St. James's, February 3.

THE following Address of the President, Vice-Presidents, and Members of the Society in London, for the Encouragement of Arts, Manufactures, and Commerce, has been presented to His Majesty: Which Address His Majesty was pleased to receive very graciously.

To the King's most Excellent Majesty,

The humble Address of the President, Vice-Presidents, and Members of the Society in London, for the Encouragement of Arts, Manufactures, and Commerce.

May it please Your Majesty,

WE your Majesty's most dutiful and loyal Subjects, the President, Vice-Presidents, and Members of the Society for the Encouragement of Arts, Manufactures, and Commerce, moved with a deep Sense of Gratitude for the many Blessings we enjoyed under the Government of our late most gracious Sovereign, beg Leave to condole with your Majesty on the Loss of a Life so valuable and important; and, at the same Time, to offer our Congratulations upon your happy Accession to the Throne of these Kingdoms.

We feel, Sir, in common with all our Fellow-Subjects, the highest Satisfaction for those gracious Declarations so early made, of your Majesty's tender and paternal Care for our Civil and Religious Liberties; and in particular, as a Society for the Encouragement of Arts, Manufactures, and Commerce, are we emboldened to address a Prince, distinguished for His avowed Attention to all these great and national Interests.

The Objects our Society have in View are, the Improvements of Agriculture, Manufactures, and Commerce, with their Assistant Arts, throughout your Majesty's British Dominions and Colonies; as well as to give every Encouragement here at Home, to those politer Arts of Painting, Sculpture, and Architecture, that embellish human Life, and distinguish learned and polished, from ignorant and barbarous Nations.

In the Prosecution of these Designs, we shall proceed with all Diligence and Vigour, animated with the pleasing Hopes, that we are usefully employed for the Advantage and Honour of our Country, and rendering acceptable Service to our Sovereign, who makes His Happiness to consist in the Prosperity of His People.

May your Majesty live long to enjoy, by the Blessing of Providence, so noble a Satisfaction.

By the unanimous Resolution of the Society,
Folkestone, President.

The following Address of the President, Council and Fellows of the Society of Antiquaries of London, has been presented to His Majesty: Which Address His Majesty was pleased to receive very graciously.

To the King's most Excellent Majesty.

Most Gracious Sovereign,

WE the President, Council and Fellows of the Society of Antiquaries of London, humbly beg Leave to approach your Majesty with our sincere Condolence for the Loss which this Kingdom has sustained, in the Person of your Royal Grandfather, our late Sovereign, of glorious Memory.

Permit us, Sir, at the same Time, to mix our most unfeigned Congratulations with the general Joy of a thankful and united People, who with one Voice adore the Goodness of Providence in your Majesty's most auspicious Accession to the Throne of these Kingdoms; and the pleasing Prospect of all national Happiness under a Prince so eminently formed, by Nature and Education, to be the true Delight of his People.

This Society (many of whose Members have contributed to the Honour of your Majesty's native Country, in examining the Records of its Antiquities, and clearing the Evidences of its History) cannot, without Pleasure, reflect that the best of Princes have been our most indulgent Protectors: That this Society was originally formed under the auspicious Reign of that great Princess, Queen Elizabeth, and was first distinguished with the Rights of a Civil Incorporation by his late most excellent Majesty, our Royal Founder, and ever honoured Patron and Protector.

Under a Prince, who succeeds to all the Titles, and all the Virtues, of those two very illustrious Monarchs, this Society, in common with many others, which are engaged in the Service of Arts and Letters, flatters itself with the Hopes of a gracious Continuance of the Royal Favour and Patronage.

And, with the sincerest Expressions of Duty and Loyalty, with the warmest Sentiments of Gratitude towards your Illustrious House, for all the Blessings conferred upon this Nation, we humbly implore the gracious Giver of all good Things to distinguish your Majesty's Reign over us with Fulness of Days, and Felicity of Government. May Providence go forth with your Fleets and Armies, and maintain at Home the Affections and Fidelity of the happiest of Subjects.

And, among the Glories of your Majesty's Reign, may a lasting and honourable Peace crown all your Wishes, and the many signal Successes, with which God has been pleased to distinguish the Arms and Counsels of your Royal Predecessor.

Given under our Seal this Twenty-second Day of January, One thousand seven hundred and sixty one.
Willoughby de Parham, President.

The following Address of the Roman Catholick Noblemen and Gentlemen of the Counties of Meath and Westmeath, having been transmitted to His Grace the Duke of Bedford, Lord Lieutenant of Ireland, has by him been presented to His Majesty: Which Address His Majesty was pleased to receive very graciously.

To the King's most Excellent Majesty,

The humble Address of the Roman Catholick Noblemen and Gentlemen of the Counties of Meath and Westmeath in the Kingdom of Ireland.

Most Gracious Sovereign,

WE your Majesty's most loyal and dutiful Subjects the Roman Catholick Noblemen and Gentlemen of the Counties of Meath and Westmeath, in your Kingdom of Ireland, humbly presume to join our most affectionate and sincere Affliction to your Majesty's Tears, for the much-lamented Death of your Royal Grandfather; a Death universally deplored by all your mourning Subjects, but not by any, more deeply, or more justly felt, than by your poor and distressed Roman Catholicks of this Realm, who bear in their Breasts, Monuments of eternal Gratitude, for the Indulgence, Favour and Clemency, which he and his Royal Father were most graciously pleased to extend to them on several Occasions.

And we now raise our flowing Eyes, from the Obsequies of our late good and merciful King, to your Majesty's Majesty's Throne; where, with unspeakable and heart-felt Joy, we behold all his shining Virtues in your Majesty's Royal Person as hereditary as his Crown.

We come, Sir, to your Feet with Hearts full of Loyalty, Duty, warm Wishes and Affection, and offer you all that Persons, in our Situation, can, faithful Hearts and Hands, unarmed indeed, but ready, earnest and desirous to exert themselves, strenuously and faithfully, whenever your Majesty shall think them worthy to be employed in your and their Country's Cause.

It is an unspeakable Consolation to the Roman Catholics of this Kingdom, to have some Reason to hope that their invariable, loyal, dutiful and submissive Behaviour, during a Series of seventy Years, has met with the Approbation of your Royal Predecessors; and the auspicious Dawn of your Majesty's Reign, which promises a glorious and perpetual Spring of universal Happiness to your Subjects, elates our Hearts with Hopes and Gladness, and employs our Attention only, to the Means of making ourselves yet more worthy Objects of your Majesty's Royal Protection and Clemency; and we offer our most fervent and zealous Prayers to the Almighty, that His Divine Majesty may be most graciously pleased to grant you a long and happy Reign; to inspire your Councils; make your Undertakings successful; and while you, in Great Britain, are more the Delight of Mankind than Titus was in Italy, that the Happiness of your loyal Christian Subjects, without Distinction, may be the Wish and Envy of all other People.

Given at Trim, in the County of Meath, the fifth Day of January, One thousand seven hundred and sixty-one.

The following Address of the Bishop, Archdeacon and Clergy of the Isle and Diocese of Mann, has been presented to His Majesty by the Most Reverend the Lord Archbishop of York, being introduced by the Lord of His Majesty's Bed-Chamber in Waiting: Which Address His Majesty was pleased to receive very graciously.

To the King's most Excellent Majesty,

The humble and dutiful Address of the Bishop, Archdeacon and Clergy of the Isle and Diocese of Mann.

Most Gracious Sovereign,

WE your Majesty's most dutiful and loyal Subjects, the Bishop, Archdeacon, and Clergy of the Isle and Diocese of Mann, do, with all Humility and Sincerity of Heart, beg Leave to approach your Royal Presence, to condole with your Majesty the much lamented Death of your Royal Grandfather. We of all others should be inexcusable were we insensible of the Loss, or forgetful of the Favours of our late illustrious Sovereign, during whose auspicious Reign, the poor Clergy of this Diocese have constantly been Partakers of his Royal Bounty, to the great Comfort and Support of themselves and Families, who must for ever revere the Memory of their Prince, their Father and Benefactor. And we should think ourselves undeserving of the Royal Patronage, and Protection, did we not, among the rest of your Majesty's loyal Subjects, with the deepest Sense of Duty, and Joy unfeigned, congratulate your Majesty on your Accession to the Throne of your Royal Ancestors.

We also embrace this Opportunity of expressing our thankful Acknowledgment for the signal Deliverance, this Isle in general was blessed with, from the Ravages of a Foreign Enemy, not long since most happily and providentially subdued by one of His Majesty's Squadrons on the Coast of this Isle.

Bound therefore by every Tie of Gratitude and Affection, our constant Endeavours shall be, to recommend ourselves to the Continuance of your Majesty's Royal Favour, by a faithful Discharge of our Duty in our several Stations, and especially offering up our most ardent Supplications to the Throne of Grace, That your Majesty's Reign may be distinguished to the latest Ages, for the Encouragement of True Piety and Virtue, for defending the Faith, and extending its Influence to the remotest of your Dominions: That by the Divine Blessing on your Majesty's Arms, these Realms, and those of your Allies, may be established on the Foundation of an honourable and lasting Peace: That the Great God may continue to multiply His Favours on your Majesty, and every Branch of the Royal Family: That He may long bless you with faithful and obedient Subjects on Earth, and crown you with immortal Glory in Heaven.

Given under our Hands this Eighth Day of January, 1761.

Mark, Sodor and Man.

Wm. Mylrea, Archdeacon.

The following Address of the Keys of the Isle of Man, being the Representatives of the Inhabitants thereof, has been presented to His Majesty by the Right Honourable the Earl of Holderness, one of His Majesty's Principal Secretaries of State: Which Address His Majesty was pleased to receive very graciously.

To the King's most Excellent Majesty,

The most humble Address of the Keys of the Isle of Man, being the Representatives of the Inhabitants thereof.

Most Gracious Sovereign,

WE your Majesty's most dutiful and loyal Subjects, the Keys of the Isle of Man, being the Representatives of the Inhabitants thereof, do most humbly crave Leave to take this Opportunity of approaching your Royal Presence, to condole with your Majesty on the great Loss which your Majesty has felt by the Death of your Royal Grandfather, our late Sovereign Lord King George the Second, of blessed Memory; an Event, how greatly soever regretted by us and all other His late Majesty's faithful Subjects, is now happily obviated, by your Majesty's Accession to the Throne of Great Britain, and the Dominions thereof.

On this Occasion be pleased, Great Sir, to permit us to congratulate on your Majesty's happy Accession to the Throne; humbly beseeching your Majesty graciously to accept of this Tender of our most sincere and due Allegiance, which shall always be exerted, becoming those Principles of Duty, which we profess, and owe to your most Sacred Majesty; and suitable to the System of the Established Religion of the Protestant Community, whereof we are Members.

The manifold Blessings we enjoy, and the Royal Protection we constantly receive, against the Ravages and Insults of our Enemies in various Occasions, as well as in the late destructive Design of Thurot's Squadron, which was happily frustrated, demand the sincerest Acknowledgments from all your Majesty's loyal Subjects of this Isle, which we offer to your Majesty with the highest Degree of Gratitude.

May the Almighty aid with His Power, and grant, that your Majesty's Reign may be long, happy, and glorious; be the Bulwark of the Protestant Religion, and the Support of true Piety.

Signed at St. John's Chapel, at a Meeting of the Keys, this Second Day of January, in the Year of our Lord, One thousand seven hundred and sixty-one.

The following Address of the Mayor, Recorder, Aldermen and Burgesses of the Borough of St. Ives, has been presented to His Majesty: Which Address His Majesty was pleased to receive very graciously.

To the King's most Excellent Majesty,

The humble Address of the Mayor, Recorder, Aldermen, and Burgesses of the Borough of St. Ives in the County of Cornwall, in Common Council assembled.

May it please your Majesty,

AMIDST the universal Joy of a People happily united, who, on seeing the Throne of these Kingdoms filled with Virtues in your Royal Person,

Person, promise themselves a Felicity unknown to former Times;

To accept the humble but sincere Congratulations of this your ancient and loyal Corporation, on your Accession to the Crown: Truly sensible of the many Princely Virtues that adorned the Life and Reign of your Majesty's late Royal Grandfather, we beg Leave to condole with you on our Loss in him, which would be otherwise irreparable, had we not the pleasing Consolation to see and admire their happy Influence in forming a Successor to them as well as to His Crown. Not to trespass too far on your Majesty's most invaluable Time, so variously employed, permit us only to assure your Majesty of our Love and Veneration for your Person, and Attachment to your Government.

May the difficult Conjunction, in which your Majesty comes to the Throne, be the Means of adding Lustre to your Reign; and may Heaven reward your Endeavours for the Welfare and Prosperity of your People, with a long Life of Happiness and Peace.

Given under our Common Seal this Twentieth Day of December, 1760.

The following Address of the Nobility, Gentlemen, Clergy, and Freeholders of the County of Montgomery, has been presented to His Majesty by the Right Hon. the Earl of Powis, accompanied by Edward Kynaston, Esq; Representative in Parliament for the said County, and Richard Clive, Esq; Representative in Parliament for the Borough of Montgomery, being introduced by the Lord of His Majesty's Bed-Chamber in Waiting: Which Address His Majesty was pleased to receive very graciously.

The humble Address of the Nobility, Gentlemen, Clergy, and Freeholders of the County of Montgomery.

Most Gracious Sovereign,

WE your Majesty's most dutiful and loyal Subjects, the Nobility, Gentlemen, Clergy, and Freeholders of the County of Montgomery, with the greatest Submission lay at your Majesty's Feet our most unfeigned Condoleance with you for the Loss these Kingdoms have sustained by the Death of our late most gracious Sovereign, under whose most glorious and auspicious Government, we became so happy and flourishing a People; which great Misfortune could no otherwise have been repaired, than by your Majesty's most happy Accession to the Throne, who are endowed with all those eminent Qualities so conspicuous in your Royal Grandfather; upon which we sincerely congratulate your Majesty with the warmest Sense of Duty and Obedience.

Permit us to express our highest Satisfaction on the Assurance your Majesty has been pleased to give us of your gracious Protection of our Civil and Religious Rights; and beg Leave to assure your Majesty of our most inviolable Attachment to your Sacred Person, Family, and Government, which we shall be always ready most cheerfully to support with our Lives and Fortunes, earnestly wishing your Majesty a long and prosperous Reign, over a loyal and united People; and may these inestimable Blessings be continued in your Royal Line to the latest Posterity.

The following Address of the Magistrates and Council of the Borough of Lauder, has been presented to His Majesty by the Right Honourable the Earl of Lauderdale, being introduced by the Lord of His Majesty's Bed-Chamber in Waiting: Which Address His Majesty was pleased to receive very graciously.

To the King's most Excellent Majesty,

The humble Address of the Magistrates and Council of your Borough of Lauder.

Most Gracious Sovereign,

Permit us, your faithful and loyal Subjects, to lay at your Feet our unfeigned Sorrow for the Death of the best of Kings, at a Period which must adorn the English Annals with His extraordinary Success against the Enemies of Great Britain.

We are perfectly happy in the Dawn of your Majesty's Reign, with the Assurance you have imparted to us of your Encouragement to Virtue and True Religion, which are the only real Ornaments of Empire, and can alone direct the Steps of Princes.

We are well informed, that your Majesty is endowed with every Qualification that is necessary to make yourself and your Subjects happy: And we pray God to continue to direct you in the Paths of Virtue, and to pour down upon you every Blessing.

Signed by Order and Appointment of the Council,

by

John Tomson, Baillie.

John Walker, Baillie.

Whitehall, February 3.

The King has been pleased to grant unto James Brudenel, Esq; the Office of Gentleman and Master of His Majesty's Robes, in the Room of the Hon. Edward Finch, Esq; who was mentioned by Mistake in last Saturday's Gazette to be appointed to the said Office.

MANY false and malicious Reports being given out to represent me as a Promoter of, or instrumental to, the laying the present additional Duty on Strong Beer, of which I am entirely innocent; and to clear myself of such injurious Aspersions,

Do declare upon OATH, and say,

That I never knew of the Tax, till it was generally known; neither did I speak, write, or directly or indirectly apply to any Gentleman in Government about the said Tax, until after it appeared in the Votes of the Honourable House of Commons; and then I joined with several other Brewers, in remonstrating and complaining against it to the utmost of our Power.

London, Sworn at the Mansion house this 21st of Jan. 1761, before me

MATT. BLAKISTON, Mayor.

Whitehall, February 3, 1761.

Whereas it has been humbly represented to the King, that on Thursday the 29th Day of January last, a Letter, directed, "for Mr. Thorpe at the Crown Tavern behind the Royal Exchange London," was received by the said Mr. Thorpe by the Penny Post, which Letter is as follows, viz. "Sir pray tell Alderman Calvert that if the Act is not Repealed that will in the Space of a Month that he bring the principle Substance of his said Villains Affair to his to be reviewed and act him alone but Mr. Calvert of Red Cross Street and Mr. Truman of Spittlefield as they three are the Over Crown Scoundrels that Infest this Metropolis, his house was to be burnt down but we wont prejudice their Innocent Neighbours which would be a Great Sin as for the death of those three Rogues it is a Charity to the publick." His Majesty, for the better discovering and bringing to Justice, the Person, or Persons, concerned in writing, or sending the said most seditious and threatening Letter, written in open Defiance of the Legislative Authority, is, hereby, pleased to promise His most gracious Pardon to any one of them, (except the Person that actually wrote the same) who shall discover his, or her Accomplice or Accomplices therein, so that he, she, or they, may be apprehended and convicted thereof: And as a farther Encouragement, the King is graciously pleased to offer a Reward of One Hundred Pounds, to the Person, or Persons, making such Discovery as aforesaid, (except the Person that actually wrote the said Letter,) to be paid by the Right Honourable the Lords Commissioners of His Majesty's Treasury, upon the Conviction of one or more of the Offenders.
