Liege, June 22. The Burghers of this Town having refused to lett their Granaries to the French for their Flour, they asked for the Granaries of the Convents, which were granted: But those not being sufficient for the vast Quantities they have here, they demanded the Cloisters of the Canons of St. Paul, but were refused; on which, this Morning they broke open the Doors, and carried in their Sacks by Force.

Hague, June 26. We have no Letters from the Allied Army: But what we hear from Westphalia is, that the Prince of Soubize was still at Dortmund on the 23d; but had pushed a Vanguard forward to Unna, Camen, and Buymen. Those Accounts mention besides, that the Hereditary Prince had sent away his heavy Baggage; and Prince Ferdinand had advanced from Paderborn to Geseke, so as to support his Serene Highness. It is supposed, that the French Army is delayed for Want of Subsistence, which the late Rains have made it difficult to procure from Wesel. Marshal Broglie is said to be marching on his Side towards Westphalia.

Letters from Magdebourg say, that the King of Prussia and Prince Henry still remained in their former Position.

Prince Frederick Eugene of Wurtemberg is entrenched before Colberg for the Defence of that Place. And the Russian Army had advanced to Landsberg and Driefen.
