

The World, which inspects minutely into the Conduct of Sovereigns, has expatiated with such unfeigned Praises, and with such joyful Acclamations on your Majesty's Character, that we cannot be suspected of offering up the Incense of Flattery, when we witness that the Morals of your People may be copied from your Majesty's most exemplary Life.

The following Address of the Gentlemen, Freeholders, Clergy and Heretors of the County of Sutherland, has been presented to His Majesty by the Right Honourable the Earl of Sutherland, being introduced by the Lord of His Majesty's Bed-Chamber in Waiting: Which Address His Majesty was pleased to receive very graciously.

To the King's most Excellent Majesty,

The humble Address of the Gentlemen, Freeholders, Clergy and Heretors of the County of Sutherland, assembled at Dornoch, the 4th of December, 1760.

Most Gracious Sovereign,

WE your Majesty's dutiful and loyal Subjects, the Gentlemen, Freeholders, Clergy and Heretors of the County of Sutherland, humbly beg Leave to condole with your Majesty on the Death of our late most gracious Sovereign, your illustrious Grandfather, whose Loss we sincerely deplore. At the same Time permit us, Great Sir, to congratulate your Majesty upon your Accession to the Throne of these Realms; an Event which fills us with real Joy, as it affords to us, and to all your Majesty's Subjects, the well-grounded Hope of enjoying all the Blessings of a free and happy People, under your Majesty's auspicious Government.

This County, ever loyal, has, on all Occasions, since the Period of the glorious Revolution, exerted itself in Support of our present happy Establishment in Church and State; and though it is with Pleasure we reflect upon having thus done our Duty, that Pleasure is far short of the real Satisfaction we now have in seeing an End put to all Party Distinction, and all your Majesty's Subjects united in the same Sentiments of Loyalty and Affection to your Majesty's Person and Government.

May your Majesty be blessed with a long and happy Reign over a free, loyal and affectionate People; and may a Prince, descended of your Illustrious House, sway the Sceptre of these Realms to latest Posterity.

Signed in our Name, by
Geo. Mackay, Prefes.

Great as our Concern hath been on this striking Event, greater, much greater, would it have been, had not your Majesty's immediate Accession to the Throne of this Realm alleviated it, by opening to us a Prospect of our future Happiness, under the Reign of a Prince inheriting the Virtues, as well as the Crown, of His illustrious Predecessor.
