

The London Gazette.

Published by Authority.

From Tuesday January 20, to Saturday January 24, 1761.

St. James's, January 24.

THE following Address of the Consul and British Merchants residing at Leghorn, having been transmitted by John Dick, Esq; His Majesty's Consul at Leghorn, to the Right Honourable Mr. Secretary Pitt, has by him been presented to His Majesty: Which Address His Majesty was pleased to receive very graciously.

To the King's most Excellent Majesty.

Most Gracious Sovereign,

WE your Majesty's most dutiful and loyal Subjects, the Consul, and British Merchants, residing at Leghorn, in his Imperial Majesty the Great Duke of Tuscany's Dominions, deprived by our Situation of the Happiness to approach your Royal Person, at a Time, when all Ranks and Degrees of your Majesty's faithful Subjects are pressing to testify their Duty and Affection to your Majesty's Person and Government, most humbly beg Leave to concur with our Fellow-Subjects in Great-Britain and Ireland, and to lay at your Majesty's Feet our most respectful Compliments of Condoleance, on the Loss which our native Countries have sustained by the Death of the best of Kings, your Majesty's Royal Grandfather, under whose auspicious Reign we enjoyed every great and valuable Blessing; and although we cannot but mourn as dutiful Subjects, for so great a Loss, yet the firm and immutable Allegiance, which we owe to your Majesty, emboldens us, with the utmost Sincerity and Humility, to offer our warmest Congratulations on your Majesty's Accession to the Throne of your Ancestors.

To our warmest Wishes, we shall constantly add our Prayers to the Great and Omnipotent Ruler of all Things, to protect your Majesty's Sacred Person, to give Success to your Arms by Sea and Land, and that your Majesty may reign long and prosperously over a dutiful and grateful People.

*Leghorn, Jan. 1,
1761.*

John Dick for himself, and for the whole Factory at their Request.

The following Address of the Lord-Lieutenant and Custos Rotulorum, the Nobility, High Sheriff, Gentry and Clergy of the County of Buckingham, was presented to His Majesty (in the Absence of the Earl Temple, Lord-Lieutenant and Custos Rotulorum of the said County, who was indisposed) by Thomas Saunders, Esq; High Sheriff, accompanied by the Honourable Sir William Stackpole and Richard Lowndes, Esq; Knights of the Shire, most of the Members of the several Boroughs, and the principal Gentlemen, being introduced by the Lord of His Majesty's Bed-Chamber in Waiting.

To the KING.

The humble Address of the Lord Lieutenant, and Custos Rotulorum, the Nobility, High Sheriff, Gentry and Clergy of the County of Buckingham.

WE the Lord-Lieutenant, and Custos Rotulorum, Nobility, High Sheriff, Gentry and Clergy of the County of Buckingham, beg Leave, in the most respectful Manner, to present to your Majesty our mournful Tribute of Condoleance, on the great and affecting Loss which your Majesty, and your faithful Subjects have sustained, by that melancholy and unexpected Event, the Death of your Royal Grandfather; snatched from the Bosom of his affectionate and united People; at a Time; when, under his prosperous Auspices, the Councils and Arms of Great Britain had raised her to an eminent and much-envied Pitch of National Glory.

But our Consolation and our Confidence is placed in common with the rest of our Fellow-Subjects, not only on the private and amiable, but on the public and kingly Virtues of his illustrious Successor.

With Hearts, therefore, full of Hope, Exultation, and inviolable Allegiance, we presume to add the warmest Expressions of unfeigned Congratulation on your Majesty's happy Accession to the Throne of your Ancestors.

We feel ourselves, at the same Time, encouraged and invited, by the Goodness and Condescension of a gracious King, who deigns to glory in the Name of Briton, dutifully to lay, at the Foot of the Throne, our humble Expectations of what England, through every Age, has so invariably deemed she had a Right to look up for from her Sovereigns; confident, that we do but trace the Outline of your Majesty's wife, just and magnanimous Purposes.

Firmness of Council; Dignity of Measures; a Royal Frugality; an Ear, as open to the Complaints, as to the Praises of your Subjects; and, above all, a tender and conscientious Regard for the fundamental Rights and Liberties of a People, great, because they are free, cannot fail, under the Divine Favour, to render your Majesty the beneficent Instrument of continuing to your Kingdoms, a Series of Prosperity, adequate to the exalted Wishes of your Princely Heart.

We, on our Parts, excited by such animating Hopes, will not cease, with fervent Supplication, to offer up our Prayers, that every generous Effort of your Majesty's Arms, in Vindication of the Rights of your Crown, and in Defence of the Liberties of Europe, may be as peculiarly marked by the signal Protection of Providence, as any the most renowned Successes of our departed Sovereign; and that it may please the great Giver of all Victory, thus to lead your Majesty, through the Paths of Glory, to the Blessings of an advantageous and lasting Peace; so that we and our Posterity shall have abundant Reason, with Gratitude and Admiration, to exult in the irresistible Force of that most public-spirited, national Unanimity, which your Majesty by condescending to encourage, so happily confirms; and as your Majesty, in your high Wisdom, will ever unalterably cherish the Affections of your Subjects, as the brightest Ornament, and only firm Support of the Throne, may you long continue to be the Darling Object of their Confidence, till full of Days, and covered with Glory, you shall transmit, together with your Sceptre, to a Prince of your illustrious House, as his best Inheritance, the same truly Royal and endearing Virtues, which will have constituted your Majesty the Delight of your People!

They were all received very graciously: And,

His Majesty was pleased to confer the Honour of Knighthood on John Vanhatten, Esq;.

The following Address of the Lord Lieutenant, High Sheriff, Justices of the Peace, Deputy Lieutenants, Gentlemen, Clergy, and Freeholders of the County of Cambridge, has been presented to His Majesty by the Right Honourable the Lord Viscount Royston, Lord Lieutenant of the County of Cambridge, accompanied by the Right Reverend the Lord