St. James's, March 24.

THE following Address of the Consul and British Merchants residing at Naples, transmitted by Isaac Jamineau, Esq; His Majesty's Consul General at Naples, to the Right Honourable Mr. Secretary Pitt, has been presented to His Majesty, and was received very graciously.

To the King's most Excellent Majesty.

Most Gracious Sovereign,

WE your Majesty's most dutiful and loyal Subjects, the Consul and British Merchants residing at Naples, though debarred, by their Continuance Abroad, the Honour of Admission to your Royal Presence, yet happy in the Countenance of your Majesty's most extensive Protection, beg Leave to express our deepest Sense of Affliction for that Loss sustained by the Death of our late Sovereign, under whose mild and glorious Reign, our Nation nearly enjoyed the Sweets of Peace in the Midst of War, whilst others, almost universally, or tasted the Bitterness, or felt the Desolation of it: A Loss, indeed, irreparable, unless by your Majesty's Inheritance as well of the Royal Virtues as of the Throne of your Illustrious Grandfather. On this so happy an Accession, we beg Leave to offer up our most hearty and respectful Congratulations.

May the only Power, superior to your Majesty, the only Ruler of Princes, continue His Blessings to a grateful People, in your Majesty's Sacred Person, during the longest Course of Nature, and in your Illustrious House, to the latest Posterity.

At the Request of the Factory, and from a common Sense of our respective Duty.

Isaac Jamineau.

The following Address of the High Sheriff, Grand Jury, Gentry, and Clergy, of the County of Nottingham, has been presented to His Majesty: Which Address His Majesty was pleased to receive very graciously.

WE your Majesty's loyal and dutiful Subjects, the High Sheriff, Grand Jury, Gentry, and Clergy, of the County of Nottingham, humbly approach your sacred Majesty, to condole the Loss that Britain has sustained in the best of Kings, your Majesty's Royal Grandfather.

That Duty being paid, from a grateful Sense of the many Blessings enjoyed from His Justice and Goodness, we turn to your Majesty, with joyful Congratulations on your Majesty's happy Accession to the Throne of your Ancestors.

With equal Joy permit us, Sacred Sir, to congratulate your People in that Great Blessing the Almighty has been pleased to vouchsafe in your Sacred Person, to rule over us. And so truly sensible are we of our Happiness, that we want Words to express the Fulness of our Joy; and humbly beg Leave to arrogate to ourselves every the most warm and most significant Expression of Duty and Loyalty, that has come from the most affectionate of our Fellow-Subjects, who have already had the Happiness to lay their Duty at your Royal Feet.

May the Almighty, who gave your Majesty Being, and in His great Favour gave you to us, whose all-seeing Eye can perceive in our Hearts, Love, Loyalty, and Duty, far beyond our Power of Utterance, be graciously pleased to preserve your Royal Life, long to continue that Happiness; which is the Expectation of all Europe, and the sure Hope of every Briton.
