

The London Gazette.

Published by Authority.

From Saturday May 30, to Tuesday June 2, 1761.

St. James's, June 2.

THE Five following Addresses having been transmitted to the Right Honourable Mr. Secretary Pitt, have been presented to His Majesty: Which Addresses His Majesty was pleased to receive very graciously.

To the King's most Excellent Majesty,
The humble Address of the Council of the Island of St. Christopher.

PERMIT, most gracious Sovereign, your Majesty's ever loyal and dutiful Subjects, the Members of your Majesty's Council in your Island of St. Christopher, deeply sensible of the great Loss which your Majesty, and the whole Nation, have sustained by the Death of your late Royal Grandfather, humbly to condole with your Sacred Majesty upon so affecting an Event. His eminent and distinguished Virtues, his paternal Care, extending itself to the most Distant of his faithful Subjects, and which with Gratitude we acknowledge, must endear his Memory to every true Englishman; and nothing could alleviate a Loss so sensibly felt, but your Majesty's happy Accession to the Throne of your Ancestors, which, with Hearts full of Duty, Affection and Loyalty, we beg Leave to congratulate in the sincerest Manner. The signal Successes that attended his Arms in prosecuting the just and necessary War, your Majesty is now engaged in, reflects the highest Honour on the Wisdom and Vigour of his Councils, and the Persons employed by him: In your Sacred Majesty we see a Successor, equally the Inheritor of his Royal Virtues and Kingdoms; animated by his Example, and possessed in yourself of every Accomplishment to command the Love, and procure the Happiness of Mankind, what sanguine Hopes, resulting from such favourable Auspices, may we not entertain of the greatest future Happiness under your Majesty's Reign; and your Majesty's most gracious Declaration of the tender Affection you bear your native Country, leaves us no Reason to doubt of the present Appearances being fully carried into Execution. In Contemplation only they afford a real Pleasure; but the more solid Enjoyment must be left to Futurity, when the Prospects we now view at a Distance, shall be ripened into Reality; when your faithful and affectionate People, happy, and in full Possession of their religious and civil Rights, look up to your Majesty as the Author of their Felicity; then, with Truth and Justice, will your Majesty wear the Title that has been lavished away upon some Princes, the beloved Father of your People: And to a Heart such as your Majesty's, conscious of your having been a faithful Vicegerent to the great King of Kings, such an Appellation, so justly merited, will be esteemed the brightest Jewel in your Imperial Crown. As the firmest Assurance, and best Security, for your Majesty's Kingdoms being thus glorious and happy, may Providence grant your Sacred Majesty long to reign over us; and that those Blessings may be transmitted down to latest Posterity, may there never be wanting one of your illustrious Descendants to fill the British Throne, which are the fervent Prayers of your Majesty's ever faithful and loyal Subjects, the Members of your Majesty's Council in your Island of St. Christopher.

[Price Ninepence.]

To the King's most Excellent Majesty,

The humble Address of the Assembly of your Majesty's Island of St. Christopher.

Most Gracious Sovereign,

WE your Majesty's most dutiful and loyal Subjects, the Assembly of your Island of St. Christopher, do, with all Humility, beg Leave to approach your Royal Person with the most unfeigned Marks and Assurances of our sincere Concern for the Loss, which your Majesty and Kingdoms have sustained in the Death of your Sacred and Illustrious Grandfather; whose many publick and private Virtues will ever endear his Memory to all true Britons, and through whose wise, abundant and paternal Care these Colonies have reaped such great and solid Advantages.

Permit us likewise, Great Sire, to congratulate you on your happy Accession to the Throne of your Illustrious Ancestors; more particularly happy at this present Juncture, when British Honour, Integrity, and Courage, in the Support of this just and necessary War, are become the Admiration of the whole World.

Your Majesty's constant and uniform Perseverance in the Paths of Virtue from your earliest Youth, and the gracious Declarations you have been pleased to make on your Accession to the Throne, that it should be the Study of your Reign to promote the Glory and Interests of your Subjects, fill us with the warmest Gratitude and Affection.

A Reign commenced under such favourable Auspices, cannot but afford a pleasing Prospect of future additional Honours to your Majesty, and lasting Happiness and Tranquility to all your Subjects.

May your Majesty long continue the Blessing and Protection of a free and united People, the Scourge and Terror of all your Enemies: May your Throne be ever established on the firmest Basis, beyond the utmost Power of your ambitious Enemies; and may the British Crown, after having been worn many happy Years by your Majesty, devolve with equal and unfulfilled Lustre on the latest Generation of your Royal Posterity.

Ralph Payne, junior, Speaker.

Passed the Assembly the Nineteenth Day of February, One thousand seven hundred and sixty-one.

Will. Webb, Clerk of Assembly.

To the King's most Excellent Majesty,

The humble Address of the Honourable the President, and the rest of the Members of His Majesty's Council of Montserrat, in Council assembled.

Most Gracious Sovereign.

WE your Majesty's most dutiful and loyal Subjects, the President and Council of your Majesty's Island of Montserrat, from a grateful Remembrance of the Blessings we enjoyed under our late most gracious Sovereign, beg Leave to condole with your Majesty on the Death of your late Royal Grandfather, a Loss which your Majesty alone can Repair by ascending to your Native Throne.

Your Majesty's Education under the Eye and Inspection of your late illustrious Grandfather, and that excellent