St. James's, July 7.

THE following Address of the Mayor, Burgesses and Commonalty of the City of Bristol, has been presented to His Majesty by the Right Honourable Robert Nugent, Esq; one of their Representatives in Parliament, being introduced by the Lord of His Majesty's Bed Chamber in Waiting: Which Address His Majesty was pleased to receive very graciously.

To the King's most Excellent Majesty,

The humble Address of the Mayor, Burgesses and Commonalty of the City of Bristol, in Common Council assembled.

Most Gracious Sovereign,

THE Mayor, Burgesses and Commonalty of the City of Bristol, humbly beg Leave to join in Congratulations on the late Success of your Majesty's Arms in the Reduction of the strong and important Citadel of Palais, and in the Acquisition of the Island of Belleisle.

A striking Proof how vain are the Efforts of your Enemy to limit the Power of your auspicious Arms.

The constant and unwearied Attention of your Majesty to protect and maintain the Rights and Liberties of your Subjects, as well as to assert and vindicate the Honour of your Crown, very justly demands the warmest Wishes of all your Subjects for equal Success; and the many signal Advantages gained in the Course of the present War with France, afford us firm Ground to hope, that all will terminate in an honourable and lasting Peace. And that your Majesty may long live, and be crown'd with every Blessing in the Fruition thereof, is the unfeigned Prayer and ardent Desire of your Majesty's most dutiful and loyal Subjects, the Mayor, Burgesses and Commonalty of the City of Bristol.

The following Address of the Lord Mayor, Aldermen, Sheriffs, and Commons, of the City of York, has been presented to His Majesty by George Fox Lane, Esq; being introduced by the Lord of His Majesty's Bed Chamber in Waiting: Which Address His Majesty was pleased to receive very graciously.

To the King's most Excellent Majesty,

The humble Address of the Lord Mayor, Aldermen, Sheriffs, and Commons, of the City of York, in Common Council assembled.

Most gracious Sovereign,

THE Conquest of the important Island of Belleisle, as glorious to your Majesty, as it is mortifying to your Enemies, demands our earliest Tribute of Praise to the Almighty, and of dutiful and loyal Congratulations to your Majesty.

This Event, in itself so interesting to Britons, is at this Crisis peculiarly joyful, since it renders the Beginning of your Majesty's Reign as respectable Abroad, as it is Gracious and Beneficent at Home.

The cool and intrepid Courage, inseparable from your Majesty's Forces, shone forth in the brightest Colours on this memorable Occasion; and once more evinces to the World, that they, who affected to be thought the Arbiters of Europe, are unequal to your Majesty in Wisdom and in Power.

[Price Three-pence.]

Our warmest Wishes are, that such a Train of Great and Providential Successes may at Length overcome the Haughtiness of your Enemies, and that they, whom Justice could not controul, may be confined, by Power, within the Bounds of Moderation. In the mean Time, we most gratefully acknowledge your Majesty's wise and constant Cares for the Re-establishment of the Publick Peace, and for the Happiness and Prosperity of your People: And our Hearts are big with every Sentiment of Zeal and Affection, which is due from the most faithful and dutiful Subjects, to the best and worthiest of Printes.

Leicester-House, July 2.

This Day his Excellency M. Boreel, Ambassador Extraordinary from the States General, had a private Audience of her Royal Highness the Princess Dowager of Wales.

To which he was introduced by Stephen Cottrell, Esq; Assistant Master of the Ceremonies.

Saville House, July 5.

This Day his Excellency M. Boreel, Ambassador Extraordinary from the States General, had a private Audience of His Royal Highness the Duke of York.

And afterwards of her Royal Highness Princess Augusta at Leicester-House.

To both which he was introduced by Stephen Cottrell, Esq; Assistant Master of the Ceremonies.
