St. James's, June 17.

THIS Day the Right Honourable the Lord Mayor, Aldermen, and Commons of the City of London, in Common Council assembled, waited on His Majesty, and being introduced to His Majesty by the Right Honourable Mr. Vice-Chamberlain Finch, made their Compliments in the following Address, which was spoke by Sir William Moreton, Knt. the Recorder.

To the King's most Excellent Majesty,
The humble Address of the Lord Mayor, Aldermen, and Commons of the City of London, in Common Council assembled.

Most Gracious Sovereign,

WITH reverential Awe and Gratitude to the Supreme Giver of all Victory, we your Majesty's most dutiful and loyal Subjects, the Lord Mayor, Aldermen, and Commons of your City of London, in Common Council assembled, humbly approach your Royal Presence, to express our Joy and Exultation on the entire Reduction of the important Island of Belleisle, by the Conduct, Intrepidity and Perseverance of your Majesty's Land and Naval Forces: A Conquest, which after more than one fruitless Attempt in former Times, seems to have been reserved by Divine Providence to grace the auspicious Beginning of your Majesty's Reign, and confirms our Hopes of a long Continuance of wise, steady, and successful Measures.

A Blow so humiliating to the Pride and Power of France, cannot but Impress that haughty Nation with a due Sense of the Superiority of a Patriot King, ruling over a Free, Brave, and United People; and will, we trust, convince them of the Danger of delaying to accept such Terms of Peace as your Majesty's Equity, Wisdom and Moderation shall think fit to preferbe.

What therefore have we more to wish, but that your Majesty may long, very long, continue the Guardian and Protector of the Religious, Civil, and Commercial Rights of Great Britain, and her Colonies; and that your Majesty's Wisdom may ever be seconded by equally faithful and spirited Councils; and your Commands executed with no less Ardour, Emulation, and Success.

On our Part, permit us humbly to assure your Majesty, that your faithful Citizens of London will, with unwearied Zeal and Cheerfulness, contribute to support a vigorous Prosecution of this just and necessary War; until your Majesty, having sufficiently vindicated the Honor of your Crown, and secured the Trade, Navigation, and Possessions of your Subjects, shall enjoy the Blessing and the Glory of giving Repose to Europe, of wholly attending to and promoting the Virtue and Happiness of your People, and of cultivating all the foster Arts of Peace.

Signed by Order of Court,
James Hodges.

To which Address His Majesty was pleased to return this most gracious Answer.

I Return you My hearty Thanks for this fresh Mark of your Affection to My Person, and of your constant Zeal for the Lustre of My Arms, and for the Glory of

[Price One Shilling.]

My Reign. Your repeated Assurances of chearful and steady Support in the Prosecution of this necessary War, are most highly pleasing to me, and cannot fail to promote the desirable Object, of Peace, on just, honorable, and advantageous Conditions. The City of London may always depend on my unwearied Endeavours for the Security and Extension of their Trade, Navigation, and Commerce.

They were all received very graciously, and had the Honour to kiss His Majesty's Hand.
