties, demand our warmest and most grateful Acknowledgements.

Such a Loss could only be repaired by the Blessing Providence has bestowed upon us in the Person of your Majesty. Permit us then, Sir, to offer you our sincerest Congratulations upon your happy Accession to the Throne of these Realms; and to assure your Majesty of our warmest Zeal, and firmest Attachment, to your Person and Government. The auspicious Beginning of your Reign, those innate and manly Virtues which have displayed themselves in the Dawn of your Majesty's Life, give us the greatest Assurances of their Continuance, and of their shining forth in that Meridian of Glory and Felicity, which so long distinguished, and at length happily closed the Days of your illustrious Predecessor.

May that Country which your Majesty has honoured with the Name of your Native Country be long distinguished as the Land of Liberty. May your Majesty long Reign in the Hearts of a free and happy People; the Protector of their Liberties, the Supporter of their Rights, the Author of their Happiness and Security.

Signed in Presence of the Meeting, by William Croffe, Sheriff Depute, Preses.

The following Address of the Vyanders and Principal Inhabitants of the Borough of Newport, has been presented to His Majesty by Richard Bull, Esq; and Colonel Lee, their Representatives in Parliament, being introduced by the Lord of His Majesty's Bed-Chamber in Waiting: Which Address His Majesty was pleased to receive very graciously.

Most Gracious Sovereign,

WE the Vyanders and Principal Inhabitants of the Borough of Newport in the County of Cornwall, with the utmost Humility beg Leave to approach your Royal Person, and to assure your Majesty, that we most sincerely sympathize with you in all the Accidents of Grief and Pleasure. The Death of your Royal Grandfather would have been an irretrievable Loss to us, had it not been providentially repaired by the Virtues so conspicuous in His Successor.

The utmost of human Wishes can extend no farther than to Ease, Wealth, and Liberty. What Hopes of Happiness then may we not entertain, when we see your Majesty asserting and maintaining our Rights and Properties in the first Acts and Expressions of your Power? Happy must be the Prince that reigns in the Hearts of His People; and happy the People that can always find Redress in the Person of their Sovereign. It is you, Great Sir, that, under Providence, must hold forth the Blessings of Life to us; and it is to you we shall cheerfully pay all the Obedience required from the most grateful and loyal Subjects.

The following Address of the Mayors, Bayliffs, Portreeves, Aldermen, Capital Burgeses and Burgeses of the Buroughs and Corporations of Cardiff, Cowbridge, Lantrissant, Swansea, Loughour, Neath, Aberavon and Kenfig, has been presented to His Majesty by Herbert Mackworth, Esq; their Representative in Parliament, being introduced by the Lord of His Majesty's Bed-Chamber in Waiting: Which Address His Majesty was pleased to receive very graciously.

To the King's most Excellent Majesty.

Most Gracious Sovereign,

WE your Majesty's most dutiful and loyal Subjects, the Mayors, Bayliffs, Portreeves, Aldermen, Capital Burgeses and Burgeses of the several and ancient Buroughs and Corporations of Cardiff, Cowbridge, Lantrissant, Swansea, Loughour, Neath, Aberavon, and Kenfig, in the County of Glamorgan, and Dominion of Wales;

Humbly beg Leave to present our united Condolence on the sudden and much lamented Loss of our late most gracious Sovereign: A Calamity, that has filled your Royal Breast with so just a Concern, must equally affect the Hearts of your Subjects.

Yet with due Resignation to the Will of Heaven, we cannot but thankfully acknowledge the Goodness of the Divine Providence, that has been graciously pleased to make the Subject of our Affliction the Source of our Joy, by blessing us with a Successor, who glories in the Name of Briton; a Prince born and educated amongst us, accustomed to our Language and Manners, to an early Regard and Affection for our Laws and Liberties, with a Disposition naturally amiable, happily formed, and carefully cultivated, (under the Direction and Inspection of a most excellent and accomplished Princess) to give us the most encouraging and pleasing Assurances of His inheriting not the Dominions only, but all the Virtues of His most Illustrious Ancestors.

We presume therefore, under the peculiar Distinction of having been Subjects of your Principality, before we became so to your Royal Majesty, (which gratifies our Pride, as it animates our Zeal) to join in the general and unanimous Voice of Congratulation on your Majesty's joyful and auspicious Accession to the Imperial Throne of these united Kingdoms; most devoutly imploring the Divine Blessing and Assistance on the Wisdom of your Councils, the Uprightness of your Intentions, and the Firmness of your Resolutions, that you may attain, and long very long enjoy, the perfect Completion of your own Happiness; the truly Glorious and Royal Object of our own Wishes; the Peace, Welfare, and Prosperity of a loyal, a dutiful, an affectionate, and a happy People.

Admiralty-Office, January 20.

His Majesty's Ship the Venus, of 36 Guns and 240 Men, commanded by Capt. Harrison, arrived the 16th Instant at Plymouth, and brought in with her the Brune, a French Frigate of 32 Guns and 316 Men, and a French Privatier of St. Maloes, of 6 Carriage and 6 Swivel Guns, and 39 Men. The Venus was in Company with the Juno, of 32 Guns, and 220 Men, commanded by Capt. Phillips, when they fell in with the Brune, on the 10th Instant, 50 Leagues to the Westward of Scilly: After a Chace of some Hours, the Venus came up with her, and engaged her upwards of two Hours, when the Juno coming up, and firing a few Guns, the Brune struck.

The

The Venus had 4 Men killed, and 18 wounded ; among the latter were Capt. Harrison, his First Lieutenant, and Master ; and the Juno had 2 Men wounded. The Brune had 19 killed, and 39 wounded.

On the 14th the Venus fell in with the Privatier to which she gave Chace, and upon coming up with her, she struck.

Whitehall, January 17, 1761.

Whereas it has been humbly represented to the King, That, on Thursday, the 4th Day of December last past, in the Morning, a Threatening Letter, directed to the Reverend Mr. Brooke, of Over-Areley, in the County of Worcester, was found at the Door of the said Mr. Brooke's House, at Over-Areley, aforesaid, of which the following is an Extract, viz.

" If the Lord Lyttelton had sent the Devil among Us, We could not have a worse Enemy than We have of You. For, what Business had You to go to Stafford for a Levy, when it was to be a Turnpike Road, but to run the Parishioners to Charges : And if You do not turn up the Office to another Man next Spring, or behave better in it amongst the poor Labourers than You have done, — there will come a blue Plumb (that is, I suppose, a Bullet,) out of some Hedge between Areley and Churchill, and take Care that it does not lay hold of You ; For it is a good Thing to destroy Our Enemy ; For Somebody shall not pass that Way but a very little while longer, if He does not behave better than He has done. — All that You want is to have a Bowling-Green between Areley and Churchill, but You will never live to see it. The Parishioners are bound to curse the Time that You came into it ; But hoping to hear of some ill End or other betiding You soon, take Notice of it, and not forget it."

His Majesty, for the better discovering and bringing to Justice, the Persons concerned in Writing the said Threatening Letter, and in laying it, or causing it to be laid, at the Door of the said Mr. Brooke's House, as aforesaid, is, hereby, pleased to promise His most gracious Pardon to any one of them, (except the Person principally concerned therein,) who shall discover his, or her, Accomplice, or Accomplices, in the said Facts, so as one, or more, of them, may be apprehended and convicted thereof.

HOLDERNESSE.

And, as a farther Encouragement, the Right Honourable the Lord Lyttelton does, hereby, promise a Reward of Twenty Pounds, to any Person or Persons making such Discovery as aforesaid ; to be paid upon the Conviction of one or more of the Offenders.

LYTTELTON.
